Boyd LeCroy hold the plaque awarded here to Western District Association for leading all associations in Tennessee with the highest percentage (15.6) of total gifts through the Cooperative Program in 1960. At right is Rev. W. H. Pitt, Secretary of Stewardship Department, Nashville, who made the award for the Tennessee Baptist Convention. Farmer, pastor at Puryear, is moderator and LeCroy is missionary in the association. The award, on a yearly basis will carry the names of associations so recognized. President Pays Tribute To Religious Liberty

WASHINGTON—(BP)—President Kennedy paid tribute to religious liberty and to the principle of religious conviction, two ideas upon which this nation was founded.

On the same platform Billy Graham, world-renowned Southern Baptist evangelist, declared that he sensed a new spirit in the world and that God has given the United States a new chance under the leadership of President Kennedy.

They spoke at the presidential prayer breakfast at the 17th annual International Christian Leadership Conference at the Mayflower Hotel. Also appearing on the program were Vice President Johnson, Members of the President's Cabinet, Members of both the House of Representatives and the Senate, and Representatives of the Judiciary.

The President said that no man enters the office of president without a special reliance on his faith in God. He emphasized that each man who has served as president has in his own way placed strong faith in God.

Quoting freely from the Bible President Kennedy reminded the officials, legislators, and prominent leaders in every phase of the nation's life that in this nuclear age the people must turn back to the oldest source of strength and wisdom.

The President insisted that "the guiding principle of this nation is now, has been and will continue to be "In God We Trust."

Vice President Johnson told the group that "these times often call on men to forget their politics but never to forsake their prayers." He pointed out that the nation must cherish the principle of separation of church and state, and he said that there is no stronger defender of this concept than President Kennedy.

The Vice President emphasized that although church and state must remain separate, this does not mean a separation of religious values from people in government.

Billy Graham emphasized that the strength of America is not in military might but in the condition of the hearts of men. He said that in the Bible the heart stands for the whole of man and that God is looking at the heart of America.

International Christian Leadership is a non-denominational, informal association of concerned laymen united to foster faith, freedom and Christian leadership through regenerated men who in daily life will affirm their faith and assert their position as Christians. Abraham Vereide is the Executive Director of ICL.

Simultaneously with the President's prayer breakfast, in 20 states similar Governor's prayer breakfasts were being conducted with political and other leaders in the states signifying their loyalty to Christian principles. Other governor's breakfasts were held at different times.

SBC Name Change Urged By Northern Pastors

WAUSAU, WISC.—(BP)—The growth of Southern Baptist churches in the north could be vastly improved if the denomination would change its name, a group of Baptist pastors said here.

In the minds of many northern residents, the term "Southern" tends to isolate the denomination geographically, when actually the term identifies distinctive theological beliefs, they said.

The suggestion to change the denomination's name came during the sixth annual pastors' retreat of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Baptist Association. The association is affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Pastors attending the retreat agreed that their work in the pioneer area of Southern Baptist missions would be easier without the "Southern" label.

"The term tends to preserve the animosity generated during the Civil War," said Charles Wood, pastor of the Midvale Baptist Church of Madison, Wisc.

While the pastors offered no definite name suggestion and made no plans to petition the denomination for a name change, they said they hope Southern Baptist leaders would seriously consider the idea.

Five Texas Baptist leaders helped direct the retreat, devoted primarily to seeking additional support for their work from established Southern Baptist Churches.

... Help Us Locate Baptists Moving Here

● Emphasis is now being placed on seeking to encourage non-resident Southern Baptists to move their church membership to churches in the cities to which they have moved. Through your paper I should like to secure help in locating the names and addresses of people who have moved from your state to the area in and all around Indianapolis. For those who have moved to other sections of our state, I shall be happy to see that these details are given to the pioneer missionary in that area.

If the pastors or members of churches from where these people have moved would let me know this information, I would see that an effort is made to enlist them. In so doing the spiritual lives of these people would be strengthened by fellowship, local churches would be encouraged, and with the help of these people more missions might be established in needed areas. We need Southern Baptist families to help us lead out.

Then in connection with getting new churches started here in this area where there are towns without a Baptist church of any kind, our work would be greatly helped if retired pastors or associational missionaries, who with the relaxed service restrictions now of the Relief & Annuity Board, would locate here and work out from their location in starting and pastoring missions where experienced leadership helps so much, but is hard to get in the beginning stages. One of the greatest thrills of their lives would be in having a part in developing new work.—Charles E. Smith, Pioneer Area Missionary, 6041 Maren Drive, Indianapolis 24, Indiana

... Baptists and Protestants

● I thought you would know, and so I wish to ask, Is the Baptist not a Protestant denomination? My pastor says Baptists are not called Protestants, they are apostolic. It seems it's Methodist, Presbyterian, and Christian churches, etc., that are called Protestant denominations. I had always thought our church, the Baptist, was Protestant too, but my pastor says not so. What do you say? He says Protestants are those who came out from the Roman Catholic Church and our church dates back to the apostles day. I would like to get it straight and thanks.—Mrs. Mary Morgan, Route 2, Hampton, Tennessee

ANSWER—Baptists are not Protestants in the sense that they were once Catholics and came from the Catholics in protest. Baptists are Protestants in the sense that they are non-Catholic. They declare and affirm their faith in the Lordship of Jesus Christ alone. We understand better the meaning of 'Protestants' as those who affirm a positive faith rather than merely taking a stand professing against something with which they do not agree.

