State WMU Convention At Owensboro Apr. 20-22

April 20-22, Tuesday evening-Thursday noon, the annual meeting of Kentucky Woman's Missionary Union will be held at First Baptist Church, Owensboro.

V. L. McGlocklin, 64, who retired in 1975 from the Baptist Sunday School Board's Book Store Division, died Mar. 2 in Nashville of a heart attack. He served stores in San Antonio, Carbondale, Ill. and Birmingham and supervised stores in the western U. S. 1962-75.

In keeping with the bicentennial the theme for the meeting is the WMU watchword for the year, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Freedom." Each session will conclude with a meditation by Chester Swor.

Soloist and music director will be Mrs. Beverly Terrell, an internationally known soloist and composer, from Dallas.

Musical groups appearing will be: Kentucky Baptist Chorale; Youth Bell Choir, First Baptist Church, Owensboro; Church Choir, First Baptist Church, Owensboro; and Brass Choir, Wesleyan College, Owensboro.

Other program personnel will be: Carolyn Weatherford, executive director, Woman's Missionary Union, SBC; Wendell Belew, director of Mission Division, Home Mission Board; Mrs. Laurabelle Yoder, missionary to Belgium; and Ann and Dale Beighle, missionary appointees to Ethiopia.

Wednesday evening a bicentennial pageant, "Inheritance," will be presented. A reception will follow including historic displays from all areas of Kentucky. An autograph party for program authors is also scheduled, according to Kathryn Jasper, state WMU executive director.

27 State Conventions Up Giving to SBC

In a five-month period which has included the two highest months for national Cooperative Program receipts in Southern Baptist Convention history, 27 of 33 state or regional SBC-related conventions have increased contributions to SBC causes.

During that period — the first five months of the SBC's 1975-76 fiscal year — 34,902 churches across the 50 states have given $19,935,025 in undesignated money through the denomination's national unified budget.

That figure, which doesn't include another $20.7 million in designated gifts, represents about one-third the amount given by the churches to the state Cooperative Program budgets. The $19.9 million includes two months—January and February—which set all-time, one-month national Cooperative Program records, with over $4.8 million and over $4.4 million respectively.

All but six of the state-level conventions showed increases, as the Cooperative Program ran 14.77 percent ahead of receipts of $17,369,607 in the first five months of fiscal 1974-75.

While the overall Cooperative Program runs ahead, the six states showed small dollar declines in what they gave to national Cooperative Program causes. The declines range from $226 in Utah-Idaho to $16,281 in Missouri. The others are Alabama, $10,138; Northwest (Oregon-Washington), $8,944; Hawaii, $4,637; and West Virginia, $721. Except for Hawaii (27.84 percent) and Northwest (13.92 percent), percentage decreases were relatively small. (BP)

The Association of Baptist Foundation Executives elected Grady Randolph, executive director of the Kentucky Baptist Foundation, Middletown, as president during the body's annual meeting in Tucson.

The 1977 annual meeting is Apr. 19-21 in Raleigh, N. C. The group will also hold a luncheon at the annual Southern Baptist Convention in June in Norfolk.

Forget and Remember

"Sometimes we sit in the comfortable auditoriums and forget what is out in the world."

The man was speaking at one of our board meetings and there was, of course, sound truth in what he said. Maybe there was even more truth than he realized at the moment of his utterance.

It seems to me that we ought to forget what is out in the world when we come to the sanctuary to worship. We ought to be able to lay worldly things aside as we breathe our prayers and sing praises to our God. In fact, our frustrated minds need to lay aside "the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches" and breathe, as it were, the spiritual oxygen of the holy place, like the heart patient finds peace and relaxation in the oxygen tent.

But, we also need to remember the world. As our burdens are lifted, we should think of those who still carry heavy loads. As we feel our sins forgiven we should think of those whose sins yet break their own and other hearts. As we forget our cares to give thanks for our blessings we should be made to remember those less fortunate than ourselves. As we make an offering to God we should thereby learn also to share with our needy brethren and sisters.

