A Lesson In Seamanship

By Herschel H. Hobbs

"And when we had launched from thence, we sailed under Cyprus, because the winds were contrary."—Acts 27:4.

One would do well to read this chapter with an ancient map of the Mediterranean before him. Leaving Sidon rather than to sail directly to the coast of Asia Minor, they sailed under the lee of Cyprus. At this time the Etesian winds of late summer were blowing from the northwest. So for protection they sailed on the opposite side of Cyprus. From there they sailed to Myra on the Southern shores of Asia Minor. There they boarded a large grain ship bound for Rome. It was a government vessel, so the centurion was in charge over the ship's captain. The ship was probably off its regular course due to the wind.

For many days they sailed slowly, with difficulty because of this wind, probably tacking along the coastline. Reaching Cnidus at the southwest point of Asia Minor they no longer had protection from the wind. Unable to continue due west, they sailed under the lee of Crete. Coasting along they reached a port called Fair Havens near Lasea. Neither of these places is mentioned by any other ancient writer, though they were real places on Crete. Fair Havens was on a bay which faced East and Southeast.

For the moment it gave protection from the wind. But it was not a good place to spend the winter when the winds changed direction.

Luke notes that "sailing was now dangerous, because the fast was now already past" (v. 9). This Fast was the Jewish Day of Atonement which that year fell on October 5 (Robertson). Sea travel on the Mediterranean was dangerous between early October and late March. This ship was behind schedule because of the wind conditions.

Since Fair Havens was not a good winter harbor, consideration was given to chancing a run to Phenice of Crete. Its harbor would be safer during winter. The words "lieth toward the southwest and northwest" read "northeast and southeast" in the Revised Standard Version (Robertson also). It is a matter of interpretation. Sailors described a port by the direction they faced when entering it. Which means they entered it from the east side. But it looked in the opposite direction, so gave protection from the northeast wintry wind.

For some reason Paul was in the conference as to whether to risk the sailing or not. Though the pilot and owner or skipper of the ship favored the risk, Paul advised against it. Though a landlubber he had been shipwrecked three times (2 Cor. 11:25). So he knew the danger of such a voyage at this time of year. He did not claim divine inspiration for this advice as later (vv. 22-26).

The centurion had the final say, and sided with the seaman against Paul. He ignored common sense for daring. And he lived to regret it, as subsequent events showed.

Devotional

Trust In God

Matthew 6:25-32

By Harold W. Allen, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Gallatin

In Emerson's Journal is a tender passage regarding his little boy, Waldo, who had died. Emerson was resting in the woods.

Allen

At that moment his thoughts were on his boy. He began to feel the healing power of the universe around him. Later he wrote, "All that I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for all that I have not seen."

That is sound philosophy and is in full accord with Jesus' teachings. Jesus says that if God takes care of the birds, the lilies and the grass, then certainly you can trust Him to care for you.

Now it ought to be made clear that the birds, lilies and grass are not entirely passive. He was not approving careless, unplanned living. Notice how carefully the birds construct their nests in anticipation of a little family. When the eggs are hatched, they search diligently for food to sustain their young, and even the lilies and grass must thrust themselves up to the sun, then down to the moisture in the soil.

But the point is that God does provide for our needs. We are the crown of His creation, much more important in the eyes of God than plants or birds. We are not the victims of an irrational fate. We are in the hands of the Almighty God who created us and sent His Son to die for us. We are not to merely trust in the things God will provide, but to trust in the God who provides. When we think of the greatness, the goodness and adequacy of God, somehow we find our fear-filled minds at rest.

As the space program progresses, there has been some discussion of having a chaplain on board when the lunar vehicle blasts off into the heavens.

No matter how you look at it, this would be—for any minister—a high calling. I can almost hear the chaplain, talking to his commanding officer: "Yes sir, I did say I wanted to go on a high and holy mission, but I don't recall putting in for a space docking station!"

Traditionally, our denomination does not go in for ritual or formality in worship, but even with a Baptist chaplain this what have to be what you call "high church."

There would, of course, be certain advantages. No matter what subject the preacher chose, the sermon could not go over the heads of the congregation.

And after the sermon was preached in the narrow confines of a space craft, the members of the congregation would not be able to console themselves by saying, "The preacher was talking about someone else."

Franklin Owen Elected New Kentucky Executive

Franklin P. Owen

LOUISVILLE—Franklin P. Owen, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Lexington, Ky., for the past 18 years, has been elected executive secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, effective Sept. 1.

Owen, elected to the post in a called meeting of the Kentucky Convention Executive Board, will succeed Harold G. Sanders, who is retiring in August after 11 years in the convention's top executive position.

Owen will become executive secretary-elect on June 1, and spend three months working with Sanders in an orientation period, and in visiting associations and churches in the state.

Owen was recommended to the post by a special committee of the board as the committee's unanimous choice, but the action by the full board was not unanimous.

Opposition arose from the floor to his nomination at two points—the salary proposed for the position, and Owen's stand on the question of baptism.

Objections Overriden

Terry Sills, pastor of Sinking Springs Baptist Church near Murray, Ky., objected to the baptism policy of Calvary Baptist Church where Owen is pastor, pointing out that the church accepts as valid the baptism of a person by another denomination, if that person was baptized by immersion following a profession of faith in Christ.

David Elliott, pastor of Blue Spring Baptist Church near Madisonville, Ky., read a passage from a 1968 issue of the "Review and Expositor" in which Owen expressed his views on baptism, and asked that the board delay any decision for at least 15 days. Elliott said it was unfair to vote on a nominee about whom no information had been given prior to the board meeting.

John Huffman, chairman of the committee to nominate an executive secretary and pastor of First Baptist Church, Mayfield, Ky., stated that Owen told the committee that he accepted wholeheartedly the Baptist Faith and Message statement on baptism and other doctrinal matters, and that this was good enough for the committee.

Richard De Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church in Bedford, Ky., made a motion to amend the committee's recommendation by reducing the proposed housing allowance for the executive secretary to the same level currently allowed, but the amendment failed 84-3.

Vote on the committee's nomination passed by a margin of 73-14, which Huffman said was "about as much unanimity as possible for any person to receive in Kentucky at this time."

Owen, pastor of the 2500-member Lexington church since 1954, is a former president of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, and a former chairman of the board of trustees for Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville. He also was president of the seminary's alumni association in 1967.

Former Georgia Pastor

Before coming to Kentucky, Owen was pastor of First Baptist Church, Gainesville, Ga., and was president of the Georgia Baptist Pastors' Conference while in that state.

During World War II, he was a chaplain in the U.S. Army and received the Bronze Star and letter of commendation for his service in Europe.

Immediately before and after the war, he was first director of religious education and later associate pastor of Southside Baptist Church, Birmingham.

