Preface

Welcome to this second edition of the revised Southern Baptist Handbook. This pertinent resource holds a treasure of information and trends that all Southern Baptists can use to guide and shape the future of their churches, associations, state conventions, and the Southern Baptist Convention.

The future is always a reflection of and a reaction to the past. To make good decisions about the future, we must have good information about the past. Many wheels have been reinvented because someone didn't know or take the time to discover the past.

The Handbook gives you the opportunity to plan for the future with good data. Such data includes:

- Southern Baptist trends and highlights
- Church growth trends
- Major items summarized
- Receipts and expenditures
- Foreign and home missions
- Bold Mission Thrust
- Southern Baptist directories
- Special statistical reports
- State convention details

When Southern Baptists understand and appreciate their past, they will be able to plan and build a more promising future. When Southern Baptists realize the present times and catch an awareness of the trends in society, they can determine the most effective ways to share the gospel, teach the Bible, start new churches, grow believers into disciples, and worship the living God in Jesus Christ. The Handbook may not answer all concerns, but it is a good first step.

Proverbs 1:5 says: "A wise man will hear and increase in learning, and a man of understanding will acquire wise counsel" (NASB).¹ The Handbook will do just that—help you learn and give wise counsel about the past so you can build the future.

Use this Handbook to be informed, aware, and committed as a Southern Baptist to world missions, individual evangelism, new church starts, church program growth, stewardship of time and money, and all God has blessed Southern Baptists to be and do.

Help us spread the word to those people who need this resource. Ignorance has no excuse when so much good information is available.

reporting churches are included. Nonreporting refers to those still affiliated with the Convention but who have submitted a report for three or more years.

*The data is not comparable to previous years. See page 36 in 1972 Handbook.

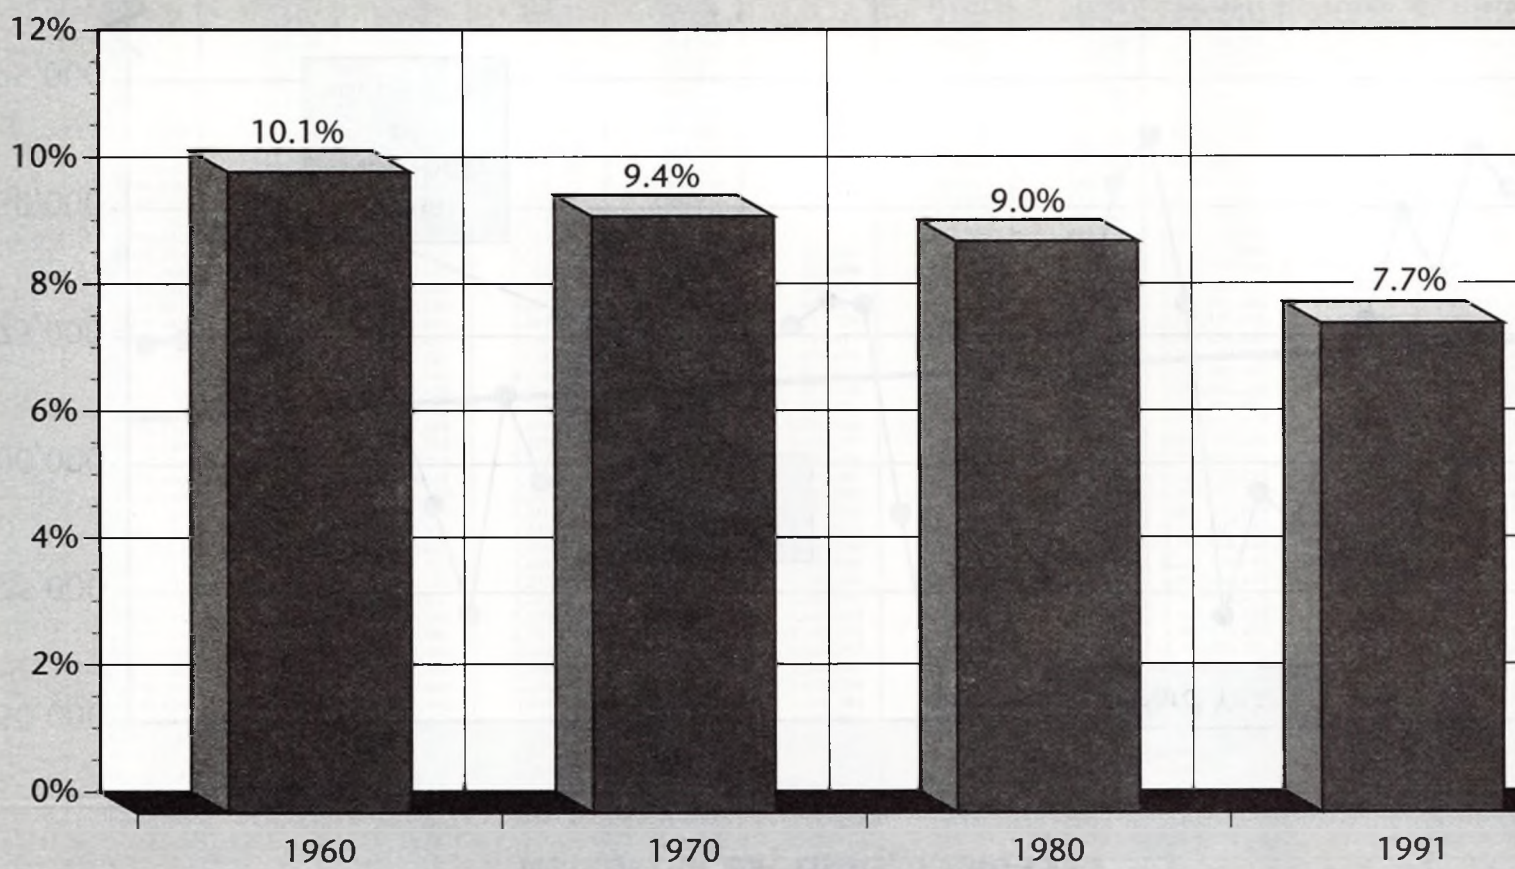

*Not part of the 1984 Uniform Church Letter.

*1990 and succeeding years are not comparable to 1989 and prior years due to a change in the reporting convention from enrollment to enrollment/participation.

Number of Baptisms, 1950-1991

Cooperative Program as a Percent of Total Gifts, 1960-1991

1991 Statistical Trends and Highlights

James A. Lowry

Southern Baptists continue in 1991 to post new highs in most statistical areas. The third largest net increase in number of churches since 1965, an increase in number of baptisms (fourth straight increase), the largest net growth in membership since 1982, and the largest increase in Sunday School enrollment since 1976 are all contributing factors.

Following is more specific information in these areas as well as other 1991 Convention statistical highlights.

Number of Churches

The 1991-1990 annual net change in number of churches is 247, bringing the total number of churches to over 38,000 for the first time. The final count showed 38,221 churches. This increase of almost 250 churches makes the 1991 net increase the third largest since 1965, exceeded only by increases in 1981 of 248 and 1988 of 281. In 1991, 478 new or reorganized churches were added and 231 were dropped.

