

May 23, 1921.

Rev. J. E. Davis,
535 Benton Blvd.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Brother Davis:

Some of our missionaries have felt for sometime that we ought to have a course in Sunday School Lessons which lend themselves more to evangelism than the International Lesson. The result has been that a conference was held by some of the missionaries with Dr. Sampey of the Sunday School Lesson Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention and the enclosed has been worked out. I am upon the suggestion of Dr. Sampey sending you copy with the request that you make a careful study of these outlines in the light of your experience and the needs which exist in your field, and that you make such suggestions as you think will add to the value of the lesson outlines and send these to Dr. Sampey, or, if you prefer, to me to be sent to him. I hope you will find it convenient to give early thought to the matter. I have been very much impressed with this syllabus and anticipate blessings to our Missions from this course in Bible study on the foreign fields.

Yours cordially,

Cor. Sec'y.

(Enclosure)