Hogue And Moorhead Slated For Youth Evangelism Conference

Youth evangelists Richard Hogue and Fenton Moorhead will highlight this year's list of speakers at the fifth statewide Youth Evangelism Conference, March 22-23, at the Vanderbilt Memorial Gymnasium in Nashville.

At 27 years of age, Hogue has been instrumental in leading more people to Christ than any other evangelist except Billy Graham. "Time" magazine called him "one of the nation's successful young evangelists." He has also been written about in "Newsweek," "Reader's Digest," and "Seventeen." In 1972, 33,484 people made public decisions for Christ in Richard Hogue crusades. In 1973, the young evangelist traveled over 150,000 miles conducting crusades and holding speaking engagements. He is the author of two books, "The Jesus Touch," and "Sex and the Jesus Kids."

A native of Oklahoma, Hogue attended Oklahoma Baptist University where he surrendered to preach during his junior year. In 1968 he entered full-time evangelism. Hogue has held several speaking engagements in Tennessee and was the speaker for the 1971 Youth Evangelism Conference in Nashville.

Moorhead is director of Love One Another Ministries, West Palm Beach, Fla.

'We've Come Of Age'

Entitled "We've come of Age" is a 12-minute, 16mm. film showing the need for the nation's elderly to join together for mutual self-help in our increasingly youth-oriented society.

It deals with the increasingly difficult problems faced by Americans as they grow old.

The film was produced by SCAD Promotions of New York City for the National Council of Senior Citizens and was awarded the gold medal at the 1973 International Film and TV Festival of New York for the Council's film on the United States' elderly.

This is not a religious film, but it shows what Senior Adults have been able to achieve in their efforts to improve their status in today's society. However, a church that is planning a Senior Adult program would gain an awareness of the needs of senior adults by viewing the film. It would help church leaders to see senior adults as a useful and responsible force in its ministry to the community.

The powerful movie "We've Come of Age" is available without charge to any Southern Baptist church in Tennessee or senior citizen's group by writing to: Gene Kerr, Assistant to the Executive Secretary-Treasurer, Tennessee Baptist Convention, P.O. Box 647, Brentwood, TN 37027.

At the December 7, 1973 Executive Board Meeting, the board approved the recommendation from the Committee on Aging that Gene Kerr serve as director of the program on aging for the Tennessee Baptist Convention.

Devotional

The Sound Of Silence

By Vernon E. Johnson, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Dunlap

Ecclesiastes 3:7b reminds us that there is "a time to keep silent and a time to speak." Man's great challenge is to be wise enough to be able to distinguish between those moments that call for silence and those occasions which demand our comments.

As a general rule a person's life will be more meaningful and less painful if the desire to speak is tempered with a time of silence and forethought.

Most of us are aware that some of our most complex problems result from speaking when we should have been silent. Robert J. Hastings speaks for many of us when he says in his book, A Nickle's Worth of Skim Milk, "I've done gone and said more than I should've." No individual has a monopoly on speaking out of turn, and most of us share guilt in this universal problem.

A good friend died several years ago in another state. I was told his death was caused by heart failure, but personally I always suspected his wife had talked him to death. As lovely a lady as this man's wife was I still believe her tongue was the nearest thing to perpetual motion I have ever witnessed.

Even our prayer life reveals our drive to dominate the conversation. We kneel down, speak up, get up and move on. Much would be gained spiritually if we could mature to the point of allowing God to squeeze a word in once in a while. After all, God knows our joys, fears and trials. What we need is silence as we listen to God as a part of our prayer experience.

We would do well to keep in mind Proverbs 11:12b, "a man of understanding remains silent." Also, Habakkuk 2:20 "The Lord is in His holy temple let all the earth keep silence before Him."

One of the sweetest sounds in life is the Sound Of Silence.

Pulpit To Pew

By Jim Griffith

As the story has it, an avid bird hunter bought his wife an expensive parrot that reputedly could speak seven languages.

When the bird arrived, she assumed that it was another exotic fowl from a hunting trip and proceeded to wring the parrot's neck, dress it, and put it in the oven.

