Where Does the Money Go?

A Brief Statement
of Expenditures in the Baptist
75 Million Campaign

CONSERVATION COMMISSION
BAPTIST 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Where Does the Money Go?

In order that all our Southern Baptist forces who gave unstintedly of their means to the Baptist 75 Million Campaign may understand fully just what is being done with the money which they contributed, the Conservation Commission, appointed by the Southern Baptist Convention to conserve as fully as possible the results of that campaign, herein gives a detailed statement of the purposes to which the funds are being employed. These items were furnished by the various general boards of the Southern Baptist Convention and the boards of the various states making up the Convention territory, and show what these boards are doing and propose to do with all the funds coming to them from the campaign.

There is also set forth herein a statement of the amount of money paid out as expenses by the Campaign Commission and the various state boards in the conduct of the campaign for the $75,000,000, which has resulted in more than $92,000,000 being subscribed to date. Thus a complete account is rendered to the local churches by their constituted agencies for the funds entrusted to them.

Other statements will be issued from time to time in order that the brotherhood may be kept adequately informed on the progress of the campaign, and that all of the people who had a part in making the success of the campaign possible may know that the funds which they contributed are being wisely and economically handled in the promotion of those phases of Christian work set forth in the appeals made in behalf of the campaign.

As is readily recalled, the general purposes fostered in the campaign were foreign missions, home missions, state missions, Christian education, hospitals, orphanages, and ministerial relief. A detailed summary of the special objects that will be promoted under these various general subjects is given as follows:

FOREIGN MISSIONS, $20,000,000.

The appropriations to the various foreign mission fields that have been authorized are for building residences for many of the missionaries; land, buildings and equipment for mission schools; land, buildings and equipment for hospitals; church building loan fund; extension work, publication, new missionaries, evangelists, teachers, doctors, nurses, and other general needs of this character. The appropriations were distributed among the various fields as follows:

Africa

$233,925, calling for 31 new missionaries.

Argentina

$263,550, calling for 17 new missionaries.

Brazil

North Brazil, $268,950, calling for 23 new missionaries.

South Brazil, $1,071,100, calling for 31 new missionaries.

$420,000, calling for 8 new missionaries.

Expense Account

Current expense account for keeping up the mission work for five years, $10,000,000, including the support of the present missionary forces and of the 489 new missionaries called for under the enlarged program.

HOME MISSIONS, $12,000,000.

The various lines of home mission activity and the tentative appropriations to each of them are indicated as follows:

Co-operative missions, $1,244,181.

Evangelism, calling for 100 evangelists and sixty singers, their salaries and traveling expenses for five years, $1,670,000.

Enlistment, calling for eighteen general men with four assistants in each of sixteen states, $1,000,000.

Church building gifts involving aid to 3,500 homeless Baptist churches in the South, $2,688,000.

Church Building Loan Fund, which seeks to aid thousands of homeless congregations in building new houses of worship, $1,625,000.

Strengthening the denomination in the great centers of population, $500,000.

Mountain schools, 37 of which need aid in their service of the people of the mountain districts, $1,288,900.

Work among foreigners, Indians and Negroes.

Aid for Mexicans in Texas and along the Mexican border, $575,500.

Rendering gospel aid to people of foreign birth in nine states, $236,995.

Giving gospel aid to Indians in four states, $94,000.

Co-operation with our brothers in black in all phases of their work, $573,000.

Aiding the work in Cuba, $797,042.

Aiding the work in Panama, $76,500.

WHERE DOES THE MONEY GO?

Work among soldiers, sailors and marines, $200,000.

Equipping and maintaining Tuberculosis Sanatorium at El Paso, Texas, $1,000,000.

Department of publicity, which seeks to circulate wholesome Baptist literature throughout the South, $175,000.

Administrative work in carrying forward this big program for five years, $450,000.

All these needs make a total of $14,194,118, or $2,000,000 more than the sum originally allotted for home missions in the campaign but the needs were so pressing it seemed the tentative appropriations could not be cut down without serious injury to the work being done.

STATE MISSIONS, $11,000,000.

Much of the work of state missions is similar to that of home missions, the difference being that the Home Mission Board seeks to aid the weaker states in their work and contributes to the support of special work in all the states where peculiar mission problems exist, such as in the presence of a large number of foreigners.