All but four of the 36 state conventions showed a net increase in the number of churches. Leading the way in numerical net gain were Texas with 54 and Florida with 28.

After a dramatic drop-off in the late 1960s in the annual net change, Southern Baptists established an uptrend that had an average net gain of 127 churches in the 1970s and 218 in the 1980s. So far for the two years in the 1990s, we have experienced a net gain identical to the 1980s: an average of 218.

Baptisms

Baptisms in 1991 topped the number in 1990 by 11,637 or 3.0 percent. The 1991 total of 396,668 is the highest total since 1982. The 1991 figure makes the fourth year in a row that baptisms have exceeded the previous year; and the last time that happened was in the 1940s. The peak year came in 1972 when Convention churches reported 429,742 baptisms.

Each of seven age categories gained over the previous year with preschool and adult totals showing significantly higher gains over 1990 than the other age categories (10.4% and 7.1% respectively).

No baptisms were reported by 5,596 of the churches submitting a Uniform Church Letter. The actual number of churches without at least one baptism is somewhat higher than the 5,596 since there were 1,995 churches for which the number of baptisms is unknown. Many of these are small churches and, thus, more likely to not have had any baptisms. Another 3,015 churches reported only one baptism, and about the same number (2,873) reported only two baptisms. On the high end, 286 churches reported 100 or more baptisms with North Phoenix Baptist Church in Phoenix, Arizona reporting the largest number of baptisms, 1,005.

Total Church Membership

In 1991, the church membership figure showed a net gain of 193,870, a significant improvement over 1990 growth and the largest numerical increase since 1982. The percent gain was 1.3 as compared with 0.9 for the previous year. Not only is the 1991 numerical growth figure a marked improvement over 1990, it is double the growth for either 1988 or 1989. Although it is still too early to establish a firm trend, the increase was larger than the previous year's increase for three straight years. This is encouraging in view of the fact that the 1980s experienced growth at a decreasing rate. Another way to put it is the Convention continued to grow, but the change was smaller, on the average, each succeeding year. The trend is illustrated in the table below where net change in membership is shown based on a ten-year moving average for periods ending in 1981 thru 1991. Each average represents a 10-year period. A decrease occurred every period in the 10-year average until the last 10-year period ending in 1991, where the average increased from the previous period.

Net Change in Membership, Ten-Year Moving Average
1972-1981	196,312	1978-1987	164,457
1973-1982	193,097	1979-1988	162,152
1974-1983	188,811	1980-1989	153,446
1975-1984	183,382	1981-1990	143,760
1976-1985	175,074	1982-1991	144,870
1977-1986	169,596

Resident Membership

In 1990, resident membership had the highest one-year net increase since 1982. The 110,849 more resident members in 1990 came somewhat as a surprise since the 1989 increase of 17,734 was the lowest in over 20 years and reflected a trend toward smaller gains each succeeding year throughout the 1980s. The 1991 net gain is even better than the one in 1990, with an increase of 182,600 or 1.7 percent. This gain is the largest since 1972.

Sunday School Enrollment

Sunday School enrollment posted a 2.2 percent enrollment increase of 174,303. This was the largest increase since 1976. The new total is 8,183,801. The 1991 increase is more than 100,000 higher than 1990's increase of 73,483 and almost 150,000 more than the increase in 1989 of 24,642. Prior to 1989, enrollment decreased for three straight years.

Size of Church

The average size church in the SBC has grown as the Convention has increased its number of churches and, at the same time, increased its number of larger churches. In 1955, the average church had 282 members. Now that figure is 405. The number of churches with 1,000 or more members has more than doubled since 1955, from 1,329 to 3,206. Even though these 3,000+ churches represent only 8.1 percent of all churches, they hold 37.8 percent of the members.

In spite of the fact that there are many more churches today with 1,000 or more members and that the percent of churches with under 300 members has dropped 15 percentage points since 1955 (from 75% to 60%), there are still as many churches in the SBC with fewer than 300 members: 22,531 in 1955 and 22,447 in 1991. The numbers are slightly higher since church membership is not known for churches classified as nonreporting (821 in 1991).

Total Receipts

Total receipts topped 5 billion in 1991 to a new total of $5,016,775,505. This represents an increase of over $150 million ($150,655,945) or 3.1 percent over the 1990 total. However, for the third time in the last four years, total receipts, as an annual percent change, grew less than the average change in prices as measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The table below shows a comparison of annual percent change in total SBC receipts and the CPI from 1985 to 1991.

	Total Receipts	CPI
1985	6.0	3.6
1986	6.0	1.9
1987	4.3	3.6
1988	2.4	4.1
1989	4.3	4.8
1990	6.1	5.4
1991	3.1	4.2

Church Debt/Debt Retirement

As a percent of total gifts, church debt has decreased from 92.1 percent in 1971 to a 1991 figure of 46.0 percent. The major portion of this change occurred during the first 10 years of the 20-year period. The 1982 percent was 46.2, and since that time the percent has shown little variation. (See the graph on page 43.)

Debt retirement as a percent of local expenditures has followed the same pattern as church debt. The 1970 figure was 18.6 percent, a steady decrease through the 1970s. The 1981 figure was 13.1 percent. Little change has occurred since then—1991's church debt as a percent of local expenditures was 12.5 percent.

Church-Type Missions

In 1991 churches reported starting 1,027 church-type missions. This is less than the 1,205 started in 1990 and the lowest since 1981.

The total number of church-type missions for 1991 was 5,052 as compared with 5,445 in 1990. A new statistic collected for the first time in 1990 was the number of church-type missions helped by a church that was not the chief sponsor. This figure went up significantly in 1991 to 6,163 (5,250 in 1990). The main purpose of this new item was to eliminate duplicate reporting. The significant increase in the number of church-type missions being helped by churches other than the chief sponsor and a decrease in the number of church-type missions started and the number operating may indicate that, in some cases, more than one church reported the same church-type mission started and/or operating.

Racial/Ethnic Composition of Church

To no one's surprise the majority of churches (93.9%) in the SBC are churches where the largest racial/ethnic group in the church is white (non-Hispanic). But what about the other 6.1 percent? According to a recent 1991 count from associations, 909 (2.4%) of our churches are Black churches, 658 (1.7%) are Hispanic, 320 (0.9%) are Native American, 316 (0.8%) are Asian, and 99 (0.3%) are other race.

The distribution of churches for this item and the total church membership in each of these racial/ethnic categories is illustrated below. However, these membership figures do not indicate the number of a particular racial/ethnic persuasion since some Hispanics are in churches that are not majority Hispanic, and some churches classified here as Hispanic have members that are not Hispanic.

Miscellaneous

- The number of members received from non-Baptist churches exceeded those lost to non-Baptist churches by 22,042 (68,845 versus 46,803). This was the 13th year in a row that members received has exceeded members lost.

The last four years have all shown an increase in the difference between the two figures; the difference more than doubled since 1987 (10,031 in 1987 to 22,024 in 1991).

- Cooperative Program receipts as a percent of total tithes continues to decline with the 1991 figure 7.7 percent as compared with 8.0 percent in 1990. By decade the largest decline occurred between 1980 and 1990 when the percent dropped one percentage point, 9.0 to 8.0. The 1960 figure was 10.1 and the 1970 figure was 9.4.