Owen is a graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Southern Seminary in Louisville. Georgetown College in Georgetown, Ky., has conferred on him an honorary doctorate.

Sanders, who retires from the position at the end of August, was pastor of First Baptist Church, Tallahassee, Fla., prior to accepting the Kentucky executive secretaryship in 1961.

Previously, Sanders was a chaplain in the U.S. Navy, serving during World War II in the Pacific theater. Sanders was pastor of churches in Alabama, Kentucky and Indiana before his service as a chaplain. (BP)

Pople will serve at Glorieta Baptist Assembly, Glorieta, N.M., and Thomas will serve at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly, Ridgecrest, N.C.

German Baptists Offer Fellowship To Olympic Attendants

German Baptists will provide a meeting place for Baptists from all over the world during the Summer Olympics in Munich, August 26-September 10.

The English-speaking Munich Baptist Church, Munich, located at Holzstrasse 9, is offering its facilities as a place where Olympic participants and spectators may find information, consultation, relaxation, and fellowship. Television sets will be available for those who wish a comfortable, overall view of the Games. A snack bar will offer refreshments.

The German Baptist committee planning for the Olympics is scheduling special events for several evenings during the period. These events will major on entertainment while sounding an evangelistic note. (EBPS)

Stolen Organ Recovered For Albuquerque Church

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—When burglars broke into Bethany United Presbyterian church and took a $1300 organ recently, the Rev. Howard L. Holland made a special appeal for its recovery.

His congregation had put on a series of fund-raising events last year to purchase the organ and they had made the final payment just a few days before the burglary.

Sheriff's detectives Cody Prestwood and Dan Lundy were so anxious to help that they worked during off-duty hours to check out all possible leads in the case. They found the organ in a house near the University of New Mexico campus and returned it to the church. (RNS)

First church, Chattanooga, honored Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kosanke at a reception recently upon his retirement as minister of education. Kosanke has served in Baptist work for over 40 years and was at the Chattanooga church for 11 years. He has held positions at eight other churches in Mississippi, Oklahoma, and North Carolina. He served as president of the Tennessee Religious Education Association and vice-president of the Southeastern Religious Education Association. Mrs. Kosanke has been active in the music and educational areas of the churches in which her husband has served.

Where Do We Stand On Alcoholism?

One of the major inconsistencies of the American people, we believe, is that which relates to our attitudes on alcohol. Dr. Morris Chafetz, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, has termed alcoholism the nation's greatest drug problem, which afflicts nearly 10 million Americans and takes $15 billion from our economy annually. Multiply by several times the number of people affected indirectly by this 10-million core, and the magnitude of the problem comes into focus even more sharply. Chafetz said that the alcohol abuse problem dwarfs that of heroin or any other drug, but that "American society and most of the health professions consciously push alcohol problems under the rug. Alcoholism is mistakenly looked upon as a character deficiency instead of a treatable illness," Chafetz asserted.

The Chafetz report indicated that alcohol was the direct or indirect cause of nearly half of all arrests in the United States, and of 28,000 deaths annually on the highway. Other figures taken from the story in Baptist And Reflector for March 2, 1972 indicated that heavy drinkers shorten their life span by 10 to 12 years, and that time lost from work costs industry about $10 billion annually. Health, welfare and property damage accounted for an additional $5 billion.

This problem we are told, exists among 12 per cent of American adults who are heavy drinkers, 41 per cent classed as light drinkers. Thirty-two per cent of our population we are told do not drink at all.

If these facts are accurate, and we have no reason to doubt them, then we ask why, in Heaven's name, do we not take some remedial action?

We have heard incessantly and doubtless validly, about environmental problems. We have had drummed into our heads, and rightly so, the enormous dangers which face us in a "drug culture" which grows continually. Editorially, we have declared our belief that those who sell dangerous drugs, making the users addicts, should be punished severely. Our own opinion is that the laws should be much more strict with sellers than with at least first-time users. In the case of marijuana, a vacuum of misunderstanding and a lack of understanding concerning classification of the "weed" should be cleared up scientifically and definitely. Surely, with technology available to send men to the moon, we can determine in a laboratory and spell out specifically the effects of this drug as well as other drugs.

At this point, there comes the inevitable question. With so many laws on our books for prohibiting sale and use of dangerous drugs, and, with general agreement that alcohol is perhaps as detrimental as other drugs which carry severe penalties for use, why can we not do something to curb the use of alcohol??? We believe that Dr. Chafetz is correct when he asserted that the alcohol problem has been consciously swept under the rug. Vested interests have seen to it that their business is protected. The American public has cooperated both by heavy use of alcoholic beverages as well as by a do-nothing attitude.

We can put a person in jail for a period of time for smoking marijuana—and we are against the use of this or any other drug—and at the same time we can license a saloon or beer hall in every county in Tennessee! What has happened to our reasoning and logic at this point?

Every effort which can be made should be made to curb and eliminate the use of dangerous drugs. If alcohol is in this category, then why not treat it as such? Are we afraid? Are we so wrapped up in a culture which has accepted alcoholism as part of the "scene"?

Or, are we so much a part of our culture that we won't fight something we use? It has been a strong feeling of this editor for many years that a good portion of the liquor business in America would fold up if Baptists would quit patronizing the liquor establishments!

Let us as Baptists, as Christians, be honest with ourselves. We could wish that the Christian community would at this point be honest with itself. Alcoholism is indeed a drug problem of enormous scope. The effects of this problem defy adequate and accurate calculation. Let us not be hypocrites, and condemn other drugs—which do need condemnation—and at the same time condone the use of, and use alcoholic beverages.

It is time for us to be realistic about alcohol, its effects, the problems it creates, and our own inconsistencies about dealing with this problem. Someone has said that the child does what the parent say do until about age 14. After that the child does what the parent does! We could set better examples in several directions. This is one area where the examples need setting, and right now. Shame on the parent who stands amazed when the police reports the child is under the influence of drugs,—if the parent meets the police at the door with his wine glass or liquor bottle in hand, figuratively speaking.

It is past time for us to recognize alcoholism for what it is and act accordingly. (JAL)

Request Should Be Heeded

Prayerful consideration and attention should be given to the statement from the Administrative Committee of the Executive Board of the Tennessee Baptist Convention, which appears on page five.

This committee, charged with responsibility for presenting to the Executive Board the name of a prospective Executive Secretary-Treasurer for that Board, is requesting earnestly the prayers of Tennessee Baptists. Additionally, the suggestion of names for this most important position is solicited.

As indicated recently, only the leadership of the Holy Spirit will provide the right answers to and for Tennessee Baptists in this matter. If we seek earnestly to know the will of God, then we shall be, we believe, within His will in this and all other matters.

