Graham Room Dedicated At Southern

Southern Seminary's Billy Graham Room, the home of past and future materials of the famous evangelist, was dedicated during the May graduation exercises when 190 degrees were presented by the Seminary's three schools.

Dr. Graham was present to take part in the dedication services of the room named in his honor in the James P. Boyce Centennial Library. Dr. Graham also delivered the baccalaureate sermon after the dedication in the Alumni Memorial Chapel with a standing-room-only crowd of more than 1600 people.

The room was made possible by the gift of $50,000 by the J. Boone Aiken Foundation of Florence, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Aiken attended the dedication ceremonies and Mr. Aiken made the formal presentation of the check.

In making the presentation of his materials to Southern Seminary, Dr. Graham said it was being made for three reasons.

1. "To glorify God, not a man or a team.
2. "To provide research material for students to study the assets and liabilities of mass evangelism.
3. "For inspiration and challenge in the field of mass evangelism to students of generations to come."

Dr. Graham presented the Seminary a well-worn Bible which he said was given to him by his mother, May, 1936, upon his graduation from high school. It is on display along with hundreds of other items used by Dr. Graham and his team in crusades over the world.

Dr. Duke K. McCall, President of Southern Seminary, made the acceptance speech for the Seminary. He expressed the school's appreciation to the Aiken Foundation for the $50,000 gift.

"This gift continues the South Carolina rootage of so much that is good in the life of Southern Seminary. It is significant that the layman's interest in mass evangelism should be symbolized for all future generations by this gift," said Dr. McCall.

In expressing the gratitude of the Seminary to Dr. Graham, Dr. McCall said,

"We rejoice that Billy Graham has such a sense of history as to accede to our urgent request that he collect the records and materials of his ministry and preserve them for the future in one place.

"Needless to say, we are happy that the place chosen by him is the Library of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary."

Colleges List Speakers

Tennessee Baptist schools have announced their commencement speakers. Carson-Newman of Jefferson City with 217 graduates, May 27, will hear Dr. Herbert C. Gabhart and Dr. J. Winston Pearce. Gabhart, president of Belmont College, will give the baccalaureate address at 10 a.m. Pearce, pastor of First Church, Deland, Fla., is the commencement speaker at 7:30 p.m. Both programs will be in the new Carson-Newman Field House.

Union University, Jackson, will confer degrees on 118 at its 135th commencement, May 30.

Belmont College, Nashville, has scheduled Dr. Robert G. Lee, former pastor of Bellevue Church, Memphis, for the baccalaureate address in the school auditorium at 11 a.m., June 5. Dr. George K. Schweitzer, nuclear research scientist from the University of Tennessee, will deliver the commencement address at 10 a.m., June 10. Belmont has 56 graduates.

Union University Confers Honors

Union University, Jackson, honors two outstanding Baptist leaders at its 135th Commencement, May 30, when 118 candidates receive their respective degrees. Dr. W. Fred Kendall, Executive Secretary of the Tennessee Baptist Convention, will be given the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and Dr. Lawrence T. Lowery, who completes 35 years as president of Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain, Mississippi, will be awarded the degree of Doctor of Humanities.

A native of Kentucky, Dr. Kendall received the B.A. degree from William Jewell College, Liberty, Missouri, and the Ph.D. degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville. After being student pastor in Missouri, Kentucky, and Tennessee, he became pastor of one of Kentucky's oldest Baptist churches, the Severn's Valley Church, Elizabethtown. He served First Church, Jackson, Tennessee, for eleven years before election to his present position.

Dr. Kendall's activities have been numerous in both denominational and related work. He was a member of the Executive Board of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists and of its Executive Committee; Assistant Moderator of the General Association; member of the Board of Managers of the Western Recorder; also on the Baptist Education Commission; as a Trustee of Georgetown College and on other agencies.

In Tennessee Dr. Kendall has served as President of the State Convention; Moderator of Madison-Chester Association; as member of the State Executive Board; of its Administrative Committee; of its Education Commission; and of its Foundation.

Dr. Kendall's Southwide denominational activities include membership in the Southern Baptist Convention's Theological Education Commission for establishing new seminaries; membership on the Baptist Sunday School Board for six years; the Foreign Mission Board, four years; the Committee on Committees, three years; on the Southern Baptist Foundation; and on the Historical Commission.

Mrs. Kendall is the former Edyth Allen of Kansas City, Missouri. Both sons, W. Fred Junior and John Allen Kendall graduated from Union University. Fred Junior is pastor of First Church of Bolivar. John Allen is attending University of Tennessee Medical College to become a medical missionary.

Dr. Lowery's interests have been many, both educationally and denominationally; president of the Misissippi State Baptist Convention; Trustee of the Baptist Memorial Hospital, Memphis, for fifteen years, five years as president; he was president of the Mississippi Foundation of Independent Colleges for four years, and member of the Board of Trustees, Southeast Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N. C. He was a member and president for one year of the Southern Association of Colleges for Women.

During World War I, Dr. Lowery served as an officer in the United State Army. For one year he was District Governor of Rotary International. He holds honorary degrees from Baylor University and Mississippi College, and is a member of various honorary scholastic fraternities. He is also an author.

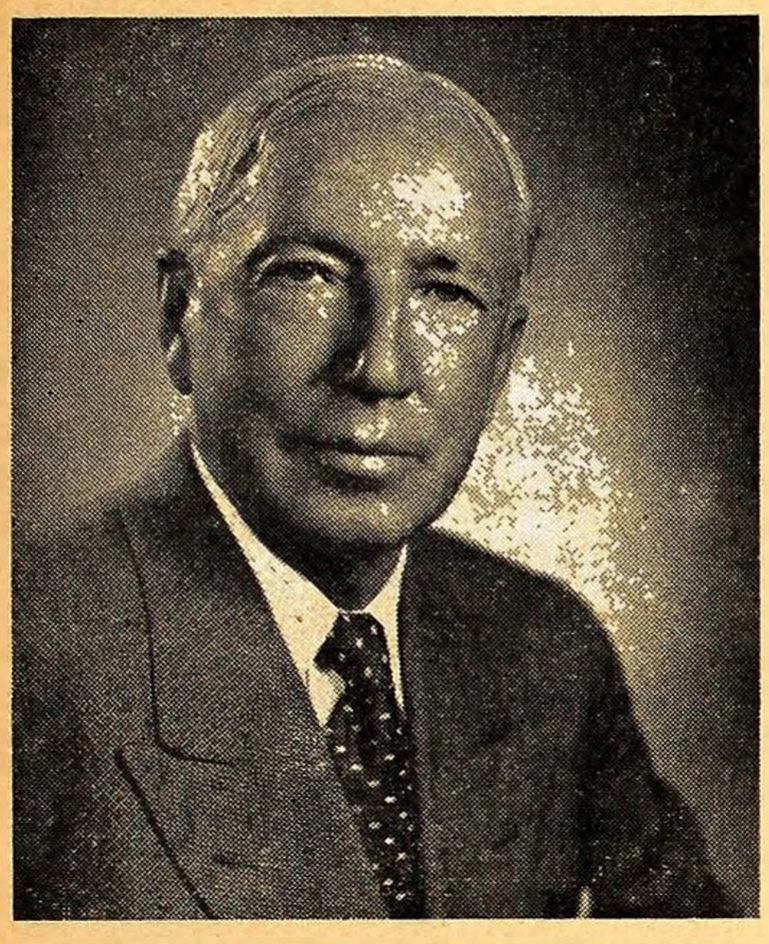
Reece To Appear On Brotherhood Convention Program



Brazilla Carroll Reece, Congressman from First District, Tennessee, will appear on the Brotherhood Convention program at Camp Carson, June 3-5.