- The 1991 UCL showed 9,944 bivocational pastors. This was significantly higher than the 1987 figure of 9,170 and the 1983 figure of 9,026. However, the 1991 total is similar to the 1980 figure of 9,845 bivocational pastors.

- The number of churches which reported selected UCL items include:

32,709	- Full-time preaching in a.m. and p.m. every Sunday
27,768	- A budget adopted by the church
16,201	- Insurance for vocational church staff members
16,129	- Baptist Men's Day
15,091	- Weekly evangelistic visitation

¹State conventions are ranked by percent of churches growing.

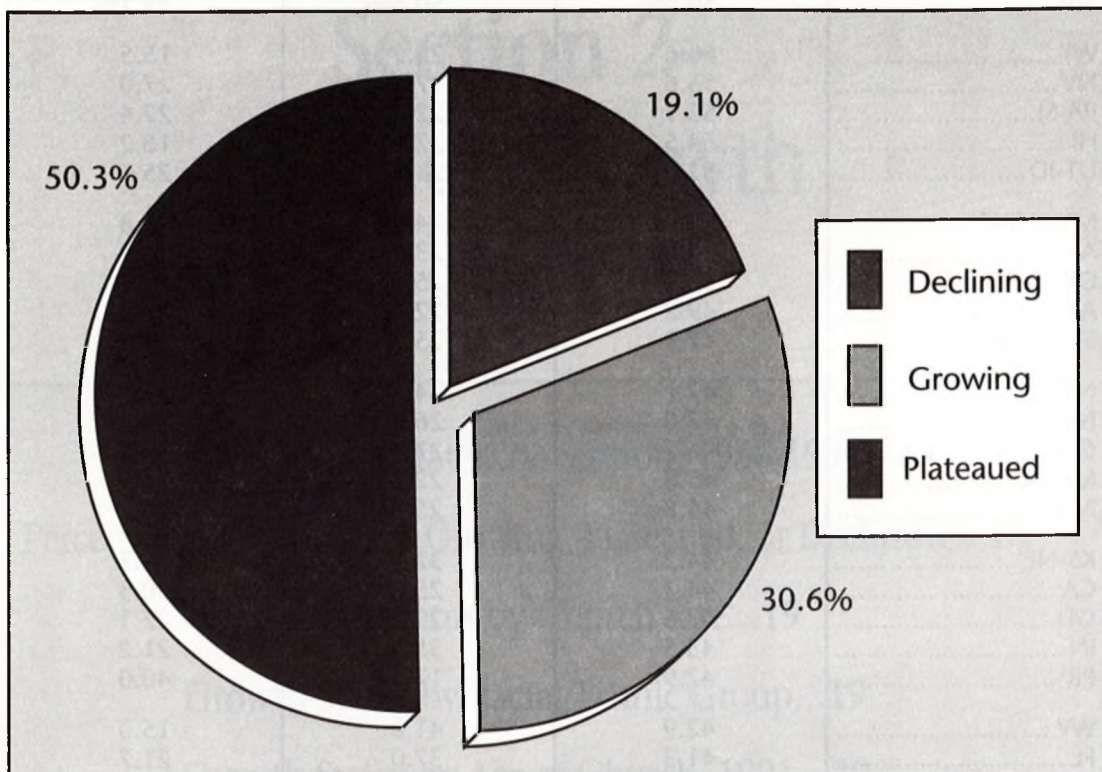

²Growing churches are congregations with membership growth greater than 10 percent from 1986 to 1991.

³Plateaued churches are congregations with plus or minus 10 percent membership change from 1986 to 1991.

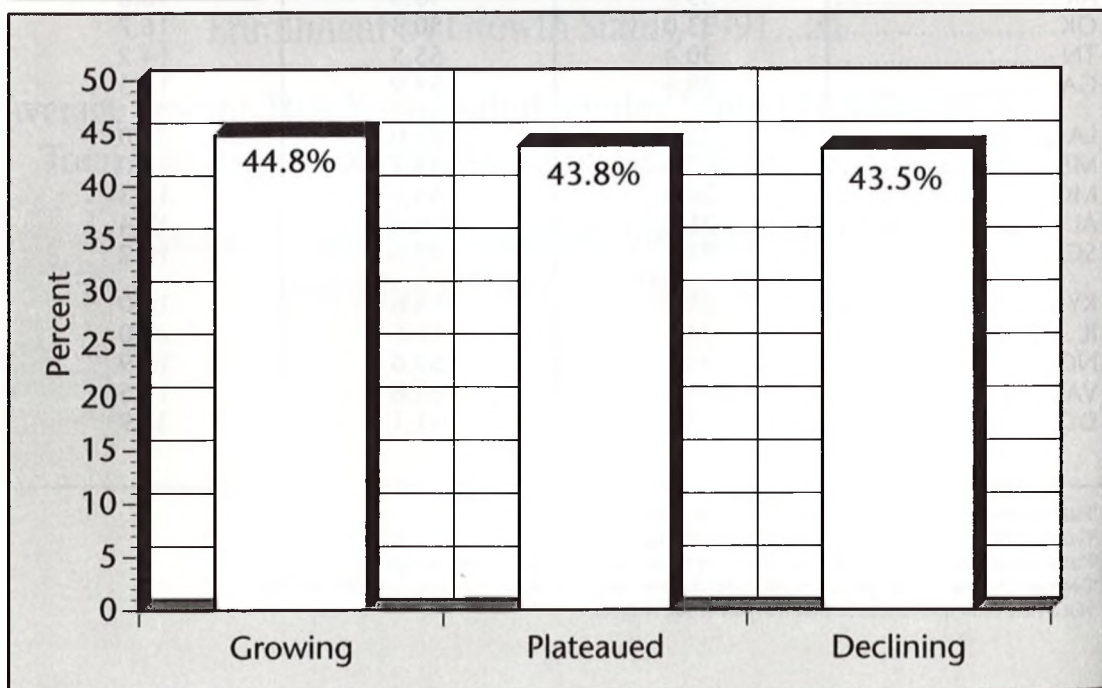

⁴Declining churches are congregations with a membership loss greater than 10 percent from 1986 to 1991.

⁵Not a state convention but to be shown as part of SBC statistics.

¹This summary of statistics for churches is based on collaborative input of churches, associations, and Convention Executive offices. A church's relationship to an association, a state convention, or the SBC is determined solely by each of those offices.

²Includes 821 nonreporting churches. Nonreporting refers to those still affiliated with the Convention but who have not submitted a report for three or more years.

³VBS statistics are based on VBS reports or UCL statistics with the exception of Puerto Rico which is exclusively from UCL.

⁴Includes Campus BYWs, Baptist Nursing Fellowship, and church BYWs.

⁵Includes small amounts of income from fees, rentals, etc.

⁶Not a state convention but to be shown as part of SBC statistics.

¹As percent of reporting churches.²Not a state convention but to be shown as part of SBC statistics.³The state convention or fellowship was not in existence, as such, for one or both of the years used to calculate this percent change. Churches existing in such earlier year(s) in the state or fellowship territory were grouped statistically and were used as the basis for computing percent change.