Mental workers who want to avoid "that tired feeling" must realize the man who works with his brains requires more sleep than the man who earns his living with his muscle. Studies show that while it takes only about 4 hours sleep to restore our physical energies, it takes twice as long to replenish energy expended in mental effort. Experiments at Colgate University have shown that while manual workers could accomplish their jobs efficiently on 4 or 5 hours sleep a night, mental workers required an additional 4 hours to turn in a par performance. When a brainworker loses 2 hours sleep, his efficiency next day not only suffers, but he accumulates twice as much fatigue in the performance of his duties.

"I-I don't know," the startled young man replied. When the desired floor was reached the door was opened, but Dr. Horton made no move to go. The elevator boy waited a moment, then said to him, "Why don't you go? The door is open." "So is the door to Heaven," answered Dr. Horton, walking out and leaving the young man to make a very obvious application.

Kennedy Says Religion Spells Difference In World Ideologies

WASHINGTON, D.C. (RNS)—President Kennedy said here that he does not regard religion "as a weapon in the cold war" but that it is the essence of the difference which separates those "on the other side of the Iron Curtain" from the free world.

The President made his observation in a brief address to a Congressional wives' prayer breakfast here.

The wives' breakfast, first of its kind, was held at the same hour that men of the Senate and House prayer breakfast groups were holding their annual Presidential prayer breakfast.

President Kennedy, Vice President Johnson, and evangelist Billy Graham, all of whom had addressed the men's breakfast, also visited the women's group and spoke briefly.

The Chief Executive said that, while he could not regard religion as a "weapon," the whole basis of the present world conflict is summed up in the difference between America's concept of religious freedom "and the concept that the state is master and the people the servants."

He urged the Congressional women to be willing to make sacrifices, like the Baptist missionaries with whom he met in his office recently. He pointed out that one woman (Mrs. C. C. Roadarmel) had been in Bengal, India, since 1926.

"We must not confuse a system of freedom with one of disinterest, cynicism and materialism," the President said, "But like these missionaries with whom I talked the other day, who have been willing to spend their lives under the most difficult of circumstances, in great hardship, in order to carry the message in which they have such great conviction, we must make sacrifices. It seems to me it should be a lesson to us all."

"We must match that faith," he said. "We must demonstrate in our lives, whatever our responsibility may be, that we care deeply."

President Kennedy said he sees no reason why the servants of the Communist system should be marked by a discipline and strong conviction that is not matched by those of Christian faith.

Mrs. Olin D. Johnston, wife of Sen. Johnston (D.-S.C.) and chairman of the Congressional women's prayer group which meets weekly, presided. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was guest of honor.

The message was given by Mrs. Samuel Shoemaker, daughter of the late Sen. Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith (D.-S.C.) Prayers were offered by Miss Mary Hawthorth, Washington newspaperwoman, and Mrs. E. Ross Adair, wife of Rep. Adair (R.-Ind.).

Six hundred women attended the breakfast.

What Is A Church Ordinance?

Baptism and the Lord's Supper were instituted by Jesus Christ as ordinances of the church. Despite this clear New Testament teaching some people are confused as to what church ordinances are and how many there are. One of our pastors was shocked to discover how little many of his people knew about some things that are really important. One mistake is evident in using the term 'sacrament' for ordinance. In the Greek New Testament there is no word, nor even any general idea, corresponding to 'sacrament.' Nor does earliest Christian history give a basis for applying the term to baptism and the Lord's Supper.

The English word translated as 'ordinance' however, represents four different Greek words in the New Testament. One word means anything that is 'declared right'; another means a 'decree' or 'edict'; yet another 'a setting up' or 'institution.' While still another is translated 'tradition.'

What do we mean, therefore, by a 'church ordinance?' One pastor, in concern over his congregation's failure to understand, answers with four tests to determine what constitutes a church ordinance:

To be a church ordinance it: (1) Must picture the basic elements of Christ's gospel of grace. (2) Must have been observed by Jesus personally. (3) Must have been commanded by Jesus. (4) Must have been observed by the early churches as recorded in the New Testament.

Under these tests only two rites, or ceremonies, qualify: baptism and the Lord's Supper. Both pictorially represent the saving acts of God in Jesus Christ who died for our sins, was buried and rose for our justification. Both were personally observed by Jesus. Both were commanded by him upon his followers. Both were observed by the early churches as we read in the New Testament.

Church Fire Losses

Suppose your church were hit by fire before next Sunday. Would your church be protected against the loss? We hope it would be through insurance, but there are perhaps many churches that would be dealt a severe blow. Recently several churches in our Tennessee Baptist fellowship sustained heavy losses because of fires. Severe winter weather has overburdened some heating systems. Fires can start in a number of different ways. Every precaution should be taken to prevent them.

Insurance protection should be reviewed to see that it is adequate. What might have been enough insurance a few years ago may be altogether inadequate at the present time. Replacement costs are heavy and a disastrous fire can deal a congregation a severe blow. Particularly do those churches run a risk whose structures are old, with electrical circuits insufficient to carry loads placed upon them through equipment they were never designed to service. Trustees of a church, or property committee, or some responsible group should look into matters of this nature and lead the church to take the necessary steps to protect itself against loss through fire.

Backbone Of The Nation

Waco, Baptist Association Adopts Race Resolution

WACO, TEX.—(BP)—The Executive Board of the Waco Baptist Association has passed a resolution urging nine Baptist schools in Texas to admit "all qualified students regardless of race."

The Board also recommended that the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas give consideration, prayer and study to admitting Negroes to Baptist schools in Texas.