Administrative Committee Requests Prayers, Suggestions For Secretary

By J. William Harbin

The Administrative Committee of the Executive Board of the Tennessee Baptist Convention, charged with the responsibility of securing a new executive secretary-treasurer to be elected by the Executive Board, has had three very excellent meetings. They began their first meeting on their knees in prayer, asking for God's direction upon their work. A marvelous spirit of unanimity prevails in the committee.

The fifteen members of the committee are as follows:

J. William Harbin, pastor, First Baptist Church, Maryville
O. M. Dangeau, pastor, First Baptist Church, McKenzie
Carl Allen, pastor, First Baptist Church, Hohenwald
James Canaday, pastor, Central Baptist Church, Johnson City
R. Paul Caudill, pastor, First Baptist Church, Memphis
William E. Crook, layman (grocer), Nashville
Wade E. Darby, pastor, First Baptist Church, Jefferson City
James Jennings, layman (car dealer), Woodbury
O. Wyndell Jones, pastor, First Baptist Church, Trenton
R. Raymond Lloyd, pastor, Ridgedale Baptist Church, Chattanooga
Ralph Norton, pastor, Red Bank Baptist Church, Chattanooga
Carroll C. Owen, pastor, First Baptist Church, Paris
C. Winfield Rich, minister of education, Temple Baptist Church, Memphis
Clarence Stewart, pastor, First Baptist Church, Pulaski
Courtney Wilson, pastor, First Baptist Church, Hendersonville

This committee is very anxious for the entire constituency of the Tennessee Baptist Convention to feel a part of this important undertaking. Tennessee Baptists may participate in the work in two very definite ways.

FIRST, they are urged to pray for the leadership of the Holy Spirit in the selection of the new executive secretary-treasurer. The Administrative Committee would like to ask that every member of the churches in our convention join in a chain of prayer at 7:30 a.m. daily—or any other time you may wish to select. But by all means pray.

SECOND, they are invited to suggest names of various men you feel would make a good executive secretary-treasurer for Tennessee Baptists. The committee wants to hear from you. Please send your suggested name or names in writing, along with a brief biographical sketch, to the chairman of the Administrative Committee:

Dr. J. William Harbin
First Baptist Church
Maryville, Tennessee 37801

He will bring the various names to the committee at the next meeting.

By all means remember this important Administrative Committee in your prayers as they prayerfully and diligently seek God's man to succeed our beloved Executive Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. W. Fred Kendall, who will retire at the end of this year.

(Editor's Note: This statement was drafted by Dr. Harbin after the Administrative Committee voted unanimously to present this information to the constituency of the Tennessee Baptist Convention.)

Liquor Sales To Expand?

Caution should be taken in an evaluation of House Bill No. 1597. This bill, in House Committee at this writing, would legalize the sale of miniature packages of alcoholic beverages not exceeding 2 ounces each. This proposal would permit sale of these "minis" by retail liquor stores, and would extend the sale of the two-ounce bottles to "convention centers." Covered also by the proposal is the sale of these "minis," at any hotel or restaurant with live band or entertainment from 11 a.m. until 3 a.m.

While the proposed bill is applicable to counties with over 250,000 population in which the sale of alcoholic beverages has been legalized and approved under provisions of Chapter 1, Title 57, Tennessee Code Annotated, it has inherent dangers.

An explanation of these dangers is quite simple: This bill, if approved, would open the door for an amendment at a future session of the Legislature which could permit any city with legalized liquor stores to sell the miniatures. This would allow, obviously, an extension of liquor-by-the-drink to all cities which now have package sales. It opens the doors yet wider for full-scale liquor traffic. We hope that it does not become law!

'Queen Of The Dark Chamber' Film Set For Spring Release

By Linda B. Kines

Mrs. Rosalie Hunt, Southern Baptist missionary to Taiwan, practices a scene from the Christian film "Queen of the Dark Chamber," in which she had a leading role. Mrs. Hunt and her husband, Bob, minister to students on the island of Taiwan. They were living in Booneville, Miss., where he was Baptist Student Union director for Northeast Mississippi Junior college, before appointment by the Foreign Mission Board in 1961.

Southern Baptist missionary Rosalie Hunt temporarily became a movie star in Taiwan to film a Christian witness for Chinese overseas and in the States.

Mrs. Hunt portrayed a pioneer missionary to China in the 50-minute, color film "Queen of the Dark Chamber," based on an autobiography of the same title by Christiana Tsai.

Originally made in the Mandarin Chinese dialect with English subtitles, the film will be ready for release this spring with soundtracks in English and in the Cantonese and Amoy dialects.

"My husband Bob thought the movie's title sounded like an X-rated film," Mrs. Hunt said.

"Queen of the Dark Chamber" is what Christiana Tsai, a famous Chinese "Bible woman," once called herself, realizing she would have to spend the rest of her life in a darkened room because malaria germs had infected her eyes and made light agonizingly painful. "Bible woman" was what the Chinese called one who gave her whole time to witnessing.

"As a child, I lived with my Southern Baptist missionary parents in China just 40 miles from where the actual events in the book and movie took place," Mrs. Hunt said.

She lived in Kiangsu Province, China, five years altogether.

Mrs. Hunt was suggested for a leading role by Andrew Ho, a graduate of Taiwan Baptist Theological seminary. He was studying in the States when asked by the Chinese Christian Mission, Inc., in Detroit, Mich., to produce a Chinese movie in Taiwan.

Ho was looking for someone "fairly young and able to speak Mandarin Chinese" for the part of Mary Lehman, Christiana Tsai's lifelong friend.

Mary Lehman, with Christiana Tsai's help, finished what her missionary father had begun—a Bible that all China could read. Miss Tsai assisted in putting phonetic symbols in the text.

Mrs. Hunt said she reread the autobiography before filming and tried to feel the events in Mary Lehman's life.

"I could especially rejoice with Mary Lehman in the completion of the phonetic Bible because I, too, had struggled through trying to learn to speak and read Chinese," Mrs. Hunt said.

Mrs. Hunt noted that "Mary Lehman" presented many challenges to the movie's makeup and wardrobe crew.

"It was amazing that no matter what I wore, I always came out looking like a Chinese because the makeup artist had never worked on foreigners before," said Mrs. Hunt.

"However," she continued, "it was just as well, because Mary Lehman had always dressed in Chinese fashion in real life."

In early scenes Mrs. Hunt was to be about 25 years old, which "suited her fine but didn't last long."

"I wore braids then, but aged quickly—30, 40, 45—and finally to 55, complete with 'missionary bun' and rimless glasses," Mrs. Hunt said.

Mary Lehman as a child was portrayed by Mrs. Hunt's daughter Alice.

"Alice was already 11," Mrs. Hunt said, "but she said she would shrink obligingly and look the part of a 10-year-old."

