The Ministry Of Golden Pond Goes On

One rides through the Land-Between-the-Lakes in southwestern Kentucky and northwestern Tennessee with mixed emotions. This vast area between Kentucky and Barkley Lakes, including much of two counties in Kentucky and one county in Tennessee, will provide coming generations with an opportunity to see and enjoy America's grand natural beauty and wilderness splendor. To have it, however, meant all people in the area had to move.

Some families still linger out of love for their home and desire for more money for their property. Some of these had been moved earlier for Kentucky Lake and Barkley Lake construction. There is an understandable sadness about having to leave land and sights which have become a part of people.

The moving of all residents from the Land-Between-the-Lakes also meant the going of schools, churches and even towns. One of the most picturesque little Kentucky towns, Golden Pond was one of the casualties.

Fairly or unfairly the greatest fame of Golden Pond was gained from the quantity and quality of illegal liquor reputedly made in the remote areas between the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers. The "white lightnin'" of Golden Pond was known far and wide, especially during the Prohibition days.

With no relation but of equal fame among many was the Golden Pond Baptist Church. It stood as the most impressive building in the village and was a strong force in a strong Baptist area.

Like a number of other churches effected by the acquisition of all the land, the Golden Pond congregation had to decide the destiny of the church. Not enough of the members moved to any one community to justify moving the church. To disband was the only reasonable decision.

What to do with the assets was the next question. And this story is the happy one which prompts this editorial. The story is even brighter when it is known some other congregations of the area disbanded and divided the assets or created a cemetery fund.

Not so with Golden Pond Baptist Church. The glory of God had been its concern through the years and would still be its concern though it was disbanding.

Over $21,000 was left in assets when the congregation disbanded. The first thing done was the assistance of eight needy churches with furniture and other equipment in the amount of $3,600. Two of these were Negro congregations.

The Kentucky Baptist Children's Homes received $7,000, Oneida Institute $500 and Clear Creek School $500.

The Kentucky Baptist Convention was given a considerable sum for aiding churches and for foreign, home and state missions. The American Bible Society was given $1,000.

The Little River Association of which Golden Pond was a member took note of this praiseworthy action by the members of Golden Pond and expressed thanks. So does the Western Recorder recognize with appreciation the practice of the kind of teaching and preaching heard by the members through the years.

Thousands will pass by the spot where stood this church but few will know the story. Those who do will rejoice that the ministry of Golden Pond Baptist Church goes on even to the ends of the world.

We Want More Baptist News

The Western Recorder is expecting to install a new press early this summer. This modern offset equipment will allow us to process news more rapidly and will also permit us to increase the number of pages of some issues of the paper.

Our readers can help us in making the best use of our new press. For a long time we have wanted to include more news from Kentucky Baptist churches and our associations. We believe what is being done by the local churches in their community and world ministry is the most important work done by Baptists. In the past we have turned down some news from local churches which we will be able to use in the future. We are redesigning some news columns for this purpose.

Some of the activities which are numerous and routine we cannot use. These include local recognition services for the youth missionary organizations and such regular activities as Vacation Bible Schools. To run pictures and reports of these would require almost the entire paper.

Other activities such as youth retreats, deacon retreats, and special recognition made by churches and associations we would like to have. We especially would like to report new approaches and projects which have been used successfully.

We could hope to report every pastoral and staff change among Kentucky churches. Every ordination of young men to the gospel ministry by Baptist churches should be reported in the Western Recorder.

Churches are urged to send them to us as early as possible.

We also want more pictures with news articles. Our new press will allow us to use pictures at a fraction of the cost we now have to pay for engravings. Pictures should be glossy black and white prints. Color pictures do not reproduce as well as black and white and pictures in sharp focus are most desirable. Good pictures greatly enhance an article, but no photography is better than poor photography. Churches should engage an experienced or professional photographer for special and important occasions.

We are soliciting your help because there is no other way we can secure the news. There are only two of us and we are busy most of the time writing, rewriting and putting the paper together.

Each church and each association should consider electing a reporter to provide news to the local paper, radio and television as well as to the Western Recorder.

BAPTIST FORUM

AN UNUSUAL PREACHER

Dear Editor:

While it is difficult for us ordinary Baptist people to become accustomed to seeing a man such as Arthur Blessitt, his long hair, his necklace, etc., it appears that he is really doing what the New Testament tells us we should do in winning people to Christ. The more I read, study and hear preachers preach the more convinced I am that few, indeed very few, Baptist churches today are carrying out the Great Commission even in their own locality.

We seek comfort in our sanctuary, we make a small effort at visitation in our own community, then we pretend that we want the lost, the unchurched, the depraved sinner to come to our church so that we can get him redeemed. In most churches this is only a pretense at fulfilling the command of our Lord, "go ye into all nations, preaching. . ." Perhaps we do not really know any better. Perhaps it will take a few Arthur Blessitts to teach us that we must go where the people are, the drunks, the prostitutes, the drug pushers, the depraved of all kinds rather than to expect them to come to us as a result of our almost silent appeal.