The resolution, passed unanimously by 26 Waco pastors and laymen, came on the heels of a similar motion by the Union Baptist Association in Houston.

The ministers discussed the resolution freely before voting, but no opposition was reported during the discussion.

They said that the Houston Baptists had taken a step that was long overdue by Baptist pastors, and said that they did not feel that the Houston group should stand alone on the matter.

A copy of the resolution was mailed to T. A. Patterson, Executive Secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, to be considered on the agenda of the next meeting of the Texas Baptist Executive Board.

Copies of the resolution were also sent to the Chairmen of the Board of Trustees for each Baptist College, although no official action was requested from the schools.

Texas Baptists own eight colleges and universities and one academy. Only one of the schools, Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, Tex., accepts Negro students.

Hit Moral Filth In Movies

MEMPHIS—(BP)—Charging that a movie being unreel here is glamorizing immorality, several Southern Baptist preachers have called on city officials to provide tighter censorship.

In a meeting with Mayor Henry Loeb and the Memphis Censor Board, the ministers asked "How far are you going to go on freedom of speech? How are you going to present lewdness?"

Following the meeting, Mayor Loeb said he was appealing to the reasonableness of theater owners to "eliminate this junk." He also urged Memphians to bring public opinion to bear on the theater owners.

Subject of the indignation is the film entitled, "Go Naked in the World." It is the tale of a prostitute.

The Memphis Censor Board approved the film but termed it "immoral." Board members said this was not legal grounds for banning a movie. A city attorney reported the only apparent grounds for banning a film is obscenity, and added, "what some say is obscene, another says is art. So the question is 'what is obscenity?'"

A meeting has been scheduled between Mayor Loeb, the Censor Board, the Baptist ministers, and movie distributors in an effort to iron out the matter.

R. Paul Caudill, Pastor of First Baptist Church, was the first person to focus the attention of Memphians on the film when he reported a naval officer at a nearby military installation had implored him and other clergymen to do something from their pulpits to rid the screens of such movies.

Later, four churches in Wednesday night prayer services passed resolutions asking the city officials to prohibit the showing of such films. They were First, Leawood, Leclair, and Glen Park.

A Catholic laymen's group also voiced objection to the film, and threatened to picket the theater if the movie was not withdrawn.

The theater manager showing the film said the publicity has greatly increased attendance.

The Memphis Censor Board has been criticized before, but usually for being too strict about the purity of movie content.

Catholics Told To Revise 'Double Tax Burden' Charges

ST. PAUL, Minn. (RNS)—Parents of Roman Catholic school pupils should revise their charges of a "double tax burden" because the complaint is not correct, an Iowa Catholic educator said here.

Msgr. Justin A. Driscoll, director of schools for the Dubuque archdiocese, said a claim of bearing some "additional burden" for Catholic education is closer to the truth than charging a double burden, although he noted that Catholic parents "feel keenly the deaf ear given their plea for justice in receiving educational benefits."

Speaking at mid-year commencement exercises of the College of St. Thomas, Msgr. Driscoll said if Catholics stopped voluntary support of their schools the total tax rate would be greatly increased.

But, he said, "studies have indicated the saving to Catholic parents would amount to very little, if anything, if the state took over completely the financial end of education."

Tobey Calls For Positive Faith

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—A faith as positive and constructive as the founders of this nation was called for today by Major General Frank A. Tobey, chief of chaplains of the United States Army.

Speaking to a chaplains day group in the chapel of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, Chaplain Tobey warned those in attendance that it will not be easy "to build upon the faith you have in justice, in honor and in Jesus Christ your Lord and Saviour."

"Jesus did not teach that it would be," he added. "Faith in your day will demand great courage. For countless Christians the world around are even now undergoing untold hardships because of their faith and if need be, you will undergo persecution in your day," he said.

Speaking of America's spiritual heritage, Chaplain Tobey said, "How fortunate we are that our forefathers, the founders of this great nation, were men of deep, abiding, persistent faith. It remained for the builders of our nation to translate the truth of the "Christian tradition into a political philosophy and a way of life."

In your day, he told the seminary students and chaplains, you will be called upon to demonstrate that you, too, have such faith.

Tobey was the principal speaker for the Annual Chaplains Day at the seminary.

Chaplain Tobey has been Chief of Chaplains of the army since November, 1958. He began his military career in 1922 and served in reserve units until he was called into active duty prior to Pearl Harbor.

He was released from active duty following World War II and served as pastor of the Lookout Mountain Baptist Church, Chattanooga, Tennessee, until shortly before the Korean outbreak when he was recalled to active duty.

He holds 12 decorations including the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster and Bronze Star.

Former SBC President Appointed By Kennedy

WASHINGTON—(BP)—Brooks Hays, President of the Southern Baptist Convention (1957-58) and at present Director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has been appointed Assistant Secretary of State for congressional affairs by President Kennedy.

Hays, a former congressman from Arkansas, has been prominent in Baptist circles for many years. He has been Chairman of the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, and has served on other important denominational committees.

The appointment of Hays will bring one of the south's leading civil rights moderates into the Kennedy Administration. It is anticipated that his appointment will have the full support of congress.

Correction!

West Jackson Baptist Church, with 314 membership in the Music Ministry reported last year, ranked seventh among churches of Tennessee. This information was inadvertently omitted in the report from the Music Office in a recent issue of the BAPTIST AND REFLECTOR.