The cameramen and crew gave Alice directions in Chinese, but this did not hamper filming since she had been speaking Mandarin from the age of three.

The film took a month to make in locations with "genuine Old China flavor" during the "sometimes unbearably" hot summer of 1970.

Sequences with Christiana and Mary in the "dark chamber," a small room with only one small door and the windows covered with black curtains, caused special problems for "Mary Lehman."

"There always seemed to be 15 or 20 camera and crew men crowded into the tiny room with us," Mrs. Hunt said. It was at

When Words Became Enemies Of Understanding

I hope we can achieve a moratorium on the use of the words liberal and conservative on this campus. I am persuaded by observation and experience that the damage caused by the use of these words far exceeds the value of the communication they foster. Among intimate friends, thoroughly familiar with one another's connotations and intent, these words may convey a clear meaning. But when these labels go out into the world to be repeated by others less knowledgeable and intimate, they become the enemies of understanding. So many different meanings proceed under these labels—political, religious, and otherwise.

Under the category of "otherwise" are the characterizations of my children, who say I am liberal with love and praise but conservative with allowance and the family car. When we are tempted to employ these labels, I suggest that we substitute more precise descriptions. The possibilities include "loyal or disloyal," "dynamic or immovable," "wise or unwise," and scores of others.

Baptist Secretaries' Workshop Scheduled

A workshop for Baptist secretaries and their bosses will be held Monday, Mar. 13, at Judson Memorial church in Nashville. The event is sponsored jointly by the Nashville Baptist Secretaries Association and the state Church Training Department.

The program will include a joint meeting with bosses and secretaries, a luncheon, and an afternoon workshop for the secretaries. Workshop leaders will include: Idus Owensby, consultant, Church Administration, Baptist Sunday School Board; Mrs. Peggy Clark, Business Administration Department, Belmont college; and Miss Kay Culbertson, State Librarian and archivist. Activities will run from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

such times that the "occidental in her rose to the fore."

"Christiana lay on the bed clothed in heavy black satin with long sleeves, under a wool blanket, serenely smiling, calm and cool," Mrs. Hunt explained.

"Next to Christiana sat Mary Lehman in a much thinner dress and no blanket, literally dripping with perspiration," she said. "They often had to hold the camera while a makeup girl carefully blotted my face."

Christiana Tsai, who is in her 80s, and Mary Lehman, in her 90s, are both living today at the Lehman family home in Paradise, Pa., said Mrs. Hunt. The producer consulted both before the story was filmed.

Chinese and American actors in the movie gave their time without pay. Southern Baptist missionaries Herb and Emma Jean Barker played Mary Lehman's parents in the film.

Alumni Are Honored By Union University

McMamore Guy Warmath

Three alumni of Union university received awards during Homecoming activities on the campus recently.

Chancellor Brooks McMamore of Jackson, received the Distinguished Alumnus Award for service to the college. A past president of the Alumni Association, Chancellor McMamore was cited by Union for his work on numerous committees and boards. He was appointed Chancellor in 1960.

Robert Calvin Guy, a faculty member at Southwestern seminary, was awarded Union's Distinguished Service Award for achievement in profession. Guy has been professor of missions at the seminary since 1946. He was cited by Union as "an ambassador for Christ to the World."

The Distinguished Faculty-Staff Award of the college went to William Walter Warmath of the administrative staff. He was elected a Union vice president in 1963 to head a newly-organized Development Department. The department has raised approximately $2 million under his leadership, and annual unrestricted support to Union has increased from $17,000 in 1963-64 to $212,000 in 1970-71.

Raymond "Buddy" Boston, Humboldt, immediate past president of the Alumni Association, presided at the awards banquet.

Divine-Human Nature Of The Church

By T. B. Maston

Professor of Christian Ethics, Retired
Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

To the church of God which is at Corinth (1 Cor. 1:2; 2 Cor. 1:1, RSV).

These words suggest that the church is a divine-human institution: "The church of God," its divine nature; "which is at Corinth," its human nature.

A church at Corinth or anywhere else cannot escape its location and the impact of the location on it. A church is also human in the people it reaches and serves. They are very real men and women with distinctive peculiarities, limitations, and sins. To minister to them effectively the church must speak to their needs.

But the church in the contemporary period, as well as in New Testament days, is also a divine institution. It receives its mission or commission and its message from God.

We may be members of a church in the open country, in the village, in a suburb, or of the First Baptist church of Atlanta, Birmingham, Charlotte, or Dallas. Let us never forget, however, that it is "the church of God." Our churches cannot keep from being influenced by the culture in which they find themselves but being churches of

Book Kept Over Four Years Returned To Chilhowee

Double dividends were appreciated doubly when a check for $23.00 and a book arrived at the library of Harrison-Chilhowee academy recently.

According to a spokesman at the school, Michael Parks, a student there in 1967 had acquired a book from the library entitled, Paul Revere and the World He Lived In. Before completing the reading, Parks transferred from Harrison-Chilhowee to a high school in West Tennessee. He took the book with him, accidentally.

Near the beginning of this year his letter, book, and check for $23.00 was received with the following explanation:

"The book has been sent back to your school with the enclosed library fine over the period of 4.41 years. Please accept this fine as a donation to your school, and accept the book as giving me a better understanding in early American History."

God they must not be dominated by the culture or become defenders of the culture. As God's churches they are to deliver God's message to the culture.

Let us apply the challenge that comes to churches because of their divine-human nature in one particular area. How can any church claim to be the church of God if it closes its door because of class or color to any man or woman, boy or girl whom the God of the church has accepted?

TREASURER'S REPORT—FIRST QUARTER TENNESSEE BAPTIST CONVENTION

November 1, 1971—January 31, 1972

Tennessee Baptists have continued the fine record in the beginning of the new Convention year with which they closed the old year. This report reflects the indications of the revival spirit in the churches. This quarter's receipts perhaps sets a new record. There is a very fine increase in both the Cooperative Program and in designated and reported giving. Designated giving is largely Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions.

The same form of reporting is used in listing the churches which have given, arranging them by associations. Receipts for Cooperative Program and designated and reported receipts are reported as listed. Gifts from chapels and missions are listed with the church which sponsors them. Church treasurers will check the report with your records and if they do not agree please report it to this office at once.

CBS Responds To Resolution By SBC Executive Committee

NASHVILLE—An official of Columbia Broadcasting System, in a telegram to the Southern Baptist Convention's Executive Committee here, has denied that the television network plans to show X and R-rated movies on television.

The telegram came in response to a resolution adopted three days earlier by the Executive Committee expressing opposition to reported plans by the network to carry such movies on late night television.