²Enrollment first reported in 1978.

In 1976 Southern Baptist churches, during their annual convention, focused attention on the unreached and the harvestable. The result of this concern was Bold Mission Thrust, which called for presenting the gospel to each unreached individual in the world by A.D. 2000. This goal is to be accomplished by other tangible goals for Foreign Mission Board missionaries laboring among the unreached and the harvestable people of the world. With nine years left in the BMT countdown, this update portrays the goals in context.

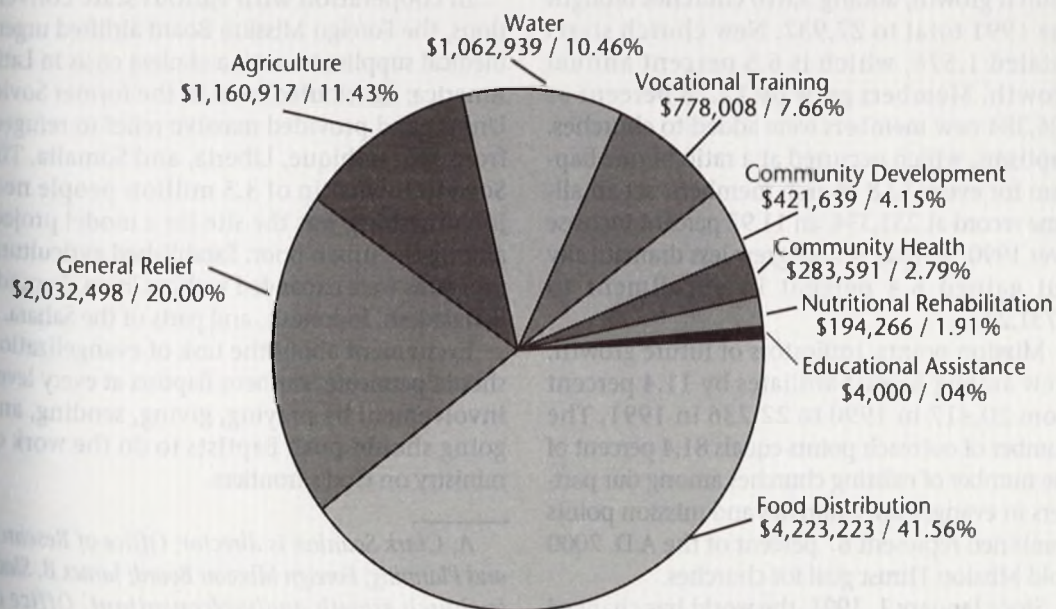

These statistics indicate work done by Baptist churches and conventions overseas where our missionaries relate as partners and helpers. Missionaries and volunteers come from Southern Baptist churches, with the Foreign Mission Board serving as the channel. Although the FMB doesn't control the items reported, intentions of Bold Mission Thrust are basic in the Board's plans and outreach.

Cooperating with Baptist Partners to Evangelize and Minister in a Rapidly Changing World

A. Clark Scanlon and James B. Slack

As of January 1, 1992, the Foreign Mission Board had 3,906 missionaries in more than 122 countries of the world. Of those, 79 career nonresidential missionaries targeted 79 highly unevangelized people groups who represent a population of 349,899,000 in 22 countries.

The primary goal of all Foreign Mission Board missionaries is evangelism that results in churches.

One of two priorities in Bold Mission Thrust is evangelism that results in churches among the unevangelized. At least 188 unevangelized people groups in 40 countries, each with a population of more than one million, need immediate attention if they are to hear the gospel in their lifetimes. These people total at least 652,687,000. Missionaries among the unevangelized could total as much as 25 percent of the Board's missionary personnel by the end of this decade.

A second priority of Bold Mission Thrust continues to be confronting and winning the lost in any country. During 1991, overseas affiliates collectively reported gains in every major church growth category.

Affiliates attained a record 15.8 percent net church growth; adding 3,810 churches brought the 1991 total to 27,932. New church starts totaled 1,576, which is 6.5 percent annual growth. Members grew by 12.26 percent as 326,384 new members were added to churches. Baptisms, which occurred at a ratio of one baptism for every 12.8 church members, set an all-time record at 233,334, an 11.97 percent increase over 1990. Sunday School grew less dramatically but gained 6.4 percent in enrollment to 1,731,227.

Mission points, indicators of future growth, grew among Baptist affiliates by 11.4 percent from 20,417 in 1990 to 22,736 in 1991. The number of outreach points equals 81.4 percent of the number of existing churches among our partners in evangelism. Churches and mission points combined represent 67 percent of the A.D. 2000 Bold Mission Thrust goal for churches.

Since January 1, 1991, the world has changed beyond predictions. Along with the demise of Communism came the collapse of the Soviet Union. The Foreign Mission Board quickly established and funded a Green Alert Committee to take advantage of the new openness to active, aggressive evangelism within the former Soviet Union. Also, following Desert Storm, opportunities for service and witness occurred in Iraq, Iran, Kuwait, and Turkey.

Churches around the world possess the potential for addressing divergent needs: expanding discipleship ministries to include all baptized annually; expanding extension training along all the cutting edges of growth; and achieving higher maturity rates among existing mission points while starting new ones among the unreached. Clearly God has been preparing them for response which could equal that of the highly responsive countries.

The Foreign Mission Board has continued its extensive work in meeting human needs through holistic ministries. These included disaster response, urgent food distribution and long-range developmental projects. During 1991 the Board approved the release of $10,161,081 for 270 projects in 65 different countries.

In cooperation with various state conventions, the Foreign Mission Board airlifted urgent medical supplies to meet a cholera crisis in Latin America; distributed food in the former Soviet Union; and provided massive relief to refugees from Mozambique, Liberia, and Somalia. The Soweto township of 3.5 million people near Johannesburg was the site for a model project among the urban poor. Established agricultural programs were expanded within China, Burundi, Bangladesh, Indonesia, and parts of the Sahara.

Excitement about the task of evangelization should permeate Southern Baptists at every level. Involvement by praying, giving, sending, and going should push Baptists to do the work of ministry on God's frontiers.

Home Mission Board Personnel

The purpose of the Home Mission Board is to serve Southern Baptists by assisting churches to proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ, to start and grow New Testament congregations, and to minister to persons in need in the name of Christ. The Home Mission Board cooperates with churches, associations, state conventions, and other Southern Baptist Convention agencies to develop and implement a comprehensive strategy of missions and evangelism in the United States and assigned territories.

A major strategy to accomplish the objectives and the purpose of the Board is to appoint, approve, support, and equip missions personnel. At the end of 1991 the Home Mission Board had 4,922 home missions personnel assigned to serve in all 50 states, the Caribbean, American Samoa, and Canada. Included in this count are 671 Mission Service Corp workers who have completed two years of service. The Home Mission Board is close to reaching its goal of 5,000 missions personnel by A.D. 2000. In 1991 these missions personnel reported 44,030 professions of faith, plus 20,862 additions to churches, and 2,507 commitments to special service.