Congressman Reece attended Watauga Academy, Carson-Newman College, New York University, and University of London.

While he was at Carson-Newman, he was a member of the Intercollegiate Debating Teams and engaged in debates with the late Justice Rutledge, who attended college at that time in Maryville.

Reece was also President of the Student Body and President of the Columbian Literary Society.

In addition, Reece served as Director of the School of Business Administration at New York University and also instructed in Economics at that institution. He served with the American Expeditionary Forces October, 1917 to July, 1919 with the Forty-second and Twenty-sixth Divisions and commanded Third Battalion, One Hundred and Second Regiment, Infantry. He was decorated with Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal, Purple Heart, Croix de Guerre with palm, and cited for bravery by Marshal Pe'tain, Generals Pershing, Edwards, Hale, and Colonel Lewis.

Reece holds Doctor degrees from three colleges.

He was Chairman of the Republican National Committee, 1946-1948.

Congressman Reece has traveled in several foreign countries. When he was elected to the Sixty-seventh Congress, Reece was the youngest member of the body. He has served in Congress for thirty-two years.

Home Board Launches Literacy Program

ATLANTA, Ga.—(BP)—A pilot program to teach illiterates to read has been launched by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board for a six-state Southeastern mountain area.

The program will begin in June when Miss Ann Grove of Waco, Texas, begins direction of the work. The announcement was made by Wendell Belew of Atlanta, secretary of the Department of Associational Missions. His department will direct the work.

Miss Grove

Miss Grove will use the Frank Laubach methods. She is the first literacy specialist to be employed by Southern Baptists to work in the field. She will deal with local literacy councils, formed in communities and cities by civic and religious groups, and with Baptist associations and churches.

In the southern Appalachian Mountains of Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia, where the pilot program will operate, an average of more than 19 per cent of the population is illiterate, according to Unesco's publication "Word Illiteracy at Mid-Century."

"We feel that this is truly a program of missions. A Baptist church can be found in almost every community in the South, where the highest percentage of illiteracy is found," Belew said. "No other organization has contact with every community, therefore it is our responsibility to free these people from illiteracy."

Miss Grove has been with the Baylor Literacy Center in Waco for the past two years. She had studied literacy at Baylor University, and was recommended by Richard Cortright, Waco, director of the center.

A graduate of Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Grove has a Masters Degree from Peabody and New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisiana. She was employed by the Home Mission Board for two years as director of the Carver Baptist Center for Negroes in New Orleans before joining the literacy center in Texas.

Her headquarters will be at Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Ky., which will provide her room and board. The president of the school, D. M. Aldridge, is president of the Appalachian Literacy Council. Active interest on the part of the people was given by Belew as the reason for locating the pilot program in that area.

Five representatives from southern Appalachian states may study literacy at Carver School of Missions and Social Work, Louisville, Ky., this summer, according to Nathan C. Brooks, President of the institution. Cortright will teach a four-week course in teaching illiterates, and the school will pay one-half of the expenses of five representatives, said Brooks.

Arizona Convention Proposes Retirement Community

The Baptist General Convention of Arizona is proposing a retirement community planned for retiring Baptists where they can spend their golden years in lovely Tucson, Arizona. The healthy, Tucson climate, elevation of 2,540 feet above sea level, in dry sunny (357 average sunshine days per year) is an ideal retirement locale, especially for anyone with an asthmatic, arthritic or respiratory problem or just a plain healthy person. The community for 62 years or older youngsters, will provide single brick homes for as little as $70.00 per month and all within 15 minutes of downtown Tucson. The community will be completely self-contained and provide all facilities for comfortable, retired living.

Sorey Ordained To Ministry

Flonz E. Sorey was ordained to the ministry by Sharon Church, Fountain City, May 15. Assisting in the ordination were W. F. Hall, professor of Bible at Harrison-Chilhowee Academy, W. C. Wells of Knoxville, William Palmer of Lebanon, and Pastor W. Stuart Rule of the Sharon Church and deacons of Sharon and Fair Havens Churches. Brother Sorey, formerly employed at the atomic energy plant in South Carolina, is a student at Carson-Newman College and has been called to the pastorate of Fair Havens Church in Knox County.

High Emphasis On Missions And Evangelism

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The Southern Baptist Convention in annual session here last week held high its emphasis on missions and evangelism while at the same time waving a storm flag for those who would mix church and state.

The Cooperative Program budget of $20 million for next year will be better than $2 million more than that for this year which was a record.

Both sermons and reports urged Baptists to hold strong to their evangelism endeavor which in the last year resulted in 429,063 baptisms, also a record.

The warning of opposition to all who try and breach the wall separating church and state came from President Ramsey Pollard in his presidential address and also in strong resolutions from the resolutions committee. In the minds of the messengers was Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential candidacy but there was no mention of him by name. Instead, reference was to those who ally themselves with the Roman Catholic Church.

The messengers did not overlook the darkening world situation. Collapse of the summit conference in Paris preceded a telegram assuring President Eisenhower of "our continued prayers for him in these crisis days."

The conference failure also produced a resolution reiterating "the need for Christian patience in negotiating for peace." The convention in an almost unprecedented action suspended its rules at the first morning session to adopt by unanimous vote the peace resolution submitted by Brooks Hays of Arkansas, former SBC President.

"We resolve not to allow fear to suspend our reliance upon the processes of Christian diplomacy as practiced by those who acknowledge the Prince of Peace," it said.

The resolution concerning separation of church and state declared "a man's personal faith shall not be a test of his qualification for public office." However, it went on quickly to oppose "a public official when he is inescapably bound by the dogma and demands of his church," especially "when that church maintains a position in open conflict with our established and constituted American pattern of life as specifically related to religious liberty, separation of church and state, the freedom of conscience in matters related to marriage and the family, the perpetuation of free public schools and the prohibition against use of public monies for sectarian purposes."

Once again the convention had a messenger who was more anxious to attack an agency through the press than from the floor. J. M. McDonnel pastor of a church in Houston, Texas, circulated from the press a resolution to "direct and instruct" the Sunday School Board from using the uniform Sunday School lesson sequence which is produced under the National Council of churches. He did not submit the resolution to the convention as promised. His change of plans could have come from the board's aggressiveness in meeting the threat. James L. Sullivan, executive secretary, in his presentation on the second night pointed out that all the writers are Baptists employed directly by the board.