"You and your Executive Committee have been sadly and grossly misinformed," said John Cowden, vice president for information services at CBS in New York in a telegram to Porter Routh, executive secretary of the SBC Executive Committee.

"CBS has not—repeat—not made any announcements that it has 'purchased a large number of X and R-rated movies' because CBS has made no such purchase and has no intention of doing so," the telegram said.

"On Monday night, Feb. 28, on 'The CBS Late Movie,' we will be showing a severely and heavily edited version of 'The Damned.' This motion picture was given an X-rating for its original theatrical release, but the portions to which you refer which earned the X-rating have been either totally edited out or so minimized as to be only implied," Cowden stated.

"The edited version is well within restrictions of the television code to which we subscribe," the telegram said. "More than that it is within CBS standards which are even more restrictive and stringent in many areas than the industry's code." (BP)

Hardin-Simmons Coach Killed In Auto Crash

ABILENE, Tex. — Glen Whitis, head basketball coach and athletic director at Hardin-Simmons university here, was killed in a head-on collision with a grain truck about five miles south of the Baptist school.

Whitis' basketball team had defeated Abilene Christian college just a little over 24 hours before his death for its 13th victory of the season.

A former star player at Howard Payne college, Brownwood, Tex., Whitis coached at the Brownwood school for 15 years before moving to Hardin-Simmons in 1970. His Howard Payne team won Lone Star Conference championships three of his last five years and achieved national recognition.

Funeral services were held at First church, Abilene, where Whitis was an active member. (BP)

Baptist Leaders Discuss Growth Priority, Simplification

The third Church Services and Materials Division Presidents' Conference met recently at the Baptist Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention to discuss priority of growth and simplification of materials and programs, according to Carl Perry, minister of music, First church, Knoxville, and president of the Southern Baptist Church Music Conference. David Ward, associate pastor of First church, Knoxville, and president of the Eastern Religious Education Association, also attended the conference which was held for state presidents of music, religious education and pastors' conferences.

Program personalities included Allen B. Comish, director of the church services and materials division of the board, Morton Rose, assistant to the director, Howard B. Colson, editorial secretary, and others.

Comish told conference attendants that "Right now, we believe the churches want a simplified, workable, practical approach to their materials and programs." He con-

Bill Would Allow Sale Of Miniature Bottles

A bill presently under consideration in the Tennessee House of Representatives will, if passed, authorize the sale of alcoholic beverages in miniature by retail liquor stores in four major counties in the state. (The "miniatures" would be not more than two (2) ounces of alcoholic beverages packaged in any type of sealed container.

The proposed bill provides that these miniatures be purchased from retail liquor stores and provides an allowance for further extension of liquor sales in miniatures to convention centers and hotels and restaurants with live band or entertainment.

The bill, which has been assigned to a State and Local Government Committee for study, would apply to counties with over 250,000 population in which the sale of alcoholic beverages has been legalized.

tinued, "We will provide variety, thus enabling churches to fit the program and materials to their immediate situation and needs."

POSTAL REQUESTS

Three major religious press associations have filed a legal brief in Washington which challenges the recommendations by the Postal Rate Commission Hearing Examiner for major increases in second-class non-profit postage rates.

The brief listed two major exceptions to the examiner's agreement with U.S. Postal Service requests for rate increases. The attorney who filed the brief for the Associated Church Press, the Evangelical Press Association, and the Catholic Press Association said that the postal service examiner stressed one criterion, attributable costs, of eight criteria Congress mandated for consideration in setting rates, without considering the other seven. The brief challenged also the examiner's decision by saying that it "takes total exception to the substance and form" of it.

James A. Doyle, CPA executive director, said that the postal service is using "attributable costs" as a floor—below which rates cannot go—instead of a ceiling as outlined by Congress which would permit lower rates.

Census Report: U.S. Soon Will Report 'Zero Population Growth'

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The new Census Bureau study shows that the nation is fast approaching "zero" population growth" among women 18-24 years old.

Between 1967 and 1971, the average number of children expected by wives 18 to 24 dropped from 2.9 to 2.4—the sharpest drop since 1955 when birth expectation statistics were first published. The fertility rate for all women in this age group, married and single, is estimated at 2.2 children. This figure is short of zero population growth—the rate needed simply to replace deaths is 2.1 children—but the drop in birth rate is considered striking by the Census Bureau.

One implication of the new findings is that if the rate of 2.4 children per wife continues, the total population in the U.S. in the year 2000 will be about 280 million compared to the present population of 208 million.

If the 2.9 rate had continued, the population in the year 2000 could have been 305 million. These figures do not take immigration into account.

The census report also showed a dramatic increase in the number of young wives who want two children or fewer. In 1967, only 44 per cent wanted families of such size. In 1971, the figure leaped to 64 per cent.

Two broad reasons were given by the report for the sharp and rapid drop in birth expectations among younger wives. The average age of marriage among women rose from 20.3 to 20.9 years between 1960 and 1971. At the same time the proportion of women who are single at ages 20 to 24 jumped from 28 to 37 per cent.

The census report was based on interviews with 15,000 wives, 18 to 39 years old, from 50,000 households last June. The report is based on a combination of figures—those for children already born and those for total expected family size by wives in the survey.

Among all wives between ages 18 to 39, the average expectation figure in 1971 was 2.8 children, compared with 3.1 in 1967.

Demographic experts also cite as reasons for the declining birth rate the rapid increase in the number of working women, the women's liberation movement and the "marriage squeeze"—a short-term current phenomenon occurring as young women born during the post-war baby boom reach marriageable age and find a shortage of older men, born during the low birth depression and war years.

Concern with population control is also said to be a factor, and becomes increasingly possible because of improved contraception and recent liberalization of abortion laws. (RNS)

SIMPLE SERMONS ON CONVERSION AND COMMITMENT

"There are two sides to the Christian Life," says Dr. Ford. "First there must be conversion, a salvation experience with Jesus Christ. Second, there should be a growth in grace until the day the Lord takes us home. In these sermons I have sought to cover both of these phases."

A few of the sermons are: Sixty Seconds After Salvation • God's Last Invitation • God's Danger Signal • Twelve Hours to Live. Cloth, $2.95

The Spirit Empowers The Church

By Dr. Charles Ausmus, Pastor
Lincoln Park Baptist Church, Knoxville

Acts 2:1-4, 14-21

PENTECOST

In the Old Testament Pentecost was an agricultural feast, which celebrated the termination of the grain harvest. With the Jews it was the Feast of Weeks, but within the Hellenistic Jewish circles it was called Pentecost, which in the Greek language meant fiftieth. The Jews of the dispersion came to Pentecost in greater numbers than attended the Passover, and Pentecost was the next most important festival after Passover. It was a very strategic time for the manifestation of God's power in the community of believers.