A second major strategy of the Home Mission Board is to endorse chaplains and recruit, train, and deploy short- and long-term volunteers and bivocational ministers in accomplishing HMB objectives. In 1991, on its 50th anniversary, the Chaplains Commission, issued endorsement to 607 Southern Baptist ministers to serve in military, institutional, health care, business-industry, and pastoral counseling settings. This brought the total number of endorsed Southern Baptist chaplains and pastoral counselors to 2,316 serving throughout the United States and in 23 foreign countries. These endorsed chaplains and counselors reported 29,232 professions of faith and 4,310 baptisms. These chaplains and pastoral counselors are not paid by the Home Mission Board. Their salaries are usually provided by private or government institutions or organizations. The Board provides endorsement on behalf of Southern Baptists and a support system for these valuable missions personnel.

Particularly significant in 1991 was the participation of 206 Southern Baptist chaplains in Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm. These chaplains reported 1,554 professions of faith, 3,556 rededications, and 653 baptisms among personnel in these military engagements.

In addition to the personnel mentioned above, the Home Mission Board helped assign 69,633 volunteer missions personnel in 1991. These personnel were part of a number of volunteer programs supported by the Home Mission Board such as Mission Service Corp, Christian Service Corp, Innovators, semester missions, student summer missions, and Sojourners. Additionally, evangelism and language church extension volunteers and youth groups participated in missions projects. This is the largest number of home missions volunteers ever recorded. It exceeds the 1991 goal of assigning 50,825 volunteers by more than 37 percent.

Home Mission Board Funding

In 1991, Home Mission Board program expenditures totaled $80.8 million. Major areas of expenditures were Language Missions, $18.1 million; Church Extension, $17.5 million; Christian Social Ministries, $11.1 million; and Evangelism, $8.7 million.

Cooperative Program receipts and Annie Armstrong Easter Offering receipts are the major sources for Home Mission Board funding. In 1991, Cooperative Program receipts accounted for 30.3 percent of total income, while the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering provided 39.9 percent of total income. Other sources of income include interest and fees on church loans and bonds, investment income, rent, and other gifts and contributions.

In 1991, the Board received $26,961,007 through the Cooperative Program. This amount was 1.8 percent below Cooperative Program gifts received in 1990. This was the first decrease in Cooperative Program funds received by the HMB since 1970.

For the past 20 years Cooperative Program receipts at the HMB have increased an overall 393 percent; however, the bulk of this increase has been due to inflation. Real increase in Cooperative Program receipts amounts to an overall 47 percent after adjusting for inflation. This translates to a 2 percent real increase per year for the past 20 years. This pattern has changed in recent years. For the past five years we have seen an average real decrease of 2 percent annually.

In 1991, the Home Mission Board received $35,522,892 in Annie Armstrong Easter Offering receipts. This, too, was a slight decrease from the previous year—a 0.4 percent decrease. As with Cooperative Program receipts, this was the first decrease in the offering since 1970.

For the past 20 years the offering has increased by 565 percent—most of the increase being due to inflation. Real increase in Annie Armstrong Easter Offering amounts to an overall 98 percent for the 20-year period after adjusting for inflation. The average annual real increase for this 20-year period is 3.5 percent. The average annual real increase for the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering has slowed to 0.6 percent for the last five years.

Bold Mission Thrust

Ernest E. Mosley

As Southern Baptists count years, 1990-91 was the first year of the last decade of the twentieth century. That also means it was the beginning of the stretch run to reach the Great Commission commitment of a generation of concerned Southern Baptists. That commitment was adopted by the Southern Baptist Convention in 1976 when a Missions Challenge Committee completed two years of study with recommendations that challenged Southern Baptists to pray, give, and work so that "every person in the world shall have the opportunity to hear the gospel of Christ by the year 2000."

In 1987, the Southern Baptist Convention, meeting in St. Louis, Missouri, adopted the 1990-2000 Bold Mission Thrust Denominational Emphasis Plan designed to provide Southern Baptists with the design, the motivation, and the resources for reaching the objective adopted in 1976. The Emphasis Plan built on the successes of the previous 15 years and accepted the challenge to catch up where we are behind schedule in getting the gospel to every person in the world.

The year 1990-91 was not only the launch year of a decade of dedicated effort, it was the year when doors opened to regions, nations, and people groups in unprecedented proportions. Obviously, the Spirit of God moved in the hearts of people enabling them to overcome oppressive systems that prevented the open communication of spiritual truth. That for which Southern Baptists had prayed was reality; doors of opportunity were open. The people of Eastern Europe, among others, called out in the manner of the Macedonians of the first century, "Come over and help us." What a day for evangelism and for responding to the needs of others in the name of Jesus Christ!

The 1990-95 Bold Mission Thrust theme is "Share Heritage and Hope." Southern Baptists have a heritage to be celebrated, a wonderfully rich heritage of grace and growth. Southern Baptists also have a hope to be shared. It is the hope that is in Jesus Christ, who is our hope and the only hope of the world. In 1995, the Southern Baptist Convention, the Foreign Mission Board, and the Home Mission Board will celebrate 150 years of this heritage and hope. The celebration will declare to all people everywhere that God has been to Southern Baptists a God of grace and glory and that He will communicate the hope of the gospel through Southern Baptists in convicting and converting ways in the future.

With John 20:21 as a biblical base, the 1990-91 theme spotlighted "Share Heritage and Hope - Extend Christ's Mission." The annual theme called for each church to extend Christ's mission (1) through evangelism that results in baptisms, (2) through starting new congregations, (3) through increasing participation in Bible study, (4) through involving members in volunteer missions projects, and (5) through providing growing amounts of financial support for cooperative mission efforts. These five action areas and eight other goals are measured in the 1990-91 report that follows.

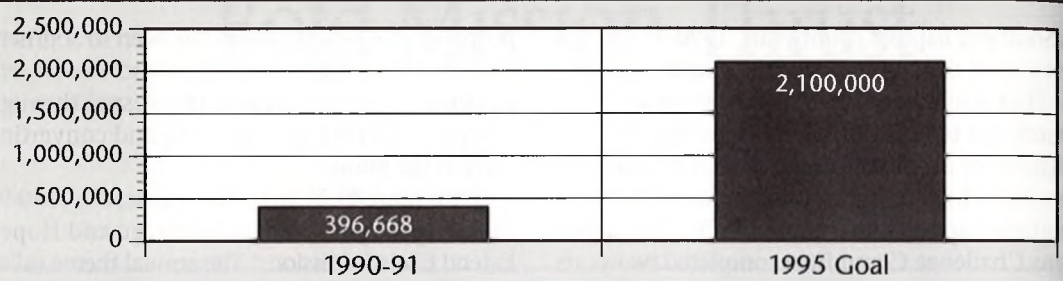

The annual focus for the current year, to be reported on in 1993, and the three remaining years of the Share Heritage and Hope era are:

- 1991-92 Share Heritage and Hope...Embrace God's Word (2 Tim. 3:15-17)
- 1992-93 Share Heritage and Hope...Equip Believers (Eph. 4:12)
- 1993-94 Share Heritage and Hope...Serve in Christ's Spirit (Phil. 2:5-11)
- 1994-95 Share Heritage and Hope...Evangelize the Lost (Luke 19:10)

Southern Baptist School Enrollments and Budgets

Arthur L. Walker, Jr.