I thank God for Arthur Blessitt. I'm thankful that he has the courage of his convictions to go into the jungle of sin and spread God's word. How many of us would be comfortable sitting next to a known prostitute or a drunken, unclean, smelly man in our church? How many of us would rebel at the thought of having them there in the first place. Many of us would move to another church rather than have close personal contact with the unclean side of the world. This is where Arthur Blessitt fills such a great need, for these dirty filthy drunks, prostitutes, freaks of all kinds, are in need too. They need the Saviour.

Lexington, Ky.

BLESSITT'S EFFECTIVENESS

Dear Editor:

It was with a great deal of interest that we read your comments concerning the factors which led to the effectiveness of Arthur Blessitt's ministry. However, having heard Mr. Blessitt speak here in Lexington, we feel that there are some characteristics which you did not mention. It is our belief that there is much more to Mr. Blessitt's appeal than merely long hair and hippie phrases.

The four specific areas of appeal can be outlined as:

1. Blessitt doesn't try to "shove his belief down their throats". He showed his willingness to listen as well as to "preach".

2. He offered no condemnation of people because they dressed or acted differently, took dope, drank, or were criminals. Instead he testified that when one follows Christ, he needs no other stimulant.

3. Blessitt is never defensive of his Christianity. Because he doesn't link Christ with the traditional standards of dress and behavior, he doesn't put himself in the position of having to defend these modes of behavior which are irrelevant and immaterial to true Christianity.

4. Arthur Blessitt has an appeal to the specific people where he works and lives. This area epitomizes the character of Arthur's witness, a person to person identification which occurs in the world society, at the level of those he's trying to reach.

It is not hard to witness to a drunkard in church. However many church members would be extremely hesitant to meet that same drunk in his environment, the bar. Mr. Blessitt not only witnesses in the hippie environment, but lives in the area of his ministry with the people to whom he ministers, and he is able to make Christ relevant to their world. Is this not what Christ did?

HMB's Literacy Workshop

A literacy missions workshop aimed at training resource persons for churches and associations is scheduled for Louisville July 14-19.

Sponsored by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, the workshop will include sessions on teaching adult non-readers and for teaching those who are learning English as a second language.

"We are hoping that associations and churches will make it possible for some laymen to attend," said Miss Mildred Blankenship of the Home Mission Board.

"There is a need for a literacy missions person in every association in the Convention—a person capable of holding workshops in the churches. This is the one in-depth training opportunity."

The opportunity for teaching people English as a second language is growing, Miss Blankenship said, because of the increasing number of international students and foreign-born wives of servicemen.

Workshop sessions and housing are set at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary campus in Louisville. The fee for registration-tuition and housing is $20.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By H. C. Chiles

(These Lessons for May 11, 1969)

LIFE AND WORK SERIES

Ministering To One's Family

There are two divinely appointed social units. One is the family, which is society in nature, and the other is the church, which is society in grace.

Ruth 2:8-11, 14-16

The fascinating book of Ruth bears testimony to the closeness of the family relationship during the lifetime of the heroine.

To escape a terrible famine, Elimelech and his wife Naomi and their sons Mahlon and Chilion migrated from Bethlehem-Judah, a village five miles south of Jerusalem, to the land of Moab, a pagan country across the Dead Sea. Their migration was very unwise, as well as very displeasing to God. It is never wise to leave any position in which God has placed us merely because difficulties arise. They continued to reside in Moab after the famine was over, and there Elimelech died. In the natural course of events Mahlon married Ruth and Chilion married Orpah, both of whom were Moabite women. Within ten years both husbands died.

Naomi decided to go home and spend her last days among her friends. Her devoted daughters-in-law accompanied her. At the border between Moab and Judah, she besought them to remain in Moab. Three times she urged them to return to their home. Orpah yielded to the entreaties, departed for her mother's house and disappeared from the pages of history. Ruth refused to return due to her love for Naomi and God.

Upon her arrival in her new home, Ruth became anxious to do something to earn a living. Voluntarily assuming the role of the widow, the orphan, and the extremely poor, Ruth went to glean in the field of Boaz, a wealthy member of the family of Elimelech, her father-in-law.

Coming from Bethlehem and observing Ruth among the gleaners, Boaz became interested in her. He urged her to follow the maidens who were binding the sheaves just behind the men who were reaping. He forbade the young men to become interested in her, to touch her, and to prevent her from gleaning. He authorized Ruth to drink of the water in the vessels which the young men had brought from the well, which was a very unusual concession to a gleaner. Boaz not only protected her from insult, but he tenderly cared for her physical comfort.

The reply of Boaz indicated that, although she was indeed a stranger, she had shown herself worthy of honor and blessing by her attitude and actions toward her mother-in-law, by abandoning her former home in Moab, and by casting her lot with God's people. All of this reflected the good character of both Boaz and Ruth.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES

The Bible In The People's Language

Acts 2:1-12

Originally most of the Old Testament was written in Hebrew, with very brief passages in Aramaic, and the New Testament was written in Greek. The translation of the Bible into the languages of the people was and is greatly needed.