Lowrey Haynie, Minister of Music, and Regional Director for the Southwest area, has for several years had the highest number of participants in the Regional Festivals, and the church consistently ranks among the top ten churches in music awards in the state.—Frank G. Charton

Dedicate Home For Missionary

Waynesboro—Baptists of Indian Creek Association gathered here Sunday afternoon February 12, to dedicate their three-bedroom-and-den brick home just constructed for their associational missionary. Open house was held from 2 to 5 o'clock. Baptists from many of the 27 churches of the association took the opportunity to see the beautiful new structure.

Rev. J. O. Smothers, moderator of the association, presided at the dedication service. It was shared in by Billy Dever, chairman of the building committee; Emory Middleton, treasurer; Rev. and Mrs. James G. Phelps, the associational missionary; Rev. W. M. Grogan, clerk of the association; and Dr. Richard N. Owen, editor of the Baptist and Reflector.

Serving with Mr. Dever on the building committee were: Mr. Lemuel Greeson; Mr. Middleton, both of Waynesboro; Mr. Johnny Melson of Savannah; Mr. Everette Hill of Collinwood; and Mr. Hiram Neil of Turkey Creek. Much credit goes to Mr. Billy Dever, contractor of Waynesboro, for the part he had in making this beautiful new house possible. Members also of the different churches found great joy in the part they had in building this home.

Indian Creek has 27 churches and 3,065 reported members. This is the 23rd association in Tennessee that has built a home for its missionary.

Rev. and Mrs. James G. Phelps, Cynthia, and Steve in front of the home provided for the associational missionary. Mr. Phelps began his work with Indian Creek Association November 15, 1960.

Waynesboro—These were among the leaders in the movement to build a home for the missionary in the Indian Creek Association. Shown here in front of the recently completed house with Missionary James G. Phelps (fourth from the left) are Rev. W. M. Grogan, pastor, First Church, Waynesboro, who is also clerk of the association; Mr. Hiram Neil; Mr. Emory Middleton, treasurer; Phelps; Mr. Billy Dever, chairman of the building committee; and Associational Moderator, Rev. J. O. Smothers, who is pastor of Green River Church. Seen above are some early arrivers coming to the open house and dedication service of the new home for Indian Creek Association's missionary.

A LAYMAN'S HARMONY OF THE GOSPELS

by John Franklin Carter

This valuable reference work is different from traditional harmonies in that extensive notes on every page provide a running commentary on the text. The notes contain historical information on Christ's life and times and furnish excellent background material for lessons and sermons. The text is the American Standard Version of the Bible and is arranged in parallel columns. Clarity and simplicity of arrangement make this harmony the most convenient one to use. $4.50

Cotey, New Murfreesboro Pastor

Dr. H. Eugene Cotey begins his ministry as pastor of First Church, Murfreesboro, Feb. 26. He succeeds Robert L. Palmer who became pastor of First Church, Williamsburg, Ky., Sept. 25.

A native of Alexandria, La., Cotey has lived in Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama. He graduated from Central High School, Memphis, Union University, Jackson, and New Orleans Seminary.

Cotey served Cordova Church in Shelby County, Tenn., as a mission pastor; and pastored Poplar Grove Church, Owen County, Ky. and Simpsonville Church, Oxford, Ala. for 4½ years. He was serving as first vice-president of the Alabama Baptist State Convention, member of the State Baptist Executive Committee, and chairman of the Evangelism Committee of the Calhoun County Baptist Association when he accepted the pastorate at Murfreesboro.

Dr. Cotey is married to the former Jean

Bricks Without Straw?

Can bricks be made without straw? This was no doubt the question Israelites asked each other while in Egyptian bondage. To subdue their rising population they were given almost impossible tasks without the tools to produce.

I have seen, "bricks made without straw" today—or at least the equivalent. I refer to work done by superintendents of missions (associational missions).

Many of these superintendents or missionaries have wrought marvelous things, for God and our churches, with little or no working tools. Most serve humbly with what they have. Yet they are aware their "bricks" many times are of inferior quality for lack of tools, with which to work.

Out of gratitude for my own Duck River association which so thoughtfully and wisely provided here, I feel constrained to drop a word to you that God would lead you to see that your own association provides the necessary working tools there for your missionary, if you have not done so already.

By the nature of his work each missionary needs:

First, OFFICE SPACE. A place to study, a place where people can meet for conference, a room where office equipment can be arranged and work done.

Second, he needs the following basic equipment: A good typewriter, a good mimeograph, with accessories, a filing cabinet and desk, book shelves and storage room for tracts and materials needed by the churches. Without these his hands are tied and work ineffective.

Third, other things needed as work advances: an addressograph machine, paper cutter, map-making equipment, tape-recorder, film strip projector and movie projector. The latter two are needed for missionary advance.

Last but not least, the missionary needs a PETTY CASH ACCOUNT whereby he may purchase needed small supplies from time to time without having to have committee endorsement each time an expenditure is made. My association paid for these gladly, financing these out of a percentage gift of offerings for associational missions.

If these are supplied, we are sure the bricks will be made of better quality and in greater abundance. Your servant will be happier, and God glorified.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

EDITORIAL NOTE—To the above timely suggestions we add one more. The association needs to provide the missionary with secretarial help—volunteer, if paid help cannot be secured. Do this and free your missionary to do more work for the churches.

Alternate Preacher In First Appearance

ST. LOUIS—(BP)—For the first time in its history, an alternate preacher will deliver the annual sermon before the Southern Baptist Convention.

This will take place when the Convention meets here in Kiel Auditorium, May 23-26.