The true worshipper both forgets and rembers. "Forgetting those things that are past . . ." (Phil. 3:13). "Remember now thy creator . . ." (Eccles. 12:1).

EZ to Love?

The EZ Street Baptist Mission of Dry Ridge Baptist Church, Crittenden Baptist Association, was meeting for Bible study Feb. 18. The door opened and Fred Turpin, teacher and mission director, cheerfully invited the visitor to enter. A man wearing a ski mask with a pistol in his hand entered ordering all seven persons present to turn over their money to him and lie on the floor.

Said Turpin, "I felt sorry for him. When he walked out he didn't have enough to buy groceries for his family." The bandit took $30.00 from the group.

The folk at the mission hope the man will come back again, but this time without his gun to hear the message.

Homosexuality: Issue of Legalization

by Harry N. Hollis Jr.
for Baptist Press

Many people in America are struggling with the problem of homosexuality. Some denominations are debating whether to ordain homosexuals into the ministry. School boards discuss the matter of homosexual teachers in the classroom. Gay liberation activists work for acceptance of homosexuality as a normal way of life.

The issue that concerns us here is the legalization of homosexuality. Should laws govern homosexual behavior, or is it simply a private matter between consenting adults?

Before we deal with whether homosexual acts should be legalized, Christians must first examine what the scriptures say about homosexuality. In this brief article we cannot examine all relevant passages, but some general comments will be made.

Both the Old Testament and the New Testament condemn homosexuality. The Old Testament in Lev. 18-22 speaks against it, and Lev. 20:13 even prescribes the death penalty for homosexual acts. But the New Testament in 1 Cor. 6:9, 10 condemns homosexuality without such prescriptions. Paul says in these verses that homosexuals will not inherit the kingdom of God.

This scripture places homosexuals in the same category with the immoral, idolators, adulterers, thieves, the greedy, drunkards, revilers and robbers. Paul says (1 Cor. 6:11) that the Corinthians had been delivered from these practices. This means that homosexuals have the hope in Jesus Christ of being delivered from that which would keep them from inheriting the kingdom of God.

In the Old Testament and the New there is a recurring theological principle that it is God's intention for a man and a woman to join together in a one flesh relation. This idea appears in Gen. 2:24, and it is repeated by Jesus in Matt. 10:5 and by Paul in 1 Cor. 6:16.

In summary, it is evident the Bible teaches that a morally responsible, loving heterosexual relationship is God's intention for his creation.

Further, the Bible teaches that homosexuality is contrary to God's intention for his kingdom. Homosexuality is placed with other practices that block one from inheriting the kingdom. The Bible further teaches that homosexuals have the hope of deliverance through Jesus Christ.

The biblical teaching on homosexuality clearly indicates it is contrary to God's intention. But we still must deal with the question of legalization. Does the majority have the right to impose what they believe about homosexuality on the rest of society? Is the practice of homosexuality simply a private matter, or does it affect all of society?

There are some people who reject the view that homosexuality should be regulated by law. They say that what consenting adults do in private is their business as long as it does not hurt anyone else. Some people in this camp would say that homosexuality is not abnormal, only a different kind of sexual expression.

The newly militant gay liberation people, for example, say they have every right to practice homosexuality openly without fear of legal sanctions. It is the society that is sick, not the homosexual, they say.

In spite of arguments to the contrary this writer believes that laws should continue to prohibit homosexual behavior for the following reasons:

1. Homosexuality is not in the best interests of a society. It will lead not to health but to serious problems in the social structure. Therefore, a society has a right to regulate such behavior in the interest of healthy functioning and order.

2. Homosexuality is not simply a private matter; it affects others as well. It affects the children of families that are sometimes broken up by homosexual affairs. It affects the mate who is traumatized by the discovery that he or she is married to a homosexual. It affects young people who are made uncertain about their own identity when they find themselves in the class of a homosexual teacher.