Here is Luke's account of the gift of the Holy Spirit to inaugurate the witnessing ministry of the first church. Pentecost demonstrated the power of God working among men to bring to realization the promised blessings of the gospel. Pentecost marked the releasing of the redemptive power of Christ among men; the redemptive power made possible through the death and resurrection of Jesus. Pentecost was a revelation of truth, manifestation of power, expression of love, and demonstration of joy.

PROMISE

The coming of the spirit on the day of Pentecost was the fulfilment of God's promise. Jesus had commanded them to wait for "The promise of the Father" (Acts 1:4), and assured them that they would be "baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days hence" (Acts 1:5). The promise was one of power to do the work of witnessing (Acts 1:8).

When Simon Peter delivered the message which begins in Acts 2:14 he reminded the people that what happened here is what the prophet Joel promised long ago. (Joel 2:28-32) The promises in Acts reaffirms the promise recorded by Luke in the gospel (24:49).

During the closing days of Christ's earthly ministry he made many promises concerning the coming and working of the Holy Spirit. In John 14:17, 15:26 He is promised as the spirit of truth to teach and guide. In John 16:8-15 Jesus said he would send the paraclete to his followers and he would convict the world in regard to sin. Peter closed his sermon by saying "The promise is unto you—even as many as the Lord our God shall call" (2:39). This promise ties in with the forgiveness of sins and the gift of the Holy Spirit (2:38).

PREPARATION

The early church prepared for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. The first step in preparation was obedience. In Acts 1:4 Jesus commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem but wait for the promise of the Father. They obeyed the Lord, stayed in Jerusalem, waited in the upper room.

Prayer was the next step in preparation. In 1:14 "These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication." If we expect the power of the spirit in our churches today there must be unity, dedication, obedience, and prayer. Jesus taught in Luke 11:13 that the Father would give the holy spirit to them that ask him. Let us wait in the right place, in the right fellowship, in prayer and supplication, and in the study of the scriptures.

POWER

We live in an age of power. Witness the take-off of a mighty jet plane powered by four great jet motors. Think of the power that lifts the great rockets from their launching pad. Think of the power of atomic energy. Yet, let me say in all humility, there is no power loose or harnessed in this universe so great and effective as the power of God's spirit. Only the spirit of God can convict a soul of sin. Only the Holy Spirit has the power to regenerate, recreate and make us a new creation in Christ. "It is not by power nor by might, but by my spirit saith the Lord. (Zech. 4:6)

The signs accompanying the pouring out of the spirit on the church indicate power. The "sound of a rushing mighty wind"—must have been a sound similar to a tornado. A tornado is practically irresistible in its power. The same word in the Greek New Testament is used for wind and spirit. The sound of wind—"mighty and rushing" must have meant to symbolize the power of the spirit, the power by which the disciples were to witness to Jesus and his saving grace.

The "tongues parting asunder as of fire" evidently meant to symbolize the power of preaching, teaching, and testimony which the disciples were to engage in. "They spoke in tongues as the spirit gave them utterance" they were given power by the Holy Spirit to speak in other languages so that all present could hear the good news of the gospel. The wind symbolized the activity of the spirit and fire symbolized divine presence.

When you consider the power of the spirit, keep in mind the spirit is the defender of the church's faith, the inspirer of the church's service, and the bond of church unity. The spirit empowered them to proclaim and witness, and as Peter preached in

Chiang's Pastor Dies At 96; Methodist Had Colorful Career

TAIPEI—Dr. Wei-ping Chen, personal pastor to President and Madam Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China for many years, died here on Feb. 25. He was 96.

The Methodist clergyman also had a long career in theological education and as a diplomat.

Dr. Chen retired from the pastorate in 1956 at the age of 80 but continued to take an active part in the work of his denomination on Taiwan.

He was born in 1876 in Peking and began his ministry in his home city. Dr. Chen survived the Boxer Rebellion in 1900 although several members of his family did not. (RNS)

Participants in an "Eat and Trim" club are slimming their waistlines and giving the church one dollar for every pound lost.

As of Feb. 18, 1619 pounds had been lost and $1619 gained for the church. The money is used for both local and overseas ministries through the Disciples of Christ. (RNS)

Which Twin Gave The Sermon Sunday?

WESTLAND, Mich.—When it comes to preachers, members of the Norwayne Baptist church's congregation in this Detroit suburb seem to agree with the author of Ecclesiastes (4:9) that "two are better than one."

Stephen and Robert Case, 20-year-old twin brothers, serve the American Baptist Convention church as co-pastors.

When they first began serving at the church in January, parishioners had trouble telling who was who, since both wear similar horn-rimmed glasses and a patch of hair combed down to the top of the spectacles.

Now, however, members of the congregation have learned to tell them apart. Such visual aids as Stephen's parting his hair on the left and Robert on the right, and Stephen's lapping his tie over without a knot whereas Robert ties his traditionally, have helped.

The two sons of the pastor of Dearborn, Mich., Calvary Baptist church, outline their duties in writing each month to avoid conflicts and share the $500 monthly salary. They have been licensed to preach but are not yet ordained.

Both young men are studying at the University of Michigan at Dearborn as political science majors. They began their studies at Judson Baptist college, Elgin, Ill., and hope to complete their last year there.

Among those who still have difficulty distinguishing the two men is Anne Wagner, Robert's girl friend.

"I talked to Steve the other day on the phone 10 minutes before I found it wasn't Bob," she said. (RNS)

Swiss Catholics Now Outnumber Protestants

BERN—Roman Catholics now outnumber Protestants in Switzerland for the first time since the Protestant Reformation in the 16th Century.

A Swiss Radio report said the 1970 census revealed that there are 3,100,000 Catholics as compared with 2,990,000 members of Protestant Churches. This represents an increase of 58 per cent in the Catholic population since the last census taken 20 years ago.

The major reason for this upsurge in Catholic population, the broadcast said, is the influx of Italian and Spanish Catholic immigrants who work in Switzerland.

It pointed out that if account were taken only of Swiss citizens, then Protestants are still in the majority, "although here, too, Catholics were growing in numbers." (RNS)

Kay Elected President Of Western RE Association

MILL VALLEY, Calif.—Richard Kay, director of the Church Services Division of the Southern Baptist General Convention of California, was elected president of the Western Religious Education Association meeting for its 20th annual session here.

Kay succeeds Wayne C. Reynolds, minister of education and music for First Southern Baptist Church, Sacramento, Calif.

President-elect for the association will be Geil Davis, associate professor of religious education at Golden Gate Baptist Theological seminary here, where sessions were held.

With an emphasis on "youth" during the 20th anniversary sessions, the three-day conference featured lectures, seminars and reaction groups which met immediately following a youth music workshop at the seminary. A church building seminar also met during the week. (BP)

Children's Homes

What Is A Memorial Gift?