A. B. Van Arsdale of Decatur, Ala., will preach the sermon on Tuesday night, the opening session of the four-day Convention. Evangelist Billy Graham was to have preached the sermon but a commitment in London, England, forced him to cancel his appearance.

Graham of Montreat, N. C., is a Southern Baptist and a member of the Convention's Foreign Mission Board. In a letter to Convention leaders, Graham said:

"You can imagine my shock to learn that I was confused on the dates of the Convention in St. Louis. When asked to deliver the Convention address, I was told it was Lipseley of Memphis. They have three children, Sara Elizabeth, 6, David Eugene 4½, and Stephen Ray, 5 months.

May 18. This has been in all our calendars.

"My crusade in England begins on Tuesday night, May 23 (the night of the Convention sermon), with an address at Royal Albert Hall to 7,000 clergymen that are being brought in from all over Britain. . . . When I accepted the invitation to address the Convention, I accepted with the stipulation that it would not interfere with the dates in England."

Graham described the invitation to preach the SBC sermon as "the greatest honor of my ministry thus far" and expressed deepest regrets over the confusion of dates.

The Southern Baptist Convention, returning to St. Louis for the first time since 1954, will feature several sermons. As with the program in 1960 at Miami Beach, Fla., these are intended to provide more inspiration along with business.

Those preaching sermons include Carl E.

Bates, Pastor of First Baptist Church, Charlotte, N. C.; W. Herchel Ford, Pastor, First Baptist Church, El Paso, Tex.; Paul Brooks Leath, Fresno, Calif.; Robert G. Lee, Memphis, former SBC President, and W. A. Criswell, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Dallas.

The address of Ramsey Pollard, Memphis, Convention President, comes at noon Wednesday, May 24. Chaplain (Maj.-Gen.) Frank A. Tobey, Chief of Chaplains, U.S. Army, Washington—A Baptist minister—speaks to the Chaplaincy Report Friday night, May 26.

A panel discussion on Christian colleges follows the report of the Convention's Education Commission on Friday morning. John W. Raley, Shawnee, President of Oklahoma Baptist University; Monroe F. Swilley, Jr., Pastor, Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church, Atlanta, and Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, Miss., prominent industrialist and Baptist lay leader, will direct the panel.

One of the main items of business before the Convention will be election of a new Convention President. Pollard has served two one-year terms, the limit allowed by the Convention's constitution.

Laymen to Serve in Mission Crusades

MEMPHIS, TENN.—(BP)—A series of pioneer missions crusades designed to expand Southern Baptist work will be conducted in 10 northern states this year under the auspices of the Brotherhood Commission and the Home Mission Board.

More than 500 laymen and 40 pastors from 10 southern states will take part in the 13 crusades, each to last a week.

Plans for the giant enlargement program were unfolded at a meeting here of representatives from the Brotherhood Commission, State Brotherhood departments, Home Mission Board, and the pioneer states.

The missions volunteers are being enlisted by state Brotherhood leaders. They will pay their own expenses while on the crusades.

Pioneer states receiving the manpower will include Ohio, Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska, California, Washington, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and New York.

Providing the men will be Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia.

George W. Schroeder, executive secretary of the Brotherhood Commission estimated at least 1,500 men would be taking part in similar ventures in 1962 when the Baptist Jubilee Advance emphasis is church extension. All states with the established Southern Baptist work will be invited to take part in the 1962 crusades, said.

The men participating in the crusades this year will be featured during a session of the second National Conference of Southern Baptist Men which will be held at Ellis auditorium here Sept. 13-15.

New York will be the area of work for group of Tennessee laymen during October.

The men will help make surveys, participate in laymen revivals, visit the unaffiliated Baptists and the unsaved, promote organizational work, and help start new missions.

Baptists On The Move In Tullahoma

Tullahoma is a bustling little city about 75 miles south of Nashville that is home for approximately 12,800 Middle Tennesseans. Among these are 2,082 Baptists.

The growth of Baptists and Baptist work there in relationship to the growth of the town presents a sparkling picture of what dedicated, mission-minded people can do in a community. The result of harmonious labor by separate congregations is also vividly portrayed in Tullahoma.

As late as 1949 First Church was the only Southern Baptist congregation in town. The church had a membership of 582 in a town of 7,500 inhabitants. It was a thriving, growing body—centrally located, with big plans for the future.

But the question arose: Can one Baptist church meet the needs of a town the size of Tullahoma? Some thought "no," and for this reason a remarkable example of increased labor and increased potential through increased congregations was unfolded.

This mission story began in 1950 when Roy Magill, who was then pastor of First Church, formed a new church across town.

By Jack T. Childs

This church came to be known as Highland. With the formation of this group, there were now two Baptist churches in Tullahoma.

Two years later, First sponsored a mission on the east side of town. Originally called Ragan's Mission, it later became Lincoln Heights Baptist Chapel. The first service was held at the mission on Easter Sunday, 1952.

In 1955 an independent church in the area split, and one of these segments was taken under the wing of Highland. This group, known as Grace, was constituted into a church two years later. The tide was rising rapidly and now there were three churches and one mission in Tullahoma.

Lincoln Heights Chapel was launched out on its own in September, 1959 as it dropped the word "Chapel" in favor of "Church." In so doing, it became the fourth constituted Baptist church.

Not content to stop here, First adopted Hickerson Memorial, an independent, as another mission.

