Standpoint

A statistical "mirror" is provided in this HANDBOOK issue. Southern Baptists can well take an honest, self-evaluative look at their countenance. Approach to the mirror should not be in a spirit of pride or self-aggrandizement. Rather, what we see must be weighed in terms of what God calls us to be and do, and in relation to spiritual hunger of lost millions of persons in our world.

Taking the areas of church activity covered by the statistics as a whole, there is cause for rejoicing and serious concern alike. Certain areas continue on a plateau, showing no significant fluctuations. Others keep moving on a very slight upward course, while some show a tendency to lose ground. In a few areas, such as those of total and mission giving, music ministry, and church building construction, notable growth trends are being extended.

Many observers, within and outside the Southern Baptist Convention, hold the opinion that Southern Baptists exert a uniquely important influence in momentous cultural, social, and spiritual tides of the day. If so, our influence must either be constructive or negative. Like Pilate of another day, we cannot shake free of our responsibility merely by "washing our hands" of it. Are we Christian enough to match our responsibility with the necessary commitment and action?

Grateful acknowledgment is made of the dedicated church and associational clerks, state convention personnel, and staff members whose efforts make the dissemination and study of denominational statistics possible.

CITIZENSHIP FOR CHRISTIANS

GREAT TEACHERS MAKE A DIFFERENCE

by Gaines S. Dobbins

The author, a great teacher himself, pays tribute to great teachers of his life and how they have influenced the course of his life. His first chapter pays tribute to his mother, a Sunday school teacher, and two other teachers who helped to set the course of his life. The other chapters describe the influence of great teachers such as E. Y. Mullins, John R. Sampey, A. T. Robertson, Charles S. Gardner, I. J. Van Ness, and George Albert Coe. This book appeals for more people in the churches to give themselves to the ministry of teaching.