"Southern Baptists, with their own literature and program, have built the largest Sunday School enrolment of any denomination in North America," he said. The messengers applauded and it was obvious any attack was doomed to quick failure.

An effort also was made by Harvey T. Whaley, pastor of Beaumont, Texas, to get a resolution suggesting "inappropriateness and the inadvisability" of platform or press statements in "vague and generalized" terms reflecting on faculty members at Baptist colleges and seminaries. Instead, it asked for submission to the trustees of the institutions.

This was interpreted as a slap at President Pollard who in his presidential address

Convention

No Complacency

Miami Beach, Florida—Meeting here in their 103rd session Southern Baptists heard convention reports summarizing one of their greatest years. But it was no time for complacency as Dr. Ramsey Pollard, unanimously re-elected as President, soberly warned. Pollard, who is pastor of Memphis' Bellevue Baptist Church, reminded that though a record 429,000 baptisms were reported in the year just past, there were dangers threatening. "Let us not lose the spirit of conquest," he urged the 12,000 messengers gathered in this city's new Exposition Hall for the four days' session. "If we ever reach the place where we surrender to worldliness, God will have to raise up someone else to preach His gospel," Pollard warned.

Gathering in days politically tense as the Summit Conference failed, Southern Baptists gave much time to sober thought and prayer. They urged Christian patience in negotiation for peace. In our troubled world the President of the USA was assured of prayers as he faces the prickly issues of East-West cleavage. In one of the most heart-searching experiences many pastors have known, Billy Graham led more than 12,000 in a new commitment to the Lord's will. This was Southern Baptist Pastors' Conference final session just before the Convention itself opened.

A controversial proposal which would have moved the SBC Executive Committee from its present location in Nashville to Memphis never came to the Convention. It never got out of the pre-convention meeting of the Executive Committee where long debate shelved it till the Committee's September meeting.

The Executive Committee won Convention approval on 28 out of 29 recommendations. But one which would have prohibited any SBC executive or staff member from taking the initiative in recommendations as to filling places on the Boards (other than local members) triggered a lively debate. Dotson Nelson of S. C. felt this restriction would hamper responsible officials. E. S. James of Texas described it as "preventive, not corrective", precluding the perpetuation in office of one who might be a misfit. Porter Routh, Nashville, said the measure had been proposed so that every decision should be "constituency-centered, not staff-centered." Frank Tripp of Ala. and Louie D. Newton of Ga. shared in the discussion before the matter was deferred for a year by the Convention on a motion offered by G. Allen West of Nashville.

The 28 recommendations from the Executive Committee which were approved were largely second endorsements of changes in the constitution and implementation of action previously taken by the Convention.

A total of $20,013,500 was authorized by the Convention in allocations for 1961 in the operating budgets of the various agencies. This is an increase over the 1960 budget of $2,126,600.

For the first time messengers paid for a Book of Reports which had in past years been given them. But previously this cost had been cared for out of an offering taken at the Convention. A survey made of attendants at the Convention approved paying $1.00 for the Book of Reports and discontinuance of the collection.

Heartbeat . . . Heartbreak

Heartbeat and heartbreak! The world's heartbeat! Humanity's heartbreak! Agonizingly these pressed Southern Baptists in their session at Miami Beach.

Thump! Thump! Thump! The rhythmic beat of a human heart drummed the ears of 12,000 messengers in the Convention hall. Background of many different sounds of life it had been tape recorded in one of our hospitals. Sounds of joy and life. Sounds of sorrow and distress. A siren's wail as an ambulance approached. A surgeon's quiet commands in an operating room. A postoperative patient waking. Through it all drummed the heartbeat's thump! thump! thump! magnified over the loud speaker into a vast throbbing. Now it beat like the whole world's heart. It recorded life's struggle with death. The heartbeats became fainter, further apart . . . then the last throb faded away. Vividly, unforgettably the drama of life and death played itself out as Dr. T. Sloan Guy, Jr., of New Orleans recounted the ministry of Christian healing—one phase of Southern Baptists' efforts to meet vast and urgent need.

Thump! Thump! Thump! Southern Baptists seemed to be hearing in the events of the times and in God's Word a vast heart beating itself out. Are these the dying throbs of a doomed world? Is time almost out? Whether it is or not, the Christian call is inescapable to match heartbreak with heartbeats of compassion. The world is torn by recrimination. It is hurt by hate. Human leadership has scuttled earthly hopes. Hearts ache in sin's darkness. Souls grope on disaster's brink. The siren sounds. Crisis must be met.

Thump! Thump! Thump! Will our answer be too little, too late? Will we allow more heartbreaks? Southern Baptists heard of heartbreak in a new little country which had so recently gained political freedom. An opened door bid welcome to messengers of the cross, Dr. Baker J. Cauthen related. This new country needed much. But technicians and specialists were offered from behind the Iron Curtain. . . . Stones for bread! When they entered the atmosphere changed. The lone missionary couple who had so recently come could not get their visa renewed. Seeking to stay to give witness to Christ they took their case to the little country's defense minister. "He did everything but spit in our face," they sorrowfully told, as the door was shut against them. "Doors now open to the gospel may soon be closed if we delay," Cauthen warned with deep urgency. He pled for personal commitment, "Here am I, Lord, send me!" that in hundreds of lives an answer be given to the Summit Conference failure.

"I must serve with my life to the end of the earth" is how one outgoing missionary put it. Fifty-nine new appointees were on the platform before the Convention Thursday night. Dedicated, prepared young people they go to answer the world's heartbreak with the loving heart throb of Christ. But as a veteran of seven years' service said, "The overwhelming masses of people have almost pressed us to the wall of despair . . . we are 1,400 missionaries overwhelmed in millions." The millions are not vague statistics. They are faces, names, hungry minds, sin-sick souls. They are hearts that thump, thump, thump, begging for help. Missionaries seek to answer. Our hearts must also beat in compassion.

Southern Baptists at Miami didn't do any squabbling. The world's plight and our Lord's commands allowed no time for selfish differences. That thump! thump! thump! told the story of the life and death struggle in which we are all plunged. Soberly facing the truth we realize the conflict between love and unbelief is no battle in a distant, vague place. It is right here in our own heart. Home Mission night drove home the fact. Billy Graham stabbed our souls with the truth . . . we ourselves, reveling in our ease and comfort, priding ourselves on our privileges, must prepare to meet God.

A sense of urgency gripped the hearts of Southern Baptists at Miami Beach. Dismaying world developments dimmed earthly prospects. They demand an end to shallowness in our personal lives. They call for an end to "business as usual policies" in our churches. The slowing thump . . . thump . . . thump pleads for decisiveness of response, a new dedication to the redeeming love of God in Jesus Christ before it is too late—nothing less than this is worthy of any blood-bought soul in these heartbreak times.

said he had heard of an irregularity in one institution. "Any idea that any of us is making an attack on our seminaries is far-fetched and in error," Dr. Pollard said later in a press conference. The resolutions committee turned down the censoring resolution.