Meanwhile, Highland began sponsoring the work of Spring Creek, a rural church whose building had burned. Arrangements were made for this congregation to meet in a two-story house on the outskirts of Tullahoma while a new sanctuary was erected nearby.

Currently the wave has spread until it has encircled and entwined the town with four Baptist churches and two missions. Within a scant ten years, five new congregations had sprung forth.

Minutes from the 1960 meeting of the Tennessee Baptist Convention reveal a combined membership of 2,082 Tullahoma Baptists in a town of 12,800. While Baptists were branching out and more than tripling in number, Tullahoma, though making good gains, was not even doubling its population.

From a total offering of $17,511 by one church in 1949, gifts had grown to $128,277 in 1960 when there were six congregations. Also during this period, gifts to missions had increased from $3,048 to $22,295. Sunday School enrolment grew from 434 to 1,967.

Although there are no immediate plans for beginning new congregations, each of the present groups either has definite plans for expansion or has recently completed new units.

Tom Madden, pastor of First Church, said a new educational building will be constructed by his church within a few months. A new pastorium is underway and should be finished by spring.

Pastor Roy Magill and his Highland members have only recently entered a new educational unit.

Rev. Louis Rideout of Grace moved into his church's new pastorium in January. A new sanctuary is in the planning stage.

Also being planned are an educational unit and pastorium for Lincoln Heights according to pastor Paul Tabor.

Rev. Thomas Redford's Hickerson Memorial recently added a new heating system and lies in an area which has perhaps the greatest potential of any congregation in Tullahoma.

Spring Creek's new sanctuary is being constructed although the congregation is currently without a pastor.

Perhaps other towns have similar stories in regards to Baptist growth. But the mushrooming rise of Baptists in Tullahoma is a clear-cut example of how magnifying the Lord's churches will magnify the Lord's work.

One congregation doing the work is fine, but six congregations can be six times better. In 1949, the only Baptist church in Tullahoma reported 26 baptisms. By 1958, there were 141 baptisms reported in Tullahoma—nearly six times as many.

Baptists in Tullahoma believe you multiply the accomplishments when you multiply the churches. And it looks like they have proved their point.

These Lead Tullahoma Baptist Churches

Here are the mission-minded pastors of Tullahoma who are linked closely not only by their churches' background, but also through their cooperation with one another. They are: (left to right) Roy Magill, Highland; Paul Tabor, Lincoln Heights; Louis Rideout, Grace; Thomas Redford, Hickerson Memorial; and Tom Madden, First.

Jesus Faces The Cross

TEXTS: John 12 (Larger)—John 12:20-36a (Printed).

The Cross is the symbol of the Christian religion. This is true since it was the instrument used by evil men to hurt and kill Jesus Christ, the only perfect man who ever walked the face of the earth. But it is also true because the Cross, with all that it connotes, is to be the challenge for Christian life and conduct. When we as Christ's disciples sing "The Way of the Cross Leads Home" let us do so not only to recall and give thanks for His sufferings in our behalf but also to rededication in service to others for His glory. If such rededication leads to a genuine cross, let us rejoice. We consider the Cross, in terms of the printed text, under four captions.

Approaching (vv. 20-23)

"The hour is come", said Jesus when the Greeks came seeking Him. With the coming of these Gentiles, He understood perfectly that His approaching passion was not far away. The Old Testament had taught Him in no uncertain language that in order for other peoples to have full access to God's grace and salvation a man must die. Every rite and ceremony of worship connected with the Jewish religion pointed in that direction. It was the very heart of such prophecies as those uttered by Isaiah, Jeremiah, Hosea and many others. Underneath the sorrows and persecutions of the chosen people of God was this profound plan of redemption. And now the time of actual slaying of the lamb of God was at hand. Jesus' glorification was to be the Cross.

Appalling (vv. 27-29)

"Save me from this hour", Jesus prayed in pathetic supplication. The prospect of the Cross was truly appalling. But He hastens to add, "But for this cause came I unto this hour". Along with temporary hesitation and shrinking from the horrible agony He could clearly foresee was complete resignation to the Father's will. The Father responded with full approval. It should be remembered that in all three instances (this being one of them) of God's voice from heaven in such assurance and approval of Jesus the death of His Son was central. The other two instances were of course at Jesus' baptism and on the Mount of Transfiguration. Here His agitation of soul reveals both His love of mankind, for whom He was about to die; and His complete devotion to the will and plan of the Father, which involved death.

Appealing (vv. 30-33)

"And I . . . will draw all men unto me", Jesus prophesied. The words omitted from the verse possess deep significance. Be sure to look at them and ponder them. When the Suffering Servant is exalted, in the light of the Crucifixion and the Resurrection, men are drawn to Him. The Cross has a strange and powerful attraction. The appeal of the Cross, brought home to the lives of sinful men by the Holy Spirit, never fails. Much of what Jesus and His followers have said puzzles, maybe even repels, unregenerate persons. But when the fact of His sacrificial and substitutional sufferings and death on the Cross enters into their understanding and appreciation, something transpires. When they yield their lives, in humble repentance and in full surrender to Jesus as Saviour, eternal life is bestowed. The Cross becomes the spiritual "magnetic" force that draws and transforms.

Appointing (vv. 24-26, 34-36a)

"Let him follow me", Jesus says by way of summary concerning genuine discipleship. Thus He appointed the Cross as a guide for Christian living. In so doing, He of course expects from all who know Him as Saviour that the Cross be applied rather than sentimentalized. He illustrated the principle (v. 24) by referring to the law of life in the natural realm, i.e., the old must die in order for the new to live. "Lose your life for My sake so that you may find and preserve it", He teaches (v. 25). "Walk in the light", He further admonishes (v. 35). Is He speaking of the light as it gleams from the Cross? It would seem so. With the Cross there is redemption and illumination. Without it there is damnation and darkness.