For their state mission programs for the five years of the campaign the various states have made the following apportionments:

Alabama	$ 586,666
Arkansas	700,000
District of Columbia	83,333
Florida	250,000
Georgia	1,000,000

Tennessee	458,250
Texas	1,750,000

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION, $20,000,000.

Southern Baptists have 114 educational institutions under their control, and all of these need to be greatly strengthened for their task of providing the churches with trained Christian men and women. The property valuation of these institutions is in excess of $21,000,000, and the campaign proposed to come to the relief of these schools by making it possible for them to pay their debts, erect new buildings, buy additional land, procure other needed equipment, and provide for endowment, current support and ministerial education. While the sum of $20,000,000 was designated for Christian education in the general campaign program, the very urgent needs of the schools call for at least $24,132,516, to be distributed as follows:

and relieving human suffering. Long had they left to others this important and meaningful field of Christian activity. In this campaign they made a forward step in this direction by designating a total of $4,800,000 for the enlargement and better equipment of the following Baptist hospitals:

Arkansas

Baptist Hospital, Pine Bluff.

Georgia

Baptist Hospital, Atlanta, 115 beds.

Louisiana

Baptist Hospital, Harlingen, to be built.

Kentucky

Baptist Hospital, Louisville, to be built.

Virginia

Baptist Hospital, Lynchburg, to be built.

Baptists of Alabama, Florida, New Mexico, and North Carolina have taken the matter of hospitals under advisement and hope to build one or more within the next few years. When this has been done, every state within the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention with two exceptions will have one or more institutions of healing under Baptist auspices.

ORPHANAGES, $4,039,688.

Approximately 5,000 orphan children are being cared for, educated and trained in Christian citizenship in the orphanages maintained by Southern Baptists today, but so great is the demand upon these institutions that they need to be greatly enlarged and provided with an endowment that they may more effectively meet the needs of these boys and girls, who, bereft of earthly father and mother, have been entrusted to our care by the Heavenly Father.

The apportionment of funds among the various orphanages was made as follows:

MINISTERIAL RELIEF, $2,500,000.

After long delay the denomination has decided to create an endowment fund from the proceeds of which funds will be available for the relief of the nearly 500 aged ministers and their families, who, out of their meager earnings through the years and because of their large sacrifices for the cause of Christ, have been unable to lay up a competency for old age. Accordingly, it was decided when the campaign was launched that $2,500,000 should go to the Ministerial Relief and Annuity Board for the aid of the aged ministers. Within two years after the campaign is over it is hoped to raise another $2,500,000 for this purpose, bringing the total to $5,000,000.

By the very nature of things, local causes could not be cared for in the 75 Million Campaign. And while the general causes were not as liberally provided for as the needs of the situation demand, the apportionment of funds among them was the best that could be made in the short time allotted for the committee's action on the matter, and the contributions to all the causes represented mark a distinct advance over anything Southern Baptists have done in previous years.

Expense Account Sets Low Record

Contributors to the campaign will be pleased to know that this campaign was conducted to a successful conclusion at the lowest expense rate that has ever been incurred by any large effort at money raising in this country, being considerably lower than that reported by any other denomination engaged in a similar effort within the past few years. The central office at Nashville incurred an expense of $273,000 from the inception of the campaign to December 15, 1920, a week following the close of the original drive, while the expenses of the various state offices combined amounted to $415,157, bringing the total expense of the original campaign to $688,157, or approximately three-fourths of one per cent of the $90,000,000 subscribed to December 15. In the follow-up campaign of rounding up subscriptions and promoting evangelism and indoctrination an expense of $29,630 was incurred, making the total expenses of the headquarters office up to May 1, 1920, $302,580. The total expense of the state offices to May 1, 1920, was $546,753, making a total expense chargeable to the campaign from all sources $849,333, or less than one per cent of the more than $92,000,000 raised to that date.

CAMPAIGN HAS JUST BEGUN

Southern Baptists have achieved a notable victory in their subscriptions to this campaign, but really the campaign has just begun. Unless the subscriptions made to the campaign are paid promptly the campaign will fail and all the causes fostered by it will suffer. The churches made an excellent showing in cash payments in the interval between the close of the campaign and the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention. A similar co-operation of all our people through the four remaining years of the campaign, along with their earnest prayers for God's richest blessings upon all the work to be furthered as a result of this forward movement, are earnestly craved by the members of the Conservation Commission.