By James M. Gregg,
Executive Director-Treasurer

A memorial gift to the Children's Home is an appropriate remembrance to a loved one or friend. It is a beautiful way to help care for needy and dependent children and at the same time express a sincere sentiment of sympathy to friends in sorrow.

This thoughtful gift helps feed, clothe, educate, provide medical care, and a Christian home and way of life for youngsters who because of circumstances beyond their control, must be separated from their own homes and loved ones.

When the gift is received, a personal letter is sent to the family in sorrow as a thoughtful expression of sympathy informing them of the remembrance it represents. The person making the gift also receives a letter acknowledging the contribution and the memorial with a receipt. The cash gift which may be in any amount is a lasting memorial for it is an investment in the lives of boys and girls.

Sunday School classes and departments, WMU groups, churches, deacons, families, friends and relatives are using this relatively new form of stewardship to extend the kingdom of God. Hundreds of Tennessee Baptists have given memorial gifts to the Baptist Children's Homes this past year.

Your memorial gifts may be mailed to the central office, P. O. Box 647, Brentwood, Tennessee 37027. Be sure to give us the name and address of the survivor to whom we should write.

Mrs. Tom Ferguson, 74, a member of First church, Kingston, is interested in missions; so interested that she rode her tri-bike to her church for special services during the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions in December. Mrs. Ferguson plans to do the same thing this week during the Week of Prayer for Home Missions. In order to get to her church, she must pedal down Highway 70 and across the Clinch River bridge to town; but she says it is worth the ride to see the work done by missions in America and throughout the world. The goal of First church, Kingston, for the Week of Prayer for Home Missions and the Annie Armstrong offering is $900. "With people like Mrs. Ferguson, I think we can reach, and even go over our goal," stated Mrs. Lennie Stansbury, church WMU Director.

Christian Life Commission

SALT 72 Conferences Slated In St. Louis

A Christian Life Commission National Seminar, entitled SALT 72, is scheduled to be held next week in St. Louis at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel.

According to Elmer West Jr., director of Program Development for the Commission, the format has been developed in response to suggestions from many seminar participants of recent years requesting a conference "in which we can discuss ways of applying the Gospel through the church and provide leaders who are actually doing the job at the local level." The theme, SALT 72, is taken from Matthew 5:13: "Ye are the salt of the earth."

West stated, "In developing this program we are focusing all addresses and discussions on the application of the Gospel to the total needs of persons and to the social structures which affect vitally the physical, emotional, and spiritual well being of individuals and families. Leaders will be dealing with Christian social concerns which include social ministry and social action."

Seminar speakers scheduled include Gordon Cosby, pastor, The Church of the Saviour, Washington, D.C.; John R. Claypool, pastor, Broadway church, Fort Worth; Robert Oldenburg, minister of youth education, First church, San Antonio; Kelly Miller Smith, pastor, First church, Capitol Hill, Nashville; Mrs. Monte Clendinning, Atlanta; Hull Youngblood, president, Southern Steel Company, San Antonio; and Richard E. Myers, pastor, University church, Charlottesville, Va.

The seminar will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday, March 13, and run through noon on Wednesday.

SHADOW OF THE CROSS

By W. R. White

Baylor University, Waco, Texas

Basic Passage: Luke 22:1-7

Focal Passages: Luke 22:19-20, 24-27, 39-46

Jesus was moving rapidly into the shadow of the cross. In fact, He was in the outer shadows at the time of our lesson. He was very much aware of it but his disciples were slow to see it or believe it.

Our Lord was preparing Himself and seeking to prepare His disciples for it. He passed the great agonies as the shadows grew more dense. The disciples, while not accepting the inevitable at this period, were growing more confused.

In spite of the great sacrificial system and ceremonies which were meant to point to the cross for fulfillment and real meaning and should have prepared the disciples for the supreme sacrifice, it did only in a partial way.

The significance of everything began to dawn on the disciples as they reflected more and more on the great fulfillment and crisis. Even after His death the deeper significance penetrated their minds slowly.

MEMORIAL AND PROPHETIC

SYMBOLS Luke 22:19-20

Jesus replaced the passover meal with the Lord's Supper. The symbol is of the New Testament, is very simple and involves only two ordinances. Whatever may be said about the Lord's supper, it is symbolic, memorial and prophetic. The same basic things are reflected in the baptismal rite. The two point backward and forward—the two great events constituting the heart of the gospel are resurrection and the death of Christ.

The death of Christ is memorialized by the bread and the fruit of the vine. Christ was portraying in symbol what would soon take place before their eyes. The event symbolized by the bread is the broken body of our Lord while the fruit of the vine symbolizes the shed blood. This is to be reproduced up to the return of Christ. We are to remember for it is the communion of the body and blood of Christ. If we do not discern the bleeding, mangled body of Jesus Christ, we observe the memorial unworthily.

STRANGE DISSENSION

Luke 22:24-27

Strife broke out among the disciples as to who would be greatest in the kingdom of God. They were still very carnal and ambitious.

Yet this is very strange in an atmosphere so awesome and so searching. The solemn contemplation should have evaporated any such selfish thoughts.

Jesus pointed out to them that the struggle for position and pomp was a characteristic of the heathen. No such goal or practice should activate His disciples. In contrast they should vie with each other to see who would be the greatest servant. Service would be the badge of honor among them. The mark of distinction and discipleship should be love for each other.

THE AGONIZING PRELUDE

Luke 22:39-46

According to His custom, Jesus went to the Garden of Gethsemane. When He came to the place, He ordered them to wait there and He went a stone's throw farther. With great agony of soul, with the flesh weakened and the spirit willing, He asked if the cup might pass. The spirit won and He said, "Not my will but Thine be done". The bitter foretaste of death caused sweat to roll down like great drops of blood.

It was not another martyr's death that He faced. It was the voluntary death of the innocent for the guilty. It was to be substitutionary and redemptive. We needed it, the Father planned it and Jesus chose it.

The shadow of the cross was next to overwhelming. Jesus met it and said "Yes" for us.

The waiting disciples had not caught the real spirit of it all. They went sound asleep and He was disappointed. He bade them arise and pray lest they enter into temptation. We learned that they were exhausted from sorrow and fell asleep, yet it must have been human sorrow without spiritual understanding.

After Jesus had gone through His awful ordeal we learn that an angel ministered to Him, giving Him strength for this and the future. The disciples would have stayed awake had they prayed more. Great crises must be met with great praying.

Maryland Senate Passes Handgun Control Bills

ANNAPOLIS—By a vote of 30 to 13, the Maryland Senate passed a controversial handgun control bill and sent it to the House of Delegates, where observers expect it to win approval.