Questions Answered

(Address questions to T. A. Patterson)

Should a person take the Lord's Supper when he cannot keep from getting annoyed and disgusted with the way his children act? I am afraid I will do wrong. I keep my granddaughter while my son and his wife work. His wife seems to dislike me and never brings me any clothes fit to wear though she has plenty. I get a hurt feeling. —W.G.

Part of your problem is perhaps a misunderstanding of I Cor. 11:20, "For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body." The preceding verses, 27 and 28, should be considered in this connection. A wrong interpretation has kept a lot of people from the Table and has caused needless anxiety and distress. At no point does the apostle say that we ourselves must be "worthy" for no one would ever partake on these terms. Only by the grace of God are we permitted this privilege. "Unworthily" refers to the manner in which we observe the memorial. Evidently the Corinthians had turned the Supper into a feast and had failed to observe it with the proper emphasis upon its central purpose, that is, in remembrance of Christ's broken body and shed blood.

The word "damnation" means "judgment". When a Christian does wrong, he is "judged" with a view to his chastisement, "that he should not be condemned with the world". (Verse 32). God supplies all the needs of his children, and there are times when they need chastisement.

Would it be possible for you to pray about your relationship with your children and then, in a Christian way, talk to them about how you feel? Having done this, you can ask the Lord for grace to put away all resentment from your heart and to help you maintain a Christian attitude and spirit at all times. You can not condone wrong but you can trust the Lord to deal with your children and with their problems.

God's Wondrous World* Lunch-Box Flowers

By Thelma C. Carter

Some of the earliest spring flowers, the crocus, snowdrops, daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, and lilies, grow from bulbs. The bulb flowers are sometimes called lunch-box flowers. Amazingly true is the fact that bulbs contain all the food elements necessary for the growth and blooming of the satiny, smooth flowers.

Nature can hardly wait to open her lunch-box flowers. The first green leaves of bulb flowers appear while the February world is still cold, the sky gray, and the earth covered with brown stubble.

Solomon speaks of the early flowers. "For, lo, the winter is past, . . . the flowers appear on the earth" (Song of Solomon 2:11-12). Bible historians tell of bulb flowers, such as the lily, crocus, and hyacinth, growing in the mountains of Lebanon.

The hills and the fields of Judea and Galilee, which Jesus knew so well, were covered in early springtime with bulb flowers. He spoke in the Sermon on the Mount of the beauty of the lilies in the field (Matthew 6:28-29).

A flower bulb is a miracle in itself. Not only does it contain the food store of sugar necessary for the flower's growth, but also within the bulb is the small green bud growing from the bottom pad. There are the little roots, soft bases of future leaves, and the thin, brown, protective scales, which are really the shriveled bases of the green leaves of last year.

George Stops a Snowball*

By Clarence M. Lindsay

That winter day in 1743 was unusually cold for provincial Virginia. In the northern part of the state, snow had been falling for several hours, to the delight of the boys who attended Field School, two miles from Falmouth Church. No sooner had Master Hobby dismissed the pupils than they rushed pell-mell outdoors, eager for fun.

"Let's build a snow fort!" suggested a sturdy lad known as Billy to his mates. "What say, George?"

George shook his head. "It would take too long, Billy; and we have no shields or staves to build with."

The others nodded agreement. "That's right, George," said one, "but we can have a snow fight."

"Yes, we can do that. We'll have a battle between 'settlers' and 'Indians' with snowballs as bullets."

At that period Indian outbreaks threatened, and often there was talk by both young and old about what might happen should the savages again go on the war-path.

"All right!" said Billy. "I'll be the leader of the settlers and you, George, can lead the red men!"

At this proposal loud protests rose from most of his hearers.

"No, no! That won't do! George has always led and drilled us when we played soldiers. You'll have to lead the Indians, Billy."

Billy scowled at this, but George said with a smile, "Indians can throw snowballs just as fast as white men, Billy. Don't forget that."

The other boy didn't return the smile. He was sadly disappointed, but he saw that he would have to yield. A few moments later, after sides had been chosen, all the boys hurried into the woods, the Indians going one way and the settlers another.

(Sunday School Board Syndicate, all rights reserved) *

"Now then," said George, addressing his followers, "Let's keep hidden behind the trees as much as we can. Have your snowballs ready, and whenever you see an enemy, let him have it!"

As George finished speaking, there came a bloodcurdling war whoop from the Indians which, indeed, sounded almost too real. Billy led his party forward, rather slowly, all keeping concealed as much as they could. Soon the snowball bullets began to fly thick and fast from both sides, with much shouting and yelling as the boys warmed up to their work.

"Don't let 'em get any nearer!" cried

George, his voice hoarse with excitement. "We must win this fight!"

As he spoke, he moved swiftly forward, intent on gaining shelter behind the trunk of a huge pine. At the same instant Billy stepped into view and threw a ball which struck George in the face so forcefully that he fell to the ground.

The settlers were greatly astonished at seeing their leader fall. He was up again in no time, but his cheek was bleeding. Regardless of the bullets which were now aimed at his exposed figure, he stopped, picked up the missile which had struck him, and broke it open.

"Look here, fellows!" he cried. "There's a stone in this one! That's not playing fair!"