3. The law should uphold community ideals. It serves not only to regulate but to instruct. If homosexuality is legalized, it will receive a sanction that it does not now have in most states. Thus more people, especially young people, will be influenced to pursue a way of life which can lead to anxiety and pain.

Some suggested actions that Christians can take to deal with the issue of homosexuality in general and with homosexuals in particular include:

1. Seek to educate people about what the Bible teaches concerning homosexuality. Stress the teaching that homosexuals can be helped through the power of the gospel.

2. Work to correct the myths about homosexuals that hamper understanding. The harsh stereotypes of the past must be resisted along with the new myths often used by the gay liberation propagandists.

3. Work to see that laws dealing with the regulation of homosexuality are just and that fair enforcement procedures are followed. The aim of such laws should be rehabilitation through guidance and counseling. It will not change homosexuals to put them in overcrowded jails where homosexual practices are already rampant. The most skilled counseling should be required.

4. Encourage church leaders to provide services through the church to help homosexuals. Work to get people in the church to show compassion for the homosexual.

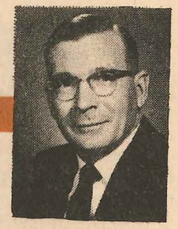
5. Help the families of homosexuals. The sudden discovery of homosexuality can severely disrupt a family's life. See that support and counseling are provided for families shaken by such an experience.

This article is based on the biblical belief that homosexuality is contrary to God's intention. It is written not in a spirit of condemnation but is intended in a spirit of Christian compassion.

It is this writer's view that there should be laws to control homosexuality.

Hope for change, however, does not lie in these laws but in positive rehabilitation efforts. The best hope for change lies in the power that a relationship to Jesus Christ can bring to all human lives. (BP)

DALEY OBSERVATIONS



The Benedictions of Death

The valley of the shadow of death has its own blessings. One of the comforting blessings in the recent death of my mother was the confirmation of truths not always observable when life is all sunshine.

God's mercy was never more evident than in the way he took my mother from this world of suffering to that life that knows no pain. Afflicted with a fatal illness that brought more and more suffering, we dreaded a prolonged period of intense suffering and slow death.

But in God's mercy it was not an agonizing struggle for her to die. Mother ate an evening meal, talked rationally with family members and went to sleep. Sometime before the next morning she lapsed into a coma and knew no suffering the remaining three days she breathed.

God's provision for broken hearts was never so real. Being blessed with a closely knit family and with parents living to a ripe old age, I have known no suffering of separation from intimates until now. But as God has been our strength in life, so is he in death.

In the last hours Daddy kissed Mother and said, "We have been sweethearts for 65 years." He talked of their school days when they were almost expelled for writing love notes to one another and recalled their one little falling out during courtship which made reunion sweeter. Neither ever had any other serious sweetheart. What more could a husband ask for?

Sorrow for me was great because love was deep. But who could ask for more for his mother? Her's was a full and happy life. Much of it was in difficult times which sometimes found her side by side Daddy in the fields in order to provide necessities of life and to save the little farm. But much of it was in happy and carefree days along the banks of streams fishing and picnicing with family and friends.

The God of our lives together was also our providing God in our earthly separation.

Mother's death also revealed the close ties of other members of her and Daddy's families. They came from long distances and busy schedules to express their love and sorrow. I was overwhelmed with gratitude and with some feeling of guilt. I have not always been so thoughtful toward my relatives.

My own sons met some of their relatives for the first time. It was really our first family reunion and we determined not to wait until the death of a loved one to see one another again.

Mother's death was also the occasion to experience the love of the family of God in a way never even imagined. My home church and community in Georgia demonstrated that people still care about one another and express their love in a truly redemptive ministry. Flowers, memorial gifts, food and every other conceivable means of expressing love made the occasion a humbling experience.