Attendance this year was far above the average with an auditorium official crediting the convention with bringing 20.000 people to the city. Attendance exceeded 14,000, the auditorium capacity. Thousands of others were barred by the limitation on messengers from a single church and others did not bother to fill out the messenger card. The previous high registration was 12,976 in Houston in 1953.

Two states—Kansas and Ohio—certified they had reached the requirement of 25,000 members in their churches and now are qualified for representation on all boards, committees and commissions. This will be done next year.

On the business side, the major action was formal creation of a stewardship commission. This formerly was under the executive committee with Merrill D. Moore as promotional secretary. He is slated for election as executive secretary of the commission.

The major floor scrap was delayed, at least until next year, when the executive committee deferred action on a proposal to move its administrative offices from Nashville to Memphis. The move was suggested as an effort to give it a separate identity from the Sunday School Board which overshadows it in personnel to the extent some confuse the committee with the board.

Election of officers, as expected, produced contests only for the vice presidents. Dr. Pollard received the customary second term as president by unanimous vote. James W. Merritt, Gainesville, was re-elected to his seventh term as senior secretary and Joe W. Burton was re-elected registration secretary. Porter Routh was given again the position of treasurer.

In the contests for vice president, W. O. Vaught of Little Rock defeated Dotson M. Nelson of Greenville, S. C., for first vice president. John L. Slaughter, Spartanburg, S. C., was elected second vice president in a run-off with Morris Fain, pastor of Miami Beach. Sterling L. Price of St. Louis and A. Leroy Parker of Greensboro, N. C., were eliminated on the first ballot.

New Appointees Bring Foreign Missionary Force To 1,434

Pictured here in front of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board headquarters in Richmond, Va., are the 26 missionaries appointed by the Board at its May meeting: (left to right, front row) William R. Hintze and Barbara Laughman Hintze, both of Tex., appointed for Ecuador; Sue Francis Lindwall, Ark., and Hubert N. (Ted) Lindwall (behind Mrs. Lindwall), Mo., for Guatemala; Nanette Davis Patten and John E. Patten, both of Ga., for Thailand; Anne Vinson Dudley, Tex., and Dwight N. Dudley, Fla., for Japan; Helen Holmes Ruchti, La., and W. S. Ruchti, Jr., Tex., for Italy; (second row) Howard L. Stevens and Norma Young Stevens, of Ga. (former Nashville, Tenn. residents) for Peru; Dorothy Wittjen Fanoni, Tex., and Roy H. Fanoni, Ohio, for Nigeria; Bettye Deen Stull, Ky., and F. David Stull, Peru, for Peru; Audrey Richmond Wood, La., and S. Kenneth Wood Penn., for Japan; (back row) Paul W. Stouffer, Penn., and Peggy Saturday Stouffer, Ga., for South Brazil; Gene E. Kingsley, Ala., and Beverly Geisendorff Kingsley, Tex., for Central Africa; Betty Burleson Coy and R. Frank Coy, Okla., for Chile; and Verna Zinn Savage and Teddy E. Savage, Okla., for Central Africa.

Former Nashville Residents To Serve In Peru

A few years ago Howard L. and Norma Stevens turned from a satisfying career in landscape architecture in Nashville to prepare for mission service. This preparation culminated in their appointment as missionaries to Peru by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in its May meeting in Richmond, Va.

Mr. Stevens, an ordained minister, is currently pastor of Talmo (Ga.) Baptist Church, a position he has held since February, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, both Georgians, graduated from the University of Georgia, he with the bachelor of landscape architecture degree and she with the bachelor of fine arts degree in landscape architecture and interior design.

After graduation they worked for a few months with a nursery firm in Georgia and then moved to Nashville to begin four years in landscape architecture with an ornamental nursery. "Here we found the lifework for which we had prepared," Mr. Stevens said.

Here they also found an active and happy association with Woodmont Baptist Church. "Our joy in our lifework and church work changed to discontent and a searching of our lives after our pastor Dr. Allen West returned from a trip to mission fields in South America," Mr. Stevens continued, "because we began to feel God's call to fuller service for him."

"After many conferences with our pastor and much prayer we surrendered our lives to God, feeling that we were willing to serve through the Foreign Mission Board if he led us that way."

A conference with a missionary on furlough from South America helped them see that God could use such talents as they possessed on the mission field, and they "burned our bridges in Nashville," as they expressed it, to enter New Orleans (La.) Baptist Theological Seminary.

While working on the bachelor of divinity and master of religious education degrees at the seminary, Mr. Stevens practiced landscape architecture privately and did layout design for an air-conditioning firm in New Orleans. He was also interim pastor of First Baptist Church, Ponite a la Hache, La., for more than a year. (Soon after entering the seminary he "heard and answered God's additional call to preach," he explained.)

Mrs. Stevens received the master of religious education degree from the seminary and took graduate study in arts and crafts and psychology. She was also secretary to a professor at New Orleans Seminary.

As pastor's wife in Talmo, Mrs. Stevens has held teaching and leadership positions in the church—in addition to caring for their daughters, Catherine Lynn, eight, and Karen Leigh, three and a half. She has also been director of the association-wide Girl's Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were among 26 missionaries appointed by the Board in its May meeting, bringing the total number of active Southern Baptist foreign missionaries to 1,434.

Semi-Annual Report Of Treasurer Tennessee Baptist Convention

This is the report of the contributions given by the churches during the first half of the Convention year 1959-1960. It includes all receipts in the Treasurer's office from November 1, 1959 through April 29, 1960. All funds mailed before November but which reach this office after that date are included here. All funds which were mailed before April 29 but which reached this office after that date are not included, but will be included in the next report. Church treasurers will please compare the amounts credited to their churches with their own records and if there are differences, report them to this office at once.

Below we give a table of comparison with last year's receipts for the same period showing gains or losses. These figures do not include the reported gifts from the Foreign Mission Board which were sent direct to that Board since they are no longer reporting direct gifts to this office.

We have had a larger gain for the first six months this year than we had during the same period last year. This year the gain in Cooperative Program is $143,465.93 and last year at this time it was $132,746.51. This six months has been a very fine period of advance in spite of the bad weather for two months.

TO HELP YOU HELP TEEN-AGERS

Teen-agers are full of questions concerning marriage. Here is a rare opportunity to have these questions answered in a clear, understandable way. Help give your teen-agers a good background for marriage by placing in their hands this series of Broadman booklets called, Looking Toward Marriage, and including:

MARRIAGE AND MONEY by Reuben Herring
WHAT IS LOVE? by Winnie R. Pearce
WHEN FAITH IS NOT SHARED
by Vernon B. Richardson
MATURITY FOR MARRIAGE by Payton Kolb
THERE THEY GO! WILL THEY BE HAPPY TOGETHER? by Claude U. Broach
RELIGION AND MARRIAGE by Joe W. Burton
LOOKING FOR SOMEONE? by Ray F. Koonce
MY FOLKS DON'T UNDERSTAND by Jack Watson
WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?
by Martha Boone Leavell

Each . . . . 15¢; Dozen . . $1.50

Extension Day — June 5

McGRAW

Giving special emphasis to the Extension work on a given Sunday is proving a blessing to many churches each year. June 5 is the suggested day this year. Mrs. Will S. McCraw, Superintendent of Extension Work at the Sunday School Board, gives five good steps to follow in preparation for and observances of Extension Day.