Southern Baptist college and university enrollments continue to include a number of persons classified as "nontraditional" students. These are persons who, for the most part, have returned to complete unfinished programs, started higher education later in life, or who seek to receive training in additional professional areas than those in which they have been serving.

Older students and those seeking some additional education usually are unable to attend school full-time or must fit the scheduling of classes around other responsibilities in their lives. They need and seek faculty members who understand and respect the circumstances these students face in their endeavor to complete or enlarge professional experience.

Faculty members at Baptist colleges and universities perform true Christian service by recognizing the opportunity to minister to and serve the needs of such students.

The "nontraditional" students have been one of the factors involved in the continued growth in enrollment in the Baptist institutions.

Enrollment figures at Baptist schools again in the fall of 1991 showed an overall increase. This was the 10th consecutive year that the enrollment at these institutions has shown an overall increase.

The 113,262 enrollment figure for those attending Southern Baptist colleges and universities in 1991 was a 2.4 percent increase over the 1990 total of 110,605.

These enrollment figures, released to the Education Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention by each school, include both full-time and part-time students in credit courses. These figures do not include students enrolled for continuing education units nor those enrolled in noncredit courses.

The enrollment figures show that 33 of the 53 colleges and universities identified with a Baptist state convention reported an increase which ranged from 22.7 percent to 0.3 percent.

In an article on enrollment published in The Southern Baptist Educator, Tim Fields of the Education Commission staff reported that some of the Southern Baptist institutions have reached or surpassed their established enrollment limits. This means that some of these schools are limiting the number of incoming students accepted and have restricted recruiting activities or have set higher admission standards for the students who are accepted.

Fields also reported that an "Early Estimates" report by the U.S. Department of Education had predicted a total college enrollment at private and public institutions in the U.S. for the fall of 1991 of 14,157,000. This early estimate had also predicted that the enrollments at four-year colleges would only increase by 1 percent. The increase of 2.4 percent in the enrollment at Southern Baptist colleges compares well with the enrollment increase predicted in both private and public four-year institutions.

An article in The Chronicle of Higher Education earlier quoted college administrators as saying that freshmen enrollments were down at many colleges because of tuition increases and because of the declining numbers of high school graduates. At the same time, according to The Chronicle article, overall college enrollments, in fact, were up because of "an influx of adult students who were waiting out the recession in college classrooms."

The enrollment of significant numbers of "nontraditional" students has obviously affected the enrollment picture in all colleges and universities, as well as those related to Baptist conventions.

The enrollment figures for the Baptist institutions do not seem to reflect a trend for a type of institution or for a geographical area. In states with more than one Baptist school, enrollments were shown as both increasing or decreasing at individual institutions.

Financial support from the state conventions to the various Baptist schools did not change appreciably during the 1991 school year from that of earlier years. The average amount of the annual budget of each of the Baptist institutions received from state convention sources continues to be about 10 percent. Many of the state conventions have faced decreased incomes in the gifts received from church budgets. As the state conventions have been forced to rethink budgeting to convention institutions, these state convention entities have faced increasing budgets and rising costs. This means, of course, that the amount received from contributing state conventions continues to be a smaller percentage of the total institutional budget.

The continuing significant difference between the amounts received from state convention budgets and the rising budgets of the educational institutions must be met by tuition increases and the raising of fairly large amounts from private donors for operating costs and for increasing the amounts of institutional endowments. Many Baptist institutions are forced to become increasingly dependent on income from endowment.

Even the six theological seminaries, which all receive a significant part of their budgets through the funds contributed through SBC churches, are feeling pressure to seek additional funding for their programs.

The theological seminaries have been able to maintain the costs to the students at these institutions at a considerably lower level than the amounts charged at comparable theological schools. The seminaries are facing increasing financial pressures as the Convention resources have leveled and as operating costs have continued to escalate.

As state convention and SBC income continues to plateau and the costs of the convention missions operating budgets continue to increase, the institutions related to the conventions will face the growing possibility of lowered percentages of their total costs being covered by funds received from convention budgets.

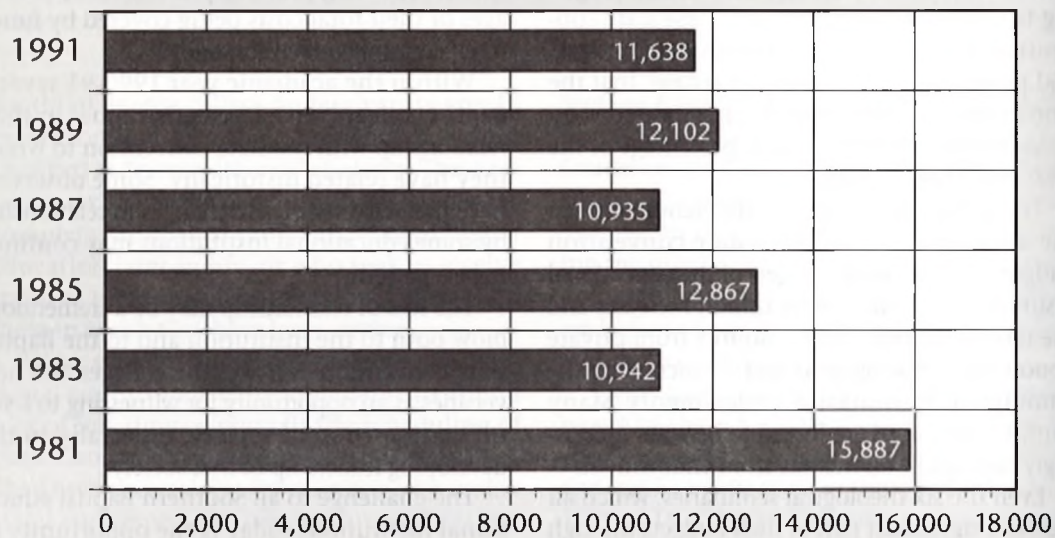

Within the academic year 1990-91 several Baptist colleges have faced crisis times in their relationship with the state convention to which they have related historically. Some observers have predicted that these changes in relationship by some educational institutions may continue to be a pattern.

The loss of relationship may be a tremendous blow both to the institution and to the Baptist state convention as it sees the colleges and universities as an opportunity for witnessing to a significant portion of society, especially to the developing leadership of that society.