In Kentucky and elsewhere the expression of the family of God has been a benediction of healing. By mail, telephone and every other means of communication expressions of love and consolation have been overwhelming. I regret that all of these cannot be individually acknowledged but I hope these sincere words of appreciation will be seen by all who were so gracious.

Finally, I pray my mother's death will make a better man of me. Her many faithful years in her church should call forth more faithful service from her son. Her devotion to the W.M.U. and world missions which resulted in my first little speeches as a Sunbeam and Royal Ambassador should intensify my commitment to world missions. Her warmth and generosity to others should soften my heart and her longsuffering in obstacles should prepare me for any eventuality. I pray that a fraction of the good things said about her can be truthfully said of me at the end of this existence.

Church Mission Giving

Church mission giving receipts for the first six months of the current fiscal year (Sept. 1-Aug. 30) have continued to rise above the inflation rate, and we are most grateful for Kentucky Baptists and God's blessing of our work together as a Convention.

The Business Office has prepared the semiannual report on Cooperative Program receipts in the state office and on designated mission gifts. They are listed herewith by associations and churches. Please check your church's record. If there are any differences between your records and ours, we would like to know of it.

It will require our very best possible giving from here on if we are to achieve the full measure of Kentucky's proportionate share of the great Southern Baptist Convention's bicentennial year goal. Pray for our work worldwide.

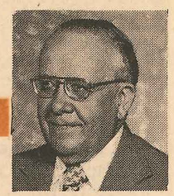
SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON



by H. C. Chiles

(These Lessons for Mar. 28, 1976)

INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Ready for the Lord's Return

Matthew 24:36-51

Our Lord's return was purposed in the mind of God, prompted by the love of God, promised by the Son of God and proclaimed by the Spirit of God through the writers of the New Testament. In I Thess. 4:16 Paul wrote: "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God." Christ's return is taught clearly, definitely and unmistakably in the Bible as, for example, "This same Jesus, who is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11.

While exercising great care in letting his followers know that he will come personally, bodily, visibly, suddenly and unexpectedly, Christ made it clear that the exact time of his return is unknown to all except the heavenly Father (Matt. 24:36). Our Lord's coming will be at a time when the world will be absorbed in its own pursuits and occupations (Matt. 24:37-39, Luke 17:26-27). In the days of Noah men depended upon their own resources and were arrogant over their achievements. These people, who were destroyed by the flood, were occupied with their own intellectual pursuits. Ignoring the claims of God upon their lives, they persistently rejected the message of God which was delivered by Noah. When this man of God warned the people of an impending judgment and appealed to them to repent of their sins and to get right with God, they looked upon Noah as a weak-minded fanatic, void of intellect and therefore unworthy of notice. Their rejection of the preacher's message did not deter him from preaching and from building as God had commanded him to do. It is never right, wise or safe for anybody to reject the message from God.

Christ's return is a wonderful incentive to preparedness. When he comes again believers or unbelievers will be living together on this earth. Upon his return a great separation will take place. All of those whom the Lord has saved shall be caught up together to meet him in the air, while all of the unsaved shall be left behind to await the white throne judgment. Even the closest associates will be separated when Christ comes. Of two working in the same field, "the one shall be taken, and the other left." Two humble women, with the same occupation and interests, "shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be taken, and the other left." From the family circle some shall be taken and others left. This will happen because some will have made preparation for this great event by having accepted Christ as their saviour, while others have persistently refused to do so. Those who choose to reject Christ instead of receiving him are going to be left behind when he comes. There will not be any hope for those left behind. No matter how much they may cry for mercy all of the unsaved shall be left behind and separated forever from all who have trusted Christ as their saviour.

In view of the certainty of the return of Christ and of the uncertainty as to the time of this great event every unsaved person should get ready by trusting him as personal saviour.