1. Ask the pastor to build his sermons around the Extension ministry. He may explain how those who cannot attend can belong to the Sunday School through the Extension department.

2. Start an Extension department on that day if you do not have one. Enlist your workers ahead of time and present them to the congregation in the church service. Write the Sunday School Department, 1812 Belmont Blvd., Nashville, about the free offer of Extension materials.

3. Strengthen your Extension department if you already have one, by enlisting more workers in advance of Extension Day. Then give them special recognition in the morning worship service. (Transportation for those unable to come by themselves will be helpful.)

4. Recognize the Extension members who are in attendance at the services that day. A flower may be given to each one. Have a favorite hymn sung and dedicated to them.

5. In the afternoon, have a church-wide Extension visitation. Send workers out to call on Extension members and Extension prospects whom you previously have located.

A Minister Of Education Speaks Concerning Extension Day In His Church Last Year.

HAYES

Mr. Marion Hayes, First Baptist Church, Nashville, said "Extension Day was one of the highlights of our education program last year. Extension department personnel, deacons, Sunday School general officers and church staff members had dinner together at the church after the Sunday morning worship service. An interesting explanation of Extension work was given. After dinner the Extension visitors and their guests went out two by two in visitation.

Two vital benefits were gained from the day's activities. First, the church leaders were given a better picture of the work of the Extension Department. Second, those visited were made to feel that the entire church was really interested in them. We believe in it; we're going to do it again."

An Associational Superintendent of Extension Work Speaks Concerning Extension Day In Her Association.

"Sixteen of the twenty-three churches in the Carroll-Benton Association observed Extension Day, June 7th. Because of this, Enon Church, which is the oldest church in West Tennessee, is starting an Extension Department. Mr. James Chandler, Sunday School Superintendent, gave this testimony: 'We visited in the afternoon four or five who would be eligible as members. They were so glad to see us, and appreciated our visit so much. Mrs. Ola Webb, Extension Superintedent of First Baptist Church, Bruceton, said: 'We had four Extension members in our morning service, and two others that night. They enjoyed it very much, one of them even called her children long distance to tell them about it!' "

Every church should plan for Extension Day. For the church that already has an Extension Department, Extension Day will magnify your efforts. For the church that has no organized work in the Extension work, Extension Day will be the best thing you can do to help your people see the need of ministering to those who cannot attend. If you need further information, please write your Sunday School Department.

500 Students Attend BSU Retreats

Harry Hollis, state BSU president, fills out his registration card with the help of Miss Patsy Ferguson, state BSU office secretary.

"Tell me about Nigeria" Linda Porter, student summer missionary to Nigeria asks Miss Aletha Fuller, missionary nurse, who spoke at Saturday evening services at both retreats, following the introduction of student summer missionaries.

Prayer dates, meditation, Bible study, are all an important part of retreat.

By Patsy Parker

About 500 students from 27 campuses attended the recent Baptist Student Union State Spring Retreats at Camp Linden and Camp Carson.

Eddie Williams, a student at University of Tennessee Medical School, Memphis, was elected state BSU president for 1960-61.

Others elected at the retreats were West McCall, Jr., student at Southwestern University, Memphis; West Tennessee member at large, Miss Sue Patterson, U T Martin Branch; Middle Tennessee representative, Miss Sylvia Webb, Baptist Hospital, Nashville; Middle Tennessee member at large, John Rutland, Vanderbilt; East Tennessee representative, Miss Shirley Matheny, Carson-Newman; and East Tennessee member at large, Joe Campbell, University of Chattanooga.

Chester Durham, state student secretary for Kentucky, helped students sight their objective at the opening session at Camp Linden April 22, by saying, "Students are our responsibility . . . Four or 8 years from now what you have done on your campuses will show up in the number that go out on the mission field, and in the number of pastors." He emphasized that evangelism and enlistment begin at the heart of the campus and go out to the ends of the earth.

Bill Jenkins, state student secretary for Virginia, spoke on "Sighting the Objective" at the opening session at Camp Carson, April 29. The Saturday morning sessions featured leadership clinics and question and answer periods.

Saturday morning's message, "On-Campus Evengelism—Motive and Method," was brought by Othar Smith, pastor of First Church, Lebanon, at Camp Linden; and at Camp Carson, by James Craine, pastor, First Church, Gallatin.

Speaking on "The Task Ahead" Saturday afternoon, both Dr. W. Fred Kendall and Dr. Kearnie Keegan, stressed the importance of the individual in winning the campuses of the state to Christ.

Miss Aletha Fuller, missionary nurse to Nigeria spoke Saturday night. Telling of her experiences on the field, and the needs around the world, she challenged the students to find their own place of service for the Lord.

"Defeat or Victory," the final message of the retreats was brought by Dr. Keegan at Camp Carson, and by Durham at Linden. Both said of victory depended upon the students themselves.

Every one takes a turn at KP. Here slaw is being prepared for Saturday night.

All meetings and no play would make a dull retreat.

Woman's Missionary Union

Last Call . . . . To Make Reservations for Ridgecrest YWA Conference, June 16-22

Only in eternity can we measure all the benefits of a week spent at Ridgecrest, YWA Conference. Here in the mountains young women speak to God and listen for His voice to speak to their hearts;—Many life decisions are made.

You will meet: YWA's from everywhere, missionaries, nationals, WMU leaders, SBC personalities, speakers.

You will enjoy: Meeting Christian friends, missionary messages, conferences on personal problems, sight seeing, recreation, inspiration, singing, fellowship.

Who should go? YWA's, directors, and counselors. This will be the only YWA Conference this year. Next year the Conference will be at Glorieta. There will be no state YWA house party or camps in 1960.

Two chartered buses will make the round trip to Ridgecrest from Tennessee. One will leave Nashville Trailways Bus Terminal at 11:00 p.m., June 15, and return 11:00 p.m., June 22. Roundtrip ticket $10.50. The second bus will leave Memphis Trailways Bus Terminal at 8:00 p.m., June 15, and go through Jackson to pick up passengers there. Return to Memphis June 23, 4:00 a.m. Round trip fare $22.00.

Each person going should send $2.50 room reservation fee (and bus reservation fee if you go on chartered bus—$9.00 from Nashville and vicinity or $11.00 from Memphis and Jackson) to:

Miss Frances Sullivant
Young Woman's Auxiliary Director
Tennessee Woman's Missionary Union
1812 Belmont Boulevard
Nashville, Tennessee

Make reservations by June 5. No cancelations after June 5.