Later, the husband called to check on the delivery of the bird and was told that it was in the oven cooking.

"In the oven!" he shouted. "Why, that was a parrot that could speak seven languages!"

"Then," protested his wife, "why didn't it say something?"

This is a good question. Regrettably, there are many Christians who can be silent in several languages—but vocal in none.

Therefore, the current clamor over "speaking in tongues" may not be the church's main concern. Our greatest concern is that most Christians don't use the one tongue they have to speak out for the glory of God.

Executive Committee Grants Approval For Boyce Bible School

NASHVILLE—The Southern Baptist Convention's Executive Committee approved a proposal by the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary board of trustees that a Ministry Training Center be established at the seminary.

Other action at the three-day meeting here included approval of a change in the Sunday School Board's formula for contribution to the convention's operating budget.

The proposal for the Ministry Training Center, to be called the Boyce Bible School, will be presented by the seminary's trustees to the annual SBC meeting in Dallas in June.

The Bible school will be financed within the seminary's regular budget according to Albert McClellan, director of program planning and associate executive secretary of the Executive Committee.

He said the seminary does not intend to charter a separate school but will operate the center as part of its non-degree academic program already in existence.

Southern Seminary first presented the idea of a non-degree Bible school in June, 1973, McClellan said. As then visualized, it would have required reviving the charter of the former Carver School of Missions and Seminary several years ago.

Social Work, which merged into Southern Under this procedure, the Bible school would have operated under a separate charter from the seminary, and objections arose that this could seem like another school was being formed.

With the revised concept, which must still win approval at the annual SBC session in Dallas in June, the seminary will operate within its own charter and seek to attract Southern Baptist pastors in Kentucky and surrounding states who have had little or no seminary training.

McClellan said 53 per cent of SBC pastors have not attended seminary.

The old Sunday School Board formula, adopted originally in 1959, provided that the Sunday School Board would contribute one dollar to the convention operating budget for every $3 to the program of Cooperative Education and Promotion Work with State Conventions. The new formula follows the same pattern for the first $1 million and 10 per cent of all contributions over that amount.

The new formula will permit the Sunday School Board to increase its help to Baptist state conventions in new SBC areas, where Southern Baptist numbers are small and churches need strengthening.

Sullivan said it will enable the board to provide funds to employ a minimum of two persons in each Baptist state convention to promote educational ministries related to the activities of the Sunday School Board.

Although most Baptist state conventions already have more than two persons engaged in work of this type, many new SBC conventions do not.

The new formula guarantees at least $300,000 a year from the board to the Convention Operating Budget, but the amount is expected to exceed this minimum guarantee.

The Executive Committee, in other developments, prior to devoting its last day to a report by its Committee of 15 on SBC agencies, also:

Paved the way for the Home Mission Board to shift work in Panama to the Foreign Mission Board by making appropriate terminology changes in the two agencies' program statements. That action must gain final approval from the SBC in June in Dallas.

Gave $34,608, plus any accrued interest, to Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Kansas City, from a bequest from the estate of the late Charles F. Hopkins. The funds will go to help ease a financial crisis at the seminary.

Set $715,000 as the total Convention Operating Budget, which includes budget of the SBC Executive Committee in Nashville, expenses for the annual SBC meeting, special committee expenses, legal and auditing fees and contributions to the Baptist World Alliance and Religion in American Life.

Added a representative of Woman's Missionary Union to the representation on the convention's Public Affairs Committee.

Increased the honorarium of the convention's recording secretary, registration secretary and the assistant to the recording secretary from $500 per year to $700. The Committee also increased the expense account of the SBC president, effective March 1, 1974, from $6,000 to $7,500, with up to $1,500 of this amount to be used for unreimbursed travel for the president's wife for engagements where she would be invited or expected to attend.

Sold Porter Routh, the Executive Committee's executive secretary-treasurer, the residence provided him by the Executive Committee for the past 23 years for the market price of $50,000. The committee also transferred, in effect, $27,000, placed earlier in an annuity plan to provide housing after his retirement, toward partial purchase of the house. The $27,000 will be paid over the final six years of his possible term of employment, 1974-79.