The measure, sponsored by Gov. Marvin Mandel, would prohibit wearing, transporting, or carrying of handguns without a permit. (Police officers, hunters, and target shooters would be exempted.) It would also authorize police to stop and frisk persons they suspected of carrying or transporting handguns. (RNS)

Why Wait?

By Jonas L. Stewart

Executive Secretary-Treasurer

You have intended to do it. Time has passed and it's still not done. The end of the year has come and gone. Unless you do it soon another year's end will have caught you in the same condition—unless tragedy strikes. Then it will be too late. You have not prepared a will yet?

A will is just as valuable—maybe more so—as your life insurance. You need to save every dime possible from your modest estate. A will is the only sure way to provide that the maximum will be saved for your family's use. Too, your minor children need to know that you care enough to direct the court to place them in a proper home. This may not happen if you die without a will.

Preparing a will is not a complicated matter for an attorney. It might be complicated at your death if you try to do it yourself. Our office will provide help for you in getting a Christian will prepared.

Why wait? It could be tragic. Write us for information about what we can do to help you in preparing a Christian will. There will be no cost to you for our help.

Sponsored by the board's Sunday School department, the conferences dealt primarily with materials for 1973-74.

Participants were Kenneth C. Hubbard, Manchester; Miss Sue Rother, Gayle Bone and Bob Agee, Memphis; Mrs. Dennis Conniff, Mrs. William R. Cox, Mrs. Stephen Manning, Mrs. Lillian Rice, Mrs. Bob R. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Heath, Annie Ward Byrd, Mrs. Franklin Farmer, John W. Mass Stay Of Execution Is Ordered In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Gov. Reubin Askew has granted a mass stay of execution to the 91 prisoners on Florida's "death row" until July 1, 1973.

"Recent court decisions and statistical studies have cast doubt upon the constitutionality and efficacy of the death penalty as a form of punishment," Gov. Askew said.

The moratorium here followed on the heels of a California Supreme Court decision that the state's capital punishment law was unconstitutional. Death sentences of 102 men and five women on California's "death row" was ordered reduced to life imprisonment. (RNS)

From the Executive Secretary

By W. Fred Kendall

During the year Tennessee Baptists receive four special mission offerings from the churches. These have been approved by the Convention and are always included in the calendar. Three of them have been the major concern of the Woman's Missionary Union but in more recent years have tended to become church offerings. These Offerings are the Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions, the Annie Armstrong Offering for Home Missions, the Golden State Mission Offering for State Missions, and the Mother's Day Offering for the Children's Homes.

This week is the time for the special week of prayer and the Annie Armstrong Offering for Home Missions. One of the things which concerns me very much is the decline in mission study in the churches. In former years there was time to spend an entire week in study with much time given to prayer for the different mission areas and workers. Special needs and problems were studied and these were also remembered in prayer.

In more recent years there has been a yielding to the strong fad of streamlining and taking the short cut. We have heard jokes—which I don't think are funny—about having a "week of prayer" in one afternoon or evening. Does this reflect the growing unconcern of the churches and their leadership? Or does it reflect a lack of knowledge of the great and urgent needs of our day? Could it be a growing lack of faith in prayer and the feeling that money is power and all that we need and that we can ignore God?

The continuing decline in the enrolment in the W.M.U.'s across the country is a symptom of something. We believe that it is a temporary readjustment to the many radical changes which have been made in the organization and in the literature and the methods of approach to the work. But we can not let the years go by without paying a great price.

Will you who read this make every effort to make Home Missions a major concern? The week is almost over but you can still do a lot of praying for the work of the Home Mission Board all across America. You can make a new resolve to revive the interest in missions in your church. You can bring a new emphasis on some real depth study which will produce some well informed and intelligent Baptists who know what our mission programs are, and who

AVOIDING PUNISHMENT LEAST EFFECTIVE SPUR

Middle-class teachers in ghetto schools must spell out their rules for classroom behavior explicitly if productive relationships are to be established between teacher and pupils, says Dr. David Elkind of the University of Rochester. The children must know exactly what is expected of them, if they are to be free to get down to work.

Children from higher income homes learn from early childhood that showing adults loyalty, working to achieve, and accepting greater responsibility will bring them rewards of emotional, intellectual and material support from grown-ups, he points out in School Review, the publication of University of Chicago's department of education.

Economically-pressed parents see good performance in these same areas as "essential to survival," and therefore are likely to threaten punishment for, or punish improper behavior—with the result that the child comes to school with avoidance of punishment, rather than expectation of reward, as his motivation.

"The avoidance of punishment is, of course, the least effective of all educational motivations," reminds Dr. Elkind.

our missionaries are, and what they are doing, and where the great white fields are which are crying out for Christ.

You can also give. We are living in the generation which has seen incomes reach the highest levels in history. Materialism has reached its greatest peak. Athletes are signing contracts for more than a million dollars. Baseball players are bargaining for salaries approaching two hundred thousand per year. Where does the church come in? Where does Christ and His mission efforts for world redemption come in? This is a wicked generation of lawlessness and sinfulness which are setting new records also.

Home Missions is the approach of Southern Baptists to the spiritual needs across our nation which the state conventions and the churches cannot meet. The History of the Home Mission Board has been a thrilling one. Let us pray that it is only a beginning and that the days ahead shall bear the greatest fruit of all for the glory of Christ and the salvation of millions who do not yet know Christ.

Catholic Mission Effort Urged For World's 6 Million Gypsies

ROME—Roman Catholic delegates to a meeting of the Pontifical Commission for Migration and Tourism here urged a special pastoral missionary effort among Europe's 6 million gypsies who, they said, "must be included among those needing sympathetic and specialized care."

Noting that other groups of migrants, tourists, seafarers, etc., already have their own missionaries who move with the groups from country to country, delegates pressed for an "early preparation and assignment" of priests, religious and laity to work among gypsies and other itinerant peoples. Wives Still Aid Mates In Financing Education

GRACEVILLE, Fla.—More than half of the wives of Baptist Bible Institute students, at Graceville, Fla., are holding full or part-time jobs to keep their husbands in school.

A survey showed that of 101 married men from the freshman class, 49 said that their wives were not enrolled as students and were working either in outside jobs or seeking work. There were 19 enrolled in classes and working either part-time or regular eight-hour shifts. Another 19 were enrolled in school and not working. Only 14 wives out of 101 were neither in school or secular work.

Of the 38 freshman wives enrolled part or full time in classes, all said that they see themselves as preparing to help their husbands. Most were seeking music education, although others major in religious education.

Baptist Bible Institute is affiliated with the Florida Baptist Convention. It does not offer degrees, but "if they did," as one working wife said, "maybe some of us who work should at least get a Ph.D. for 'putting hubby through.'"