Lodging and meals at Ridgecrest will be paid for at Ridgecrest (See BAPTIST & REFLECTOR, May 10 issue for rates). Remaining bus fare will be paid on boarding special bus.

GA Camps

GA Camps for the weeks of June 20-24 and June 27-July 1 at Camp Carson are filled. Other camps are filling fast.

Miss Corum Leaving Training Union Department

After six successful years as Director of Junior and Intermediate work in the Training Union Department, Miss Betty Jo Corum resigns. Miss Corum will begin her work on June 1 as editor of Intermediate Lesson Courses in the Training Union Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board.

Miss Corum is a native of Fountain City and holds the A.B. degree from Carson-Newman College and the M.R.E. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas.

Our prayers and interest will go with her as she begins her new work.

Brotherhood Department

Group To Demonstrate New Brotherhood Organization

A group from Clinton Association, one of the strongest associations in Brotherhood work, will put on a demonstration of the new church Brotherhood organization at the Brotherhood Convention at Camp Carson, June 3-5.

Brotherhood work, under the leadership of Rev. Raleigh Brady, associational missionary, and Paul Pratt, associational Brotherhood president is moving forward in a great way.

A Church Begins

A barefoot Sunday school teacher, lacking in training but knowing the Lord . . . An egg and two ears of corn among the small coins in the offering plate . . . An 80-year-old man walking 11 miles to profess faith in Christ and to attend services on Sunday.

These are glimpses of Jerusalem Baptist Church, organized recently in a community near Tukuyu, Tanganyika, East Africa, about 40 miles from Mbeya. Nested in three mountain ranges, the community is the home of a 250,000-member tribe, removed from modern civilization and predominantly pagan, but warm, friendly, and receptive to the gospel of Jesus Christ.

More than 100 people crowded into the unfinished, sun-dried brick church building on the Sunday Jerusalem Church was born. More than 30 of them, baptized Christians, signed the register as charter members.

The crowd then moved to a creek about a mile away where 25 new believers were baptized by the African pastor. They had been examined earlier by Missionaries William E. Lewis, Jr., and Dale G. Hooper concerning their salvation experiences, understanding of baptism, concept of Christian responsibility, and reasons for wanting to be Baptists.

The organization service was concluded back at the church building with the observance of the Lord's Supper.

Catholic Schools Seek Aid From Public Funds

WASHINGTON — (BP) — A Roman Catholic organization to secure public funds for parochial schools has been launched on a national scale. It is called Citizens for Educational Freedom.

The purpose of Citizens for Educational Freedom is to combat what the Roman Catholics consider "inequitable distribution" of public funds for educational purposes and to secure such funds for their schools.

The objectives of Citizens for Educational Freedom reportedly are to combat strong pressure groups that insist on public funds for public schools alone, to create a public opinion that will make it possible for parochial schools to secure public financial aid, to engage in legal action in the courts, and to secure legislative relief.

This growing organization is in part the Roman Catholic answer to numerous denominational and other non-denominational efforts to maintain religious liberty and separation of church and state in America.

Founded in St. Louis, Citizens for Educational Freedom already operates in 47 states and is currently in a campaign to increase its membership and to establish local chapters in cities throughout the nation.

In making its appeal to the nation Citizens for Educational Freedom has adopted the slogan, "A fair share for every child," and is appealing for non-Catholics to join in their cause. The effort will be made to have it appear as a citizens organization rather than a Catholic organization.

In order to eliminate the appearance of ecclesiastical control and in order for it to be a grass roots movement all the officers are lay people.

In a recent issue of Our Sunday Visitor, a national Catholic weekly, an article by Dale Francis, prominent Catholic writer, charged that the current education bill in Congress "will steal $100 million from the Catholics of the Nation." This charge is based on the section that provides $20 per school pupil for the states to help with their educational expenses.

The formula in the bill for determining the number of school children in a state includes a provision for counting all school children, including those in parochial schools. While it is true that this seems to be an improper manner in which to calculate the number of school children for which a state is to receive aid, it is not true, as the Roman Catholic article claims, that this money belongs to the Catholic school children and is being stolen from them and being given to the public schools.

Thus by a strange twist of reasoning the article says, "Catholics don't want the money of other people to support their schools, Catholics are not demanding that money be be taken from the pockets of Protestants and others who are not Catholics to support Catholic schools. We don't want their money. We want our money."

Paying lip service to the contribution of public schools to the nation, the article then explains the parochial school system. "Because we believe that education that teaches of creation while ignoring the creator is incomplete, we have constructed a parochial school system that is equal in scholastic attainment and service to the nation's public school system."

Three man arguments are being used by the Roman Catholics in their campaign for public support for their religious parochial schools:

1. The service rendered to the nation by these schools should be paid for by the nation, the Catholics contend. They raise the question as to what the public schools would do if they closed all their parochial schools and turned their children into the public schools. They are seeking to establish the thesis that Catholic education is in fact public education.

2. The responsibility, they continue, for the education of the children is upon the parents, and is not a primary responsibility of the state. Therefore, public aid is not aid to a church or to a religious school, but is aid to the child and to his parents for their educational expenses.

3. It is not fair, the Catholics assert, to suffer double taxation, to be forced to pay taxes for the public schools and then to have to pay for their own parochial schools. They seem to forget that their schools are of their own choosing and that the public schools are open to all.

These are the lines of reasoning, no doubt, that Citizens for Educational Freedom will follow and will seek to sell to the American people.

*Mr. Garrett is Washington Regional Editor of the Baptist Press.

A. Roy Greene To Appear On Brotherhood Convention Program

A. Roy Greene, owner and manager of the Double-Cola Bottling Works in Nashville, will appear on the Brotherhood Convention program at Camp Carson, June 3-5.

Roy Greene has been one of the most active laymen in the state having served as President of the Brotherhood Convention five years, served as President of the Tennessee Baptist Convention, and also as Tennessee's representative on the Brotherhood Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention for ten years (1946-1956). In 1956, Greene served as Chairman of this body.

Greene was the first adult Sunday School teacher at Woodmont Baptist Church, first Chairman of the Deacon body, first Brotherhood President. For seven months, he served as interim pastor of Shelby Avenue Baptist Church, Nashville.

Helping to build a strong Brotherhood work, he traveled countless miles across the state with the late Honorable E. K. Wiley, first Brotherhood Secretary of Tennessee.

He also represented the Layman of the State in the Financial Drive for the Baptist hospital and for Tennessee Baptist Schools.

In 1920, A. Roy Greene married Jessie Nolen in Clarksville. The Lord has blessed them with five wonderful sons and a lovely daughter—Roy, Jr., Nashville, Double-Cola Bottling Works; O'Brien, Greeneville, South Carolina, Corn Products Company; Charles, San Antonio, Texas, Ford Center—Rental Car Business; Robert N., Nashville, Double Cola Bottling Works; Joe, Mobile, Alabama, Business Manager of Mobile General Hospital, and daughter Mrs. Robert (Dot) Parrish of Nashville.