His mates shouted as they left the shelter of the trees and rushed forward, resolved to put an end to the fight and avenge the cowardly act of the leader of the enemy.

"Drive them back, boys, but leave Billy to me! I'll settle him without any help."

A moment later the angry settlers had the Indians in full flight. Billy, though he tried hard to get away, was soon overtaken by George, who proceeded to give him a thrashing. George had large hands and great strength, and ere long Billy cried for mercy.

George was too angry to stop at once. When he let up, Billy shamefacedly admitted that George had won not only the snow fight, but also their personal encounter.

"I guess I had it coming to me, George. It was a mean thing to do, putting that stone in that ball."

"Why did you do it?" demanded the victor.

"Well, I was mad because I didn't get to lead the settlers. I'm sorry now. I don't wonder the boys always look up to you."

Though his face was still flushed, George smiled.

"I'm sorry I didn't stop pommeling you when you begged me to quit. My temper got the best of me, but it won't happen again. That's another fight I must win."

Is this a true story? We can only guess at the answer. We do know that in later years Gen. George Washington led the patriotic Americans in the fight for liberty which finally ended in the establishment of a new nation. That same leader was its first President, and now it took a great deal to make him lose control of himself. Perhaps he remembered that fight in the woods so long ago and kept his temper under leash.

The airplane pilot addressed his passengers over the intercom system to tell them he had lost his way. He explained that the radar was not working, his radio beam could not be picked up and that the compass was broken. "But," he added encouragingly, "you'll be glad to know we are making very good time."—Sunshine Magazine.

Advance Needs Yearly Increase In Finance Radio Helps Baptists Work In Latin America

"Sustained advance in foreign missions calls for increasing annually the budget for operating expenses as well as the resources for capital needs," Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary, told the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in its February meeting. "With 160 appointments anticipated this year, the operating budget for 1962 will need to be increased by $1,100,000 over that of 1961. The sum of $700,000 will be needed in the missionary section of the budget and $400,000 will be needed for carrying on work on the fields.

"In addition, capital needs grow yearly. Therefore, resources for foreign missions ought to increase by from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 each year in order to undergird sustained mission advance."

Radio Helps Baptist Work in Latin America

Dr. Frank K. Means, secretary for Latin America, summarized for the Board a recent report from the Latin-American Missions (organizations of Southern Baptist missionaries) on the use of radio evangelism in their countries. The report revealed that a surprising amount of radio work is now being done by Baptists, Dr. Means said, and that it is felt to be an increasingly important and effective method of kingdom extension.

"This radio work is harassed by certain difficulties, according to our missionaries," he said. "Where the Roman Catholic Church is dominant, costs are often prejudicially high for evangelical groups. Some stations refuse to allot time to Baptists and other evangelicals. And when a program which has been permitted begins to become influential, pressures—ecclesiastical coercion or the potent threat of boycott—may be exerted to have it taken off the air.

"The programs vary greatly in technical quality, depending to a considerable degree on the training and experience of the persons responsible. Radio stations also differ in equipment, technical know-how, and the kind of listening audiences they deliberately cultivate."

Despite the difficulties, radio programs are sponsored by all levels of Baptist organizations, he pointed out. Some pastors and individual churches have their own programs, usually 15- to 30-minute weekly broadcasts of a devotional or evangelistic nature, although practically nothing has been done with live broadcasts of the Sunday worship services. "The missionaries believe high costs to be the prohibitive factor," Dr. Means explained.

Associational, state, and national Baptist groups, as well as the Missions, also participate in radio ministries. The Argentine Baptist Convention has a radio committee, receiving a limited amount of support through the Convention's co-operative program of finance. Its programs are broadcast in Buenos Aires, but apparently are not heard in other parts of the country, Dr. Means said. However, Baptist associations in Argentina maintain radio programs in eight strategically located cities.

The Chilean Baptist Convention has its own "Baptist Hour." The weekly, 30-minute program is prepared in a studio at the Baptist theological seminary in Santiago, tape-recorded, and sent to 10 stations scattered through the country. This Chilean radio ministry revolves around devotional messages, the question-and-answer technique, and a correspondence course in Bible study.

In 1946 the South Brazil Mission launched a religious news program to excite interest in and encourage tolerance toward the work of evangelicals in general and Baptists in particular. Then in 1951 the Brazilian Baptist Convention created a committee to study ways in which radio might be used, and eventually it set up a radio commission. "Baptists on the March," sponsored by the Brazilian Convention made its appearance in 1955, and since then it has been broadcast 5,265 times, Dr. Means reported. At present 11 radio stations and 20 village loud-speaker systems are beaming its messages. State Baptist conventions in Brazil either use the national convention's program or devise their own centered around local personalities and calling attention to features of local Baptist work.

Southern Baptists provide the major share of financial backing for radio programs maintained by state and national Baptist conventions in Latin America, Dr. Means told the Board. "In areas where no one else takes the initiative, our Missions do what they can," he added.

As for the television situation in Latin America, Dr. Means noted, stations are limited to the larger cities, and relatively few nationals own television sets, although the number is growing.

Drawing a further conclusion from the Missions' report, Dr. Means said: "Radio and television work must be projected as an integral part of the total program in each country—not as a separate ministry. This calls for careful planning, which can be done to best advantage through the Foreign Mission Board and between the Missions and the nationals on the field."

Radio work is also conducted in a number of mission areas in the Orient and Africa. More than $71,000 has been designated by the Foreign Mission Board for radio work as a regular part of its mission program in 1961. Studies are being made in several