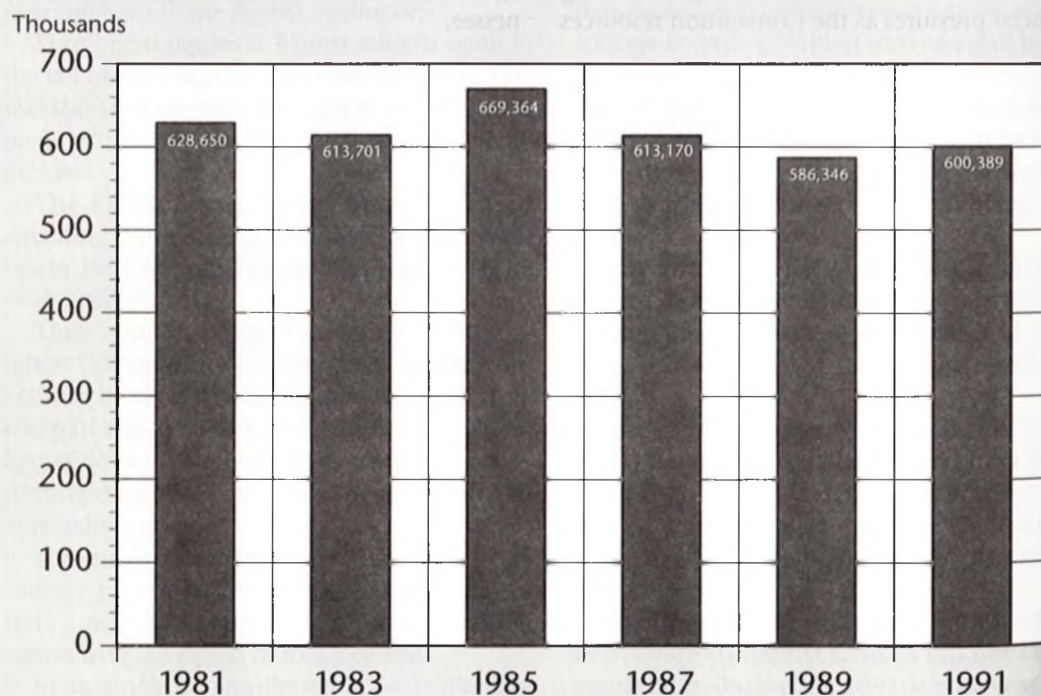

The challenge to all Southern Baptist educational institutions today is the opportunity to educate those who will serve in all fields of human endeavor and to lead these persons to understand their opportunity to serve God within their chosen profession.

Southern Baptist Baby Boomers...119

Southern Baptist Baby Boomers

M. Dean Anderson

In recent years considerable attention and much print have been devoted to the baby boomer generation—those people born between 1946 and 1964. This generation of adults grew up with the civil rights riots, the Vietnam War, Watergate, and nearly uninterrupted economic prosperity, and, as a result, seem to differ markedly in perceptions, values, and life-styles from the generations which preceded them.

Compared to those adults born prior to 1946, baby boomers have been found to be (1) more autonomous, self-reliant, and individualistic; (2) more passive and focused inward; (3) more tolerant of diversity; (4) demanding of immediate gratification and results; and (5) distrustful of institutions and centralization, among other characteristics. Because the boomer generation now comprises nearly one half of the U.S. adult population, they will have a profound impact on all of life in America for years to come.¹

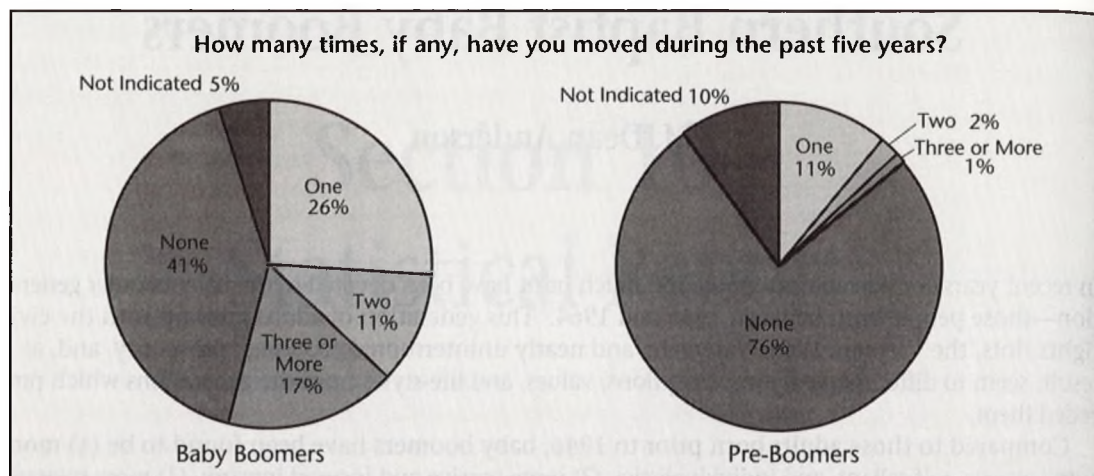

The 1990 Southern Baptist Constituency Study provides data from a representative sample of all Southern Baptist adult (ages 18 and over) church members, and offers an opportunity to compare Southern Baptist baby boomers with the generation that came before—those adults born prior to 1946.

The following sections summarize select Constituency Study data comparing baby boomers with that previous generation.

Demographics

Southern Baptist baby boomers tend to have significantly more formal education and household income than adults of the previous generation. They are also the generation in the child-rearing years, and two-thirds have children in their households. Baby boomers also tend to move more often, so it is more difficult to develop a church home and grow into leadership roles.

Religious/Church Life

Baby boomers do not seem to be drawn to any particular size of church any more so than other adults. The data does indicate, however, that baby boomers tend to live farther from their churches than adults of the previous generation. This finding may suggest that baby boomers are willing to look harder to find churches that meet their particular needs and are willing to drive farther to be a part of them.

What kinds of churches do meet their particular needs? Study participants were asked to indicate why they joined the particular church to which they belong, and the data reveals some significant differences between baby boomers and the previous generation.

Please indicate why you joined the particular church to which you belong:
(Check all that apply.)

	Baby Boomers	Pre-Boomers
Location	43%	52%
Denominational affiliation	49	69
Liked pastor/staff	53	40
Friends/family were members	64	52
Educational programs	14	14
Friendliness of congregation	47	46
Style of worship	41	39
Other	11	7

Of the answers you selected, which was the single most important factor in your decision to join the church to which you belong?

	Baby Boomers	Pre-Boomers

Friends/family were members	35	22
Educational programs	3	2
Friendliness of congregation	11	7
Style of worship	11	9
Other	8	7
	100%	100%

The location of the church and its denominational affiliation tend to be less important to baby boomers. For denominational affiliation—the fact that the church was Southern Baptist—there is a particularly significant drop in importance for the boomer generation. The factors that were more important to baby boomers were “liked the pastor/staff,” and “friends/family were members.” For style of worship, friendliness of the congregation, and educational programs, there does not appear to be significant difference in importance to the boomer generation and older adults.

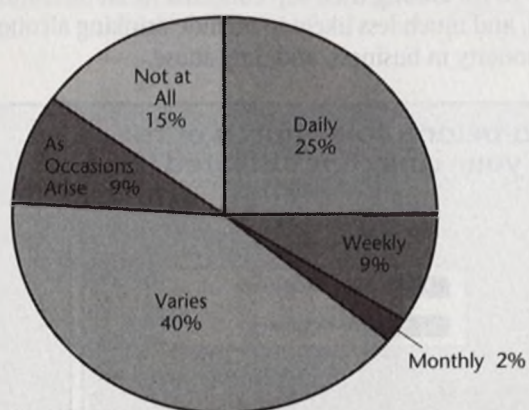

One survey question asked respondents to “Think about your involvement in your church. Compared to a year ago, are you currently more involved, involved about the same, or less involved?” Response to this question on the whole suggested a trend toward less church involvement for all Southern Baptist adults. That trend is somewhat accelerated for the boomer generation; they were more likely than the others to indicate that they were becoming less involved with their church.