Walnut Hill Church, Harriman, is now constructing an auditorium to seat 837. The church has sold $125,000 of bonds. During the past two years the church has increased its gifts from $14,000 to $31,500. Claude B. Kelley became pastor in 1957. The church during construction is holding services in the Walnut Hill Grammar School.

Joe B. Goode, pastor of First Church, Mt. Pleasant, was the evangelist at Tusculum Hills, Church, Nashville, May 1-8. There were 26 additions, 11 by letter and 15 professions of faith by baptism. Nine others professed faith but were not baptized. Two came for special missionary work. Dr. Don McCoy is pastor of the church.

J. Allen Mayes, 72-year-old retired Sevierville farmer and furniture dealer, died May 16 at his home. He had been a resident of Sevierville for 30 years, having moved from the Greenbrier section of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park when the park was developed. Mr. Mayes was a member of First Church and had served as a deacon for 44 years.

David W. Tilford, 88, of Norfolk, Va., died May 14. He was a resident of Chattanooga until 10 years ago when he went to reside with his sister, Mrs. Dora Harrison of Norfolk. He was also the brother of Miss Lorene Tilford, Taischung, Formosa.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR MAY 29, 1960

By Oscar Lee Rives

Rich Toward God

TEXTS: Matthew 6:19-34; Luke 12:13-34 (Larger)—Matthew 6:19-21, 24-34 (Printed).

What is there about one's life that matters most? The way that person answers the question will shape his manner of life, of this we may be sure. To a small child, and usually for a very short time, it may be a favorite toy. To an uncivilized savage, it could be a string of beads or a gaudy piece of cloth. To many intelligent but unthinking adults in our own land, it is frequently the accumulation of wealth merely for its own sake or the popular acclaim of some group which is noted for its fickleness. But for the Kingdom Man, the question is answered in at least three statements found in the printed text of our lesson. What are they?

"Treasures In Heaven" (vv. 19-21)

First, such treasures do not deteriorate and thus lose their value. Some of the treasures of the earth, in Jesus' stay on the earth, were in garments that could be consumed by moths. Others were in metals that could be tarnished and even destroyed by moisture. But the "heavenly treasures" are not like these. Since they are of heaven, and not of the earth, their permanence can be changed by only heaven itself. The items of the spirit, created and maintained for us by the Holy Spirit, are as lasting as God.

Second, these treasures cannot be taken from us. Thieves in those days, and in that part of the world, often dug or broke through the walls of the owner's house and stole his treasure. Today we place our gold in thick vaults and throw guards around them, hoping that it is safe; but who knows? Ft. Knox would likely be a prime target in the event of all-out war. In other words, safety for material wealth is in the final analysis a relative matter; while spiritual well-being is absolute in terms of safety as well as permanence.

Third, the kind of treasure one possesses determines even the treasurer. It is a principle of human living that the make-up of that which occupies priority in a person's endeavor sets the pattern, even to the point of changing the character, of his being. This is clearly suggested in verse twenty-one: hearts and treasures go together, in the end.

"Take No Thought" (vv. 24-31)

"Be not over-anxious", is Weymouth's translation. First, such over-anxiety is sure to bring a division of one's loyalty. In a previous part of this Sermon on the Mount, Jesus had urged for His followers a "single-hearted devotion". Now He solemnly says, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon".

Second, to be over-anxious over the things that sustain life is to neglect even the importance of life itself. And of this, the medical profession can easily testify. All too many persons become incapacitated largely because they allow themselves to worry and fret over matters that are either of small consequence or that are beyond human control.

Third, undue anxiety upon the part of human beings is to occupy a level beneath that of the birds and the lilies. The birds work and gather with industry but waste no time worrying about the future. Their trust in the Provider is regarded as instinctive. That of the Kingdom Man is to be trustful by faith.

"First The Kingdom" (vv. 32-34)

First, the King of the Kingdom knows and cares. To question this is to belittle both His knowledge and His love. Commensurate with this is His power. This is why, no doubt, that John Wesley observed that it was a sin to worry. The unsaved person may fear and doubt, but not so for the Christian.

Second, the way to be sure of life's necessities (not necessarily its luxuries) is to place the Kingdom first. And the Kingdom, it must be recalled, is the doing of God's will on earth just as it is done in heaven. To do His will is to be on His side, with His attitudes, so that materials are provided.

Third, when the Kingdom is first in the life and plan of the Kingdom Man each day becomes an integral part of a master plan or the Master's Plan. Jesus teaches us to live a day at a time, each minute filled with His purposeful will.

Changes Considered By Kentucky Baptists

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(BP)—The Executive Board of Kentucky Baptists on May 10 approved the final report of its Survey Committee in preparation for recommendations to the General Association in November. Part of the report includes a rewritten constitution and by-laws which recommends changing the name of the state group from General Association of Baptists in Kentucky to the Kentucky Baptist Convention. Names of the officers will also be changed if the 1960 Association gives approval to the recommendations. The present moderator will become the president and the assistant moderators will be called vice-presidents.

The Survey Committee, in recommending the name changes, pointed out that most other Southern Baptist Convention states already use the terminology recommended. The new constitution also would prevent the convention president from succeeding himself. The president's term would be one year. Presently the moderator is eligible for two successive one-year terms. Other sections of the survey report provided job descriptions for the secretary of evangelism and the business manager of the Executive Board and called for changes in the manner of operation of the Western Recorder, the state paper.

The present plan of operation of the paper by a Board of Directors elected by the General Association will be continued if the recommendations are accepted. The Board will be increased, however, from nine to twelve members with each geographical section of the state represented.

The manner of electing the editor will be changed in order to give the Executive Board voice in the choice of an editor. The editor would be elected by nomination of the paper's Board of Directors subject to the approval of the Executive Board. Presently the editor is elected by the Board of Directors alone.

Another change calls for the budget and financial reports of the paper to be presented to the Executive Board annually for review. The present plan of financial operation only calls for annual financial reports to the General Association.

Executive Secretary W. C. Boone reported that Cooperative Program receipts for the first half year were $30,000 ahead of last year at the same time, but $70,000 short of the budget goal. He announced the denominational Loyalty Day for June 27 when Kentucky Baptist churches will be asked for special supplementary offering for the Cooperative Program.

God's Wondorous World Wildernes Wisdom*

By Thelma C. Carter

When we shop in supermarkets for corn, beans, and squash, we may forget that the Indian people first taught us to eat and cultivate these foods. If it had not been for the Indians' way of life, our pioneer forefathers might not have survived the wilderness country, the wild animals, the cold winters, and the scarcity of food.

"The good deed of the morning is forgotten in the afternoon," a wise man once said. We owe a great deal to our Indian friends.

Think of making rope and coarse cloth from fibers of mulberry trees! Think of drying the roots of the cattail plant and making a flour for bread and puddings! The Indians were wise in using whatever plant life God had provided in the natural world.