LIFE AND WORK SERIES

Meeting Christ in the Needs of Persons

Matthew 25:31-46

When he came as a babe to Bethlehem Christ came in poverty and humility but when he comes again for "The Judgment of the Nations" it will be in the role of a mighty, majestic and glorious king and judge. When he comes in great glory and power, his holy angels will accompany him and he will sit upon his great and glorious throne in splendor.

Christ indicated that the judge on this occasion will be "the Son of man," his favorite title and the one he used 78 times when referring to himself. "For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son" (John 5:22).

God is now watching over his chosen people, even though they are scattered in judgment because of their unbelief and he will not hold guiltless those who harm them. As a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats at the close of the day, the judge will separate into two groups those who have done good to the brethren and those who have done evil to them, placing the former on his right — in the place of honor, power, and blessing, and placing the latter on his left — in the place of condemnation. This division will be made with unerring accuracy.

The judge will speak first to the "sheep," and invite them to enter upon the enjoyment of the kingdom prepared for them prior to the foundation of the world. This invitation will be extended to them because they have had the proper attitude toward him, fed him, given him drink, welcomed him as a stranger, clothed him and visited him when he was sick and in prison. Astonished at his remarks, they will inquire, "Lord, when did these things take place?" He will reply, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." To minister to the spiritual, intellectual, and physical needs of others is one way of ministering unto Christ. Ministering to the needs of others is an evidence and a fruit of salvation and never a condition on which one may obtain it. Service to others will be counted as service to Christ, if rendered from a heart of love and with a desire to be helpful. Christlike people forget themselves in loving service to those who are in need.

It is God's will that present-day Christians, whom he has blessed with material possessions, minister to those who are in need. To refuse to do so is to disobey and grieve him. When we minister to God's children, he considers it as though we had ministered unto him.

The six works of mercy mentioned by Christ are not the only ones that he approves and requires, but the practice of them, as an expression of compassion, sympathy and love constitutes strong evidence that one is a child of God. People prove their love for Christ, or the lack of it, by what they do for the welfare of others.

The eternal destiny of each is determined by his or her acceptance or rejection of Christ as saviour. Those who reject him will spend eternity in hell with Satan and his followers. The punishment of the wicked in hell is everlasting.

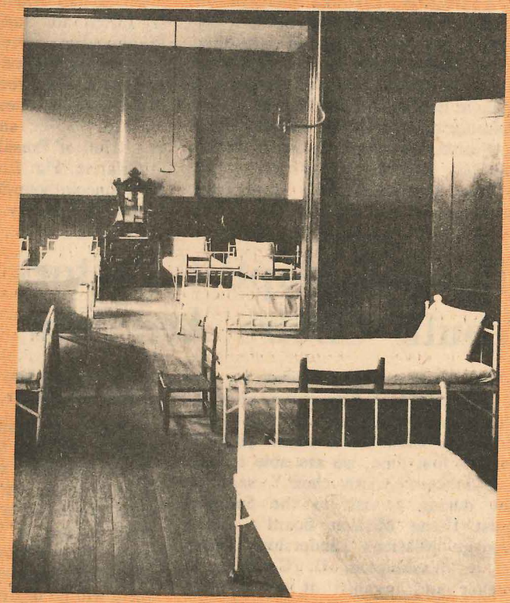
THE KENTUCKY BAPTIST CHILD CARE PROGRAM — A HISTORY OF CARING



ROOM AND BOARD. This picture of the dormitory at the Old Louisville Baptist Orphan's Home is witness to the giant strides that have been made in providing for the needs of dependent children through the Kentucky Baptist Child Care program. Children now live in cottages filled with warmth and color and allowing for privacy during those reflective times when a person just wants to be alone. Houseparents and staff make every effort to insure that when the child leaves school at the end of the day he doesn't simply return to room and board, he comes "home."

Relief in Guatemala Shifts to Rehabilitation

Shifting from emergency relief needs to long-range rehabilitation, Southern Baptists and Guatemalan Baptists have begun construction efforts in Guatemala.