The coming of the Holy Spirit

On the fiftieth day after the Feast of the Passover, the one hundred twenty disciples were in the upper room in Jerusalem. They were not only together in the same place, but also in their spiritual purpose.

When God's appointed time for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit arrived the Holy Spirit descended upon those assembled believers. There was an audible sign. The verse does not say that there came a wind from heaven, but only a sound which resembled a violent wind somewhat like a tornado. There was also a visible sign—there appeared unto the disciples divided tongues which resembled fire, and one sat upon the head of each present.

Reception of the Holy Spirit was not just a group experience; rather, it was a personal one. The Holy Spirit took possession of them to such an extent that they throbbed with His sympathies, spoke His thoughts, and conformed to His will. To be "filled with the Holy Spirit" is for Him to have all there is of us.

Another supernatural manifestation on that day was the speaking in foreign

I Timothy 5:3-8

A Christian is obligated to minister and care for his kinsmen. Children and grandchildren must relieve a church of any responsibility to support their forebears. Failure to care for one's own is a reflection upon the professed piety of those who call themselves Christians, and a denial of their Christianity.

Providing for the members of one's own household is a duty incumbent upon every father, whether he is a Christian or not. When a Christian father strives faithfully to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, educational, and religious training for his children, it certainly speaks effectively for his Christianity.

languages. Immediately after the Spirit filled the believers they "began to speak with other tongues," and those present understood what they said. This miraculous gift indicated the fact that our Lord wanted His gospel to be preached in every language of the world. The preaching of His gospel is always much more effective when people hear it in their own native language.

Effect of the Spirit's coming

Anointed and energized by the Holy Spirit, they began to proclaim "the wonderful works of God" in the various languages of those who had come from the different nations. Among these splendid and magnificent works of God, about which these Jewish enthusiasts spoke, were those which Christ did, and, of course, the greatest of them all was His resurrection from the dead. The assembled multitudes, who heard and understood the disciples when they spoke in languages which they had not known previously, were amazed at them because they knew that most of them were Galileans.

The greatest gift which any believer in Christ may desire and receive is the ability to proclaim the gospel of Christ and the message of God to others in an intelligent manner in a language which can be understood by the hearers. That which is spoken in terms that are not known and understood by the speakers or the hearers certainly cannot be of any real value or benefit to either.

Hull Chosen Dean, New Professors Elected At Seminary Trustee Meet

William Edward Hull, Professor of New Testament Interpretation at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, has been named Dean of the School of Theology by the seminary trustees.

A native of Alabama and a graduate of Samford University (Baptist) in Birmingham, Dean Hull has been a member of the Seminary faculty since 1958. He holds both the B.D. and Th.D. degrees from Southern and has done advanced study in New Testament at the University of Gottingen, Germany. During 1968 he was named director of graduate studies in the School of Theology.

Hull succeeds Penrose St. Amant, who resigned in January after ten years in the administrative post to return to teaching in his role as David T. Porter Professor of Church History. The new dean will assume his duties August 1.

Outgoing chairman of the board Joseph E. Stopher presided at the spring meeting. Stopher, a prominent Louisville attorney, was the first layman to serve as chairman in more than 30 years; he is completing his second term in the position.

In other action during the 1969 meeting, the trustees:

... elected Adjunct Professor John H. Boyle, chaplain of Louisville Medical Center and director of the Pastoral Counseling Service of the Louisville Council of Churches, to the faculty with the rank of Associate Professor of Psychology of Religion, effective August 1.

... elected New Testament Instructor John B. Polhill to the faculty with the rank of Assistant Professor of New Testament Interpretation, also effective August 1.

... approved the site selected by the architects for the new building to house the School of Church Music and authorized the start of design procedures, with groundbreaking by fall, pending availability of financing for the project. The proposed new building would be adjacent to Alumni Memorial Chapel at the corner of Lexington Road and Godfrey Avenue.

... promoted G. Willis Bennett, Page H. Kelley, W. Morgan Patterson and Robert A. Proctor from the rank of Associate Professor to Professor.

... promoted J. Phillip Landgrave and Donald L. Williams from the rank of Assistant Professor to Associate Professor.

... granted tenure to faculty members Lucien E. Coleman, Jr., James W. Good, W. Bryant Hicks and Donald P. Hustad.

Crusades in the churches

We have no way of knowing how many of our Kentucky Baptist churches have been in the Crusade of Americas revivals during March and April, but hundreds have been proclaiming "Jesus, Our Only Hope" to hundreds of thousands in Kentucky—many have believed, and been saved.

During May, the Eastern half of our state will be holding their revivals, and we should be praying daily for a visitation of the Holy Spirit upon pastors and people, upon evangelists and singers, upon our churches as the "light of the world" in Jesus' Name.