Every day we should be more grateful for the abundant blessings of God. "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits" (Psalm 103:2).

It didn't take the pioneers long to realize that Indian shelters such as tepees and wigwams, along with sod houses, were wisely planned. They saw that the ax, with its chipped-stone cutting end, was an important tool for chopping firewood. Many early fireplaces were much like the open fires the Indians used for cooking and for warmth.

Above all, early pioneers learned to garden like the Indians. They learned to plant corn, beans, and squash in hills. They learned to cultivate, harvest, and husk corn, to dry and store it for future use. Green corn roasting ears were first an Indian recipe.

The Lighthouse of the Mediterranean*

By Dana Stanton

Ancient navigators made use of many of God's wonders to guide their travels across the seas. A strange light in the Mediterranean Sea was thought of as a warning and a directing light. It served as a lighthouse.

The guiding light was caused by a volcano and the gasses and steam rising above it. The steam was visible at night because it reflected the incandescent or white, glowing light from the boiling lava within the volcano. It appeared as a shining cloud in the sky.

Stromboli is the name of the volcano. It is located north of the island of Sicily, which is near the toe of the boot that is formed by the Italian peninsula.

When sailors from Italy approached God's natural lighthouse, they rejoiced, knowing that their homeland was not far beyond. We can well imagine the thanks they gave when they observed the glorious and friendly sight.

Today the Stromboli Volcano is one of about four hundred and fifty active volcanoes. It erupts every ten or fifteen minutes, hurling small masses of lava into the air.

Lava is molten or liquid rock. The lava is thrown up by great pressures within the earth. Lava from an active volcano is very hot. The temperature ranges between six hundred and twelve hundred degrees on the centigrade scale.

The exact reason for the intense heat of the earth is not known. But the extreme pressure of its own weight, the radioactive material in the rocks, and the heat from the sun must all be considered. Holes have been drilled far into the earth and the temperature measured at different levels. It has been found that for every sixty feet in depth, the temperature rises from one degrees Fahrenheit. This indicates the high temperature of the earth's center.

Stromboli, the volcano which has been the lighthouse of the Mediterranean, is but one of the guiding lights God has given us. There are the millions of stars, the sun, the moon, and the northern lights. Each of these serves as a guide to men who travel whether on land or sea.

Two Names In One*

By Lois Snelling

Within each of these Bible names is the shorter name of another Bible character. Can you find them according to the descriptions given?

1. In Abraham find Noah's son.
2. In Daniel find Jacob's son.
3. In Elijah find a high priest.
4. In Hiram find an officer in David's kingdom.
5. In Jonathan find a prophet.
6. In Hannah find a prophetess.
7. In Abner find Saul's grandfather.
8. In Asaph find a king of Israel.
9. In Manoah find the builder of the ark.

Laughs

I wonder if the time will come,
(It could, and that is plain)
When folks will point me out and say,
"She once rode on a train!"

The gag is around about the old fellow who took a Civil Service exam in an effort to get a job as a rural mail carrier. "How far is it from the earth to the sun?" was one of the questions. He looked at it briefly and threw up his hands: "If you are gonna put me on that route, I resign before I begin!"

Life today is like a round of golf; as soon as we get out of one hole, we head for another.

Cousin Ellie, who doesn't follow the news too closely, is horrified that her youngest great-grandson is practicing to be an astronaut. "There has never," she says indignantly, "been any circus folks in the family."

"A father," as defined by George Hall, "is an ambitious man who diligently works his son's way through college."

Old Timer: My father was a great Western politician in his day.

Friend: Yes? What did he run for?

Old Timer: The border.

Boss: I'm surprised at you! Do you know what they do with boys who tell lies?

Office Boy: Yes, sir. When they get old enough the firm sends them out as salesmen.

Maid: Madam, master is lying unconscious in the hall with a piece of paper in his hand and a large box by his side.

Mrs. Green (joyously): Oh, my new hat has arrived.

"I'm not rich, and I don't have a boat or a convertible like Harry; but I love you, dear."

"I love you too, but tell me more about Harry."

An eight-year-old had just returned from the dentist with four new fillings. He looked up at his parents and said, "You can't spank me now or my fillings will fall out."

Russian Embassy Returns Most Of Moscow Church Film

FORT WORTH—(BP)—Nearly four-fifths of a film showing worship services in the Moscow Baptist Church has been ordained from the Russian Embassy in Washington, D. C.

After five months of negotiations, 8,000 of the 10,000 feet of films that were shot have been obtained through the influence of the Baptist World Alliance in Washington, D. C.

The films were made cooperatively by the Southern Baptist Convention's Radio-TV Commisison here and the National Broadcasting Company.

Paul M. Stevens, director of the Radio-TV Commission, said that he hoped that the 30-minute NBC nation-wide television program would show the film as early as June to coincide with President Eisenhower's proposed trip to Russia.

Stevens and four NBC employees went to Moscow last fall to film a worship service in the church there for the NBC program.

Stevens highly praised the Russian Baptists, describing them as "Radiant Christians of a type seldom seen in our country. I hope this television film," he said, "will be able to convey the loyalty and devotion of these people to Christ."

Thus Saith the Preacher—

Stop This Whining About The Poor Parson!

Dear Editor:

Alright, so I got a beef on! I'm getting plain tired of all these articles about preacher's breaking down from overwork and all that sort of stuff. The latest one comes from The Baptist Program, with several reasons why the break.

For example, ". . . the length of the average pastorate in the U. S. is just a little more than 2½ years." So the poor, uprooted pastor finds adjustment troubles. Well, take a look at our military people. Three years is a maximum assignment, and many places they can't take wife and the young 'uns. One oil field family I know had moved so often they had been members of 57 different Baptist churches. And the Methodist pastors have been going to Conference for generations not knowing which church they'd pastor after conference was over.

You see, being transferred isn't limited to the pastorate. Last summer on July 13 I sat at dinner with a man who was the Consul-General of the United States in Jerusalem. Two weeks later he came to the United States for vacation. Two weeks after that he was assigned to Honduras. He hadn't even packed his things in Jerusalem. In a letter he said, "That's the Foreign Service. I suppose they thought I was more needed in Honduras than in Jerusalem."

Another problem was the multiplicity of the new demands on the preacher. Bosh! Of course a modern pastor is busier than his predecessor of even ten years ago. But the preacher isn't alone. Take a look at the medical doctor, for example. New medicines come from research labs faster than the doctor can read the information which describes them. The engineer is bothered about the complexities of automaton. Professional men in all walks of life must swim without sinking in the constantly swifter currents of the present world.

One writer reminds us that the old time master pulpiteers had to write their sermons in longhand without benefit of secretaries or dictaphones to clutter up their otherwise simple ways. You don't hear many complaints about preferring goose quill pens to a new electric portable, do you?

We just live in a new day, and the preacher doesn't have any more pressures on him than most other people. We preachers had just better learn to live within new circumstances.

Busily yours.