The response to virtually every other question related to church and religious activities confirm that baby boomers tend to be less involved than older adults. Boomers are less likely to engage in witnessing activities, less likely to have a private worship time, and less likely to attend Sunday School or worship at least weekly:

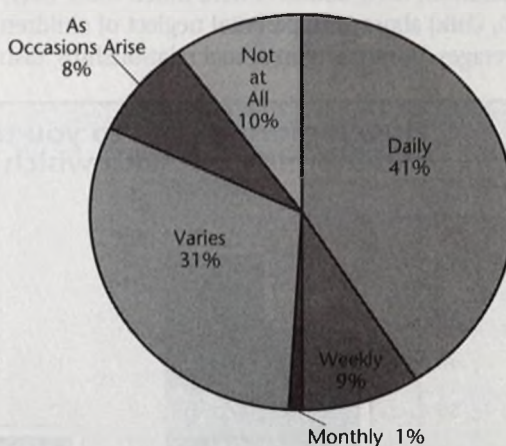

Which, if any, of the following “witnessing” experiences have you personally engaged in during the past year? (Check all that apply.)

	Baby Boomers	Pre-Boomers
Brought unsaved person to Sunday School or church service	18%	17%
Shared written materials with an unsaved person	19	27
Talked with an unsaved person about becoming a Christian	29	29
Cultivated friendship of unsaved person with aim of helping find Christ	25	33
Led a person to make a commitment to Christ	9	8

Baby Boomers

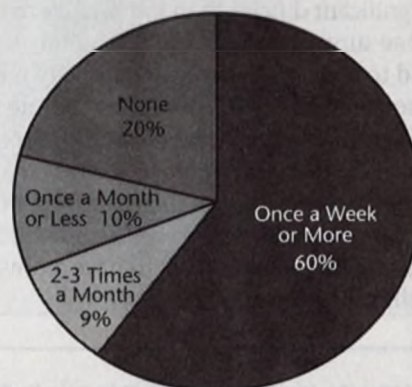

Pre-Boomers

An earlier question indicated that denominational affiliation seemed to be less important to baby boomers in choosing a church. The survey included several questions related to denominational and congregational loyalty, and in every case the boomer generation tended to rate lower than the previous generation in terms of loyalty. In the following example, 50 percent of the baby boomers said it was either very important or extremely important to them to belong to a Southern Baptist church, compared to 66 percent of the previous generation who said the same.

Social and Moral Issues

The kinds of social and moral issues baby boomers list as their top concerns differ considerably from those of the previous generation. Study participants were given a list of 24 moral issues and economic problems and asked to indicate the five which concerned them the most. Compared to the previous generation, baby boomers were much more likely to list among their top concerns racial discrimination, child abuse, and parental neglect of children, and much less likely to include drinking alcoholic beverages, immorality in sexual relationships, dishonesty in business, and drug abuse.

How important is it to you to belong to a church of the denomination with which your church is affiliated?

Conclusion

Overall, Constituency Study findings confirm that Southern Baptist baby boomers are significantly different from the generation that came before, and they confirm that Southern Baptist boomers have several of the characteristics of baby boomers in general: more individualistic, more passive, and distrustful of institutions, among others.

Determining the causes of these differences and their full implications is a difficult matter. Are baby boomers less likely to be involved in church activities because of cultural/generational differences, or simply because they are in the child-rearing and career-building years and have less free time? Further, as baby boomers grow older, will they retain their current characteristics, or assume the characteristics of the present "older generation"? If the former is the case, their denominational loyalty will remain relatively low in their senior adult years; if the latter is true, that loyalty will increase as they grow older. The ultimate answers to these questions will have profound implications for Southern Baptist life and ministry in the future.

For the present, however, Southern Baptists should recognize the differences that make the baby-boomer generation unique, and prayerfully consider creative ways to share the gospel.

Baptist Convention of New England—The Baptist Convention of New England includes the following states: Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and

Vermont. The state convention offices are located in Northboro, Massachusetts. (See "Directory of State Conventions" on page 127.)

Church-Type Missions—Church-type missions provide a ministry to people through worship services. Likely, the mission's ministry also will be carried out through one or more organizations (such as Sunday School, Discipleship Training, WMU, Brotherhood, etc.) patterned after those in established churches. The activities of a church-type mission may be held in homes, schools, mission buildings, or commercial buildings which can be owned by the mission's sponsor or rented.

Constituency—Constituency consists of the people involved in or served by an organization. SBC constituency is, therefore, all Southern Baptist church members.

Demographics—Demographics are the statistical characteristics of populations such as age and income.

Mega Areas (Megas)—Mega areas are the 44 metropolitan areas that now have or are expected to have a million or more by A.D. 2000.

Membership Decline—Membership decline is based on membership losses of over 10 percent during a five-year period.

Membership Plateau—Membership plateau is based on a membership change of plus or minus 10 percent during a five-year period.

Metropolitan Areas—A metropolitan area is composed of a county or counties that include a city that, along with its surrounding densely settled territory, has at least 50,000 in population. Nonmetropolitan areas are all counties that are not defined as metropolitan.

Nonreporting Churches—Nonreporting churches are those that are still affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention but which have not submitted a Uniform Church Letter in three or more years.

Northwest Baptist Convention—The Northwest Baptist Convention includes the states of Oregon and Washington. The state convention offices are located in Portland, Oregon. (See "Directory of State Conventions" on page 128.)

Other Additions—Other additions refer to the number of persons who joined Southern Baptist churches by ways other than baptism (that is, letter of transfer, statement of faith) during the current associational year.

Other-Type Missions—Other-type missions are all other types of local missions (such as preaching stations, mission Sunday Schools, extension Bible classes, home fellowship groups, jail ministries, and resort ministries).

Resident Members—Resident members are those persons who live close enough to their church to attend.

Total Gifts—Total gifts include undesignated gifts and designated gifts (money given by members and visitors for which the giver specifies where the money goes—for example, a building fund or special missions offerings).

Total Members—Total members include resident and nonresident members (those who do not live close enough to attend but are still members of the church).

Total Mission Expenditures—Total mission expenditures include the money given by a church and its missions directly to the following causes:

1. church-type missions
2. other-type missions such as preaching points

3. Cooperative Program

4. associational missions program

5. state missions

6. home missions (includes Annie Armstrong Easter Offering and other designated gifts to home missions)

7. foreign missions (includes Lottie Moon Christmas Offering and other designated gifts to foreign missions)

8. Southern Baptist Christian education (colleges, seminaries, etc.)

9. Southern Baptist children's homes

10. Southern Baptist hospitals

11. Southern Baptist homes for the aged

12. all other money to missions given through state conventions, SBC, or any other place where the church wants money to go

Total Receipts—Total receipts consist of total gifts plus money received by the church from other sources such as rentals, day-care program fees, income from savings, pastoral aid, parking fees, etc.

Undesignated Gifts—Undesignated gifts include the total amount of money given by members and visitors and includes money received in envelopes or the collection plate. The church uses its budget to determine how to spend this money.