"Southern Baptist missionaries in Guatemala are simply changing gears," said W. Eugene Grubbs, Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board disaster relief coordinator. "They're shifting from emergency relief to rehabilitation," he said.

Rebuilding efforts are already under way. Two construction crews from Florida, totaling 34 Baptist laymen, have cleared several construction sites for Baptist pastors' homes and churches that were destroyed or damaged. The second Florida crew began building a chapel in the third largest city in Guatemala. An Illinois crew of five left Mar. 4 to complete the chapel. More than 15 Baptist laymen from Louisiana were to leave Mar. 13 for two weeks of construction work.

Crews are working mainly in rural areas until building permits and government permission can be obtained for construction inside Guatemala City. Rebuilding is being done with concrete blocks rather than adobe bricks. Collapse of adobe walls was a major cause of injury and death during the earthquake.

According to the Guatemala Baptist Mission and Grubbs, $175,000 is needed to rebuild Baptist churches and pastors' homes. An additional $500 per family is needed to help 200 Baptist families who lost their homes. They recommend money be given to families in cash, specifically delegated to be used in rebuilding their homes. Each family would turn in an itemized report of how the money was used. Grubbs said money would go further using this plan since Guatemalans can salvage some materials from their homes and possibly purchase secondhand supplies.

Baptists have been asked by the Guatemalan government to rebuild a clinic in one of the hardest hit areas of the city. A clinic, now operated at Bethel Baptist Church and staffed by Baptist doctors and workers, is the only medical facility in the area. The government clinic was completely destroyed. Although the clinic Baptists have been asked to build would be a government clinic, officials said some indication it was built by Baptists could be placed on the building. The Bethel Baptist Church clinic is where emergency Baptist medical work in Guatemala is concentrated. Other areas are receiving adequate medical care through government clinics and hospitals and relief efforts of other groups. (BP)

"Master Control" Wins Freedoms Foundation Award

"MasterControl," a half-hour radio production of the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission, has received the 1975 Distinguished Service award for a radio program from the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa.

"MasterControl," syndicated on 638 stations across the country, is produced for the Radio and Television Commission by Charles Yates. The show was lauded for "outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of America and Americans." The program submitted for judging in the George Washington Freedoms Foundation Awards highlighted the July 4 holiday. It was aired the week beginning June 27 and featured tunes from the Broadway musical, "1776" and paid a radio visit to the "Hall of Presidents" at Disneyworld in Orlando, Fla. Excerpts from the Abraham Lincoln soundtrack there were used in the commentary.

Russian Baptist Pastors Report Youth Choirs Are Now Possible

Two Russian Baptist visitors say that increased church attendance by children and teenagers in the Soviet Union has made youth choirs possible. "For the first time, we are able to have an all-Moscow youth choir," said Ilia Orlov during a visit to the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board's annual Language Missions Leadership Conference in Washington, D. C. Orlov, a preacher and organist at the Moscow Baptist Church, is also assistant director of the international department of the All-Union Council of Evangelical Christians—Baptists, the Baptist body in the Soviet Union officially recognized by the government.

Visitors to the churches in the Soviet Union reportedly have seen an increasing number of young people in attendance in Soviet Baptist churches over the years. It has been illegal for children to join the church under the age of 18. But, according to observers, it apparently has not been illegal for children to attend, although there may have been pressure against attendance.

Another Russian, diplomat Oleg Yermishkin of the Soviet Embassy, said, "Even though I am an atheist and you are Christian, we can both attempt to bring happiness to the world's people and work toward a common objective of peace. For we know if there is a war—between our countries especially—the whole world will be destroyed."

Conferees, who heard reports on ministries to ethnics and deaf persons in the U. S., also visited 12 embassies "to learn first hand about the culture of other countries," said Oscar Romo, language missions director for the Home Mission Board. They took gifts to the embassies, including a copy of the New Testament in Today's English Version, a copy of the Bible in the language of the country and a copy of "The Human Touch," pictorial book on the work of the Home Mission Board.