Passed a recommendation that boards of all convention agencies "shall include both pastors or other full-time church or denominational employees and those who are not pastors or full-time church or denominational employees. Not more than two-thirds of the members of any group shall be drawn from either category."

Denied a request from SBC President Owen Cooper to "amend the convention's business and financial plan, Section VI, to permit the Home Mission Board to contact churches (only where prospective summer missionaries have membership), parents and selected individuals to solicit their support."

Denied a request from the Radio and Television Commission that it be permitted to merchandise music in order to recoup some of the cost involved and asked the Radio and Television Commission and the Sunday School Board to "explore cooperatively the outlets of distribution to achieve a greater distribution."

Granted the Home Mission Board's request to launch a special mail solicitation on behalf of its variety-format, evangelistic television series, "Spring Street, U.S.A.," to a mailing list of individuals who have responded to the programs.

Approved a recommendation that the Executive Committee's Institutions Workgroup and the state Baptist executive secretaries hold a joint meeting, probably in September, to explore the Bible institute-type of education.

Voted to launch a long-range planning program for Southern Baptist impact in the 1980s with an Impact 80s Conference, January 20-22, 1975, in Nashville, with broad-based representation from all aspects of SBC life.

Approved a recommendation that the Executive Committee join with the Stewardship Commission to launch plans in 1974 for a Declaration of Cooperation to challenge Southern Baptist churches, through their state conventions, to make a commitment of $150 million through the Cooperative Program (unified budget) in 1975 with the anticipation these funds will be received in 1976. The Stewardship Commission will implement the program.

Spring Bible Conference Expected To Draw Over 2,000

The third annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at Union University March 11-13 is expected to draw over 2,000 students, laymen and church leaders from throughout West Tennessee, according to Dr. Lewis Sewell, dean of religious affairs and coordinator for the event.

The three-day conference, holding 18 sessions in the morning, afternoon and evening, will stress studies in the Old and New Testaments through the theme "Holy Spirit, Faithful Guide."

A Jackson native, Dr. Cal Guy, professor of missions, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, will lead the studies in the New Testament. He is the son of the late Dr. R. E. Guy, pastor, West Jackson Baptist Church, for approximately 30 years.

Dr. Guy is a 1940 graduate of Union University and holds additional degrees from Southwestern. He has also accomplished graduate study at Union Theological Seminary, New York.

Dr. M. Pierce Matheney Jr., professor of Old Testament and Hebrew, Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Kansas City, Mo., will lead the Old Testament studies.

He is a graduate of Baylor University and holds additional degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. He also has many post-doctoral credits at Harvard Divinity School.

Also leading in the conference will be Dr. Adrian Rogers, pastor, Bellevue Baptist Church, Memphis, who will preach in chapel each morning and at each evening service.

Scholarship Fund Established In Memory Of Barton Barrett

The Powells Chapel Baptist Church in Murfreesboro, Mrs. Barton Barrett, and friends, have established a scholarship fund with the Tennessee Baptist Foundation in memory of Barton Barrett, a Southern Baptist evangelist. Barrett and two companions were killed in a plane crash in November, 1972, near Nashville as they were returning from a conference on evangelism in Atlanta.

Additions will be made to the fund periodically until it reaches at least $5000, according to Jonas Stewart, executive secretary-treasurer of the Foundation. At that time, the income from the investment of the fund will be paid to Belmont College as a scholarship for worthy students preparing for a career in religious music. The scholarship will be known as the Barton Barrett Church Music Scholarship.

Selection of the recipients for the scholarship will be made by officials of the college. Barrett was an alumnus of the school.

Pastor emeritus of Bellevue, Dr. Robert G. Lee, will climax the program in services to be held in the Jackson Civic Center, Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Special music will be provided by Russell Newport, businessman from Springfield, Mo., and Carlys Scates, minister of music, First Baptist Church, Jackson, will lead the congregational singing.

A unique feature of the conference will be the Bible essay contest. Cash awards, with first prize of $100, will be given to the top three students whose essays, which must be related to the conference theme, are judged the best.

Children's Homes

Money Won't Buy It

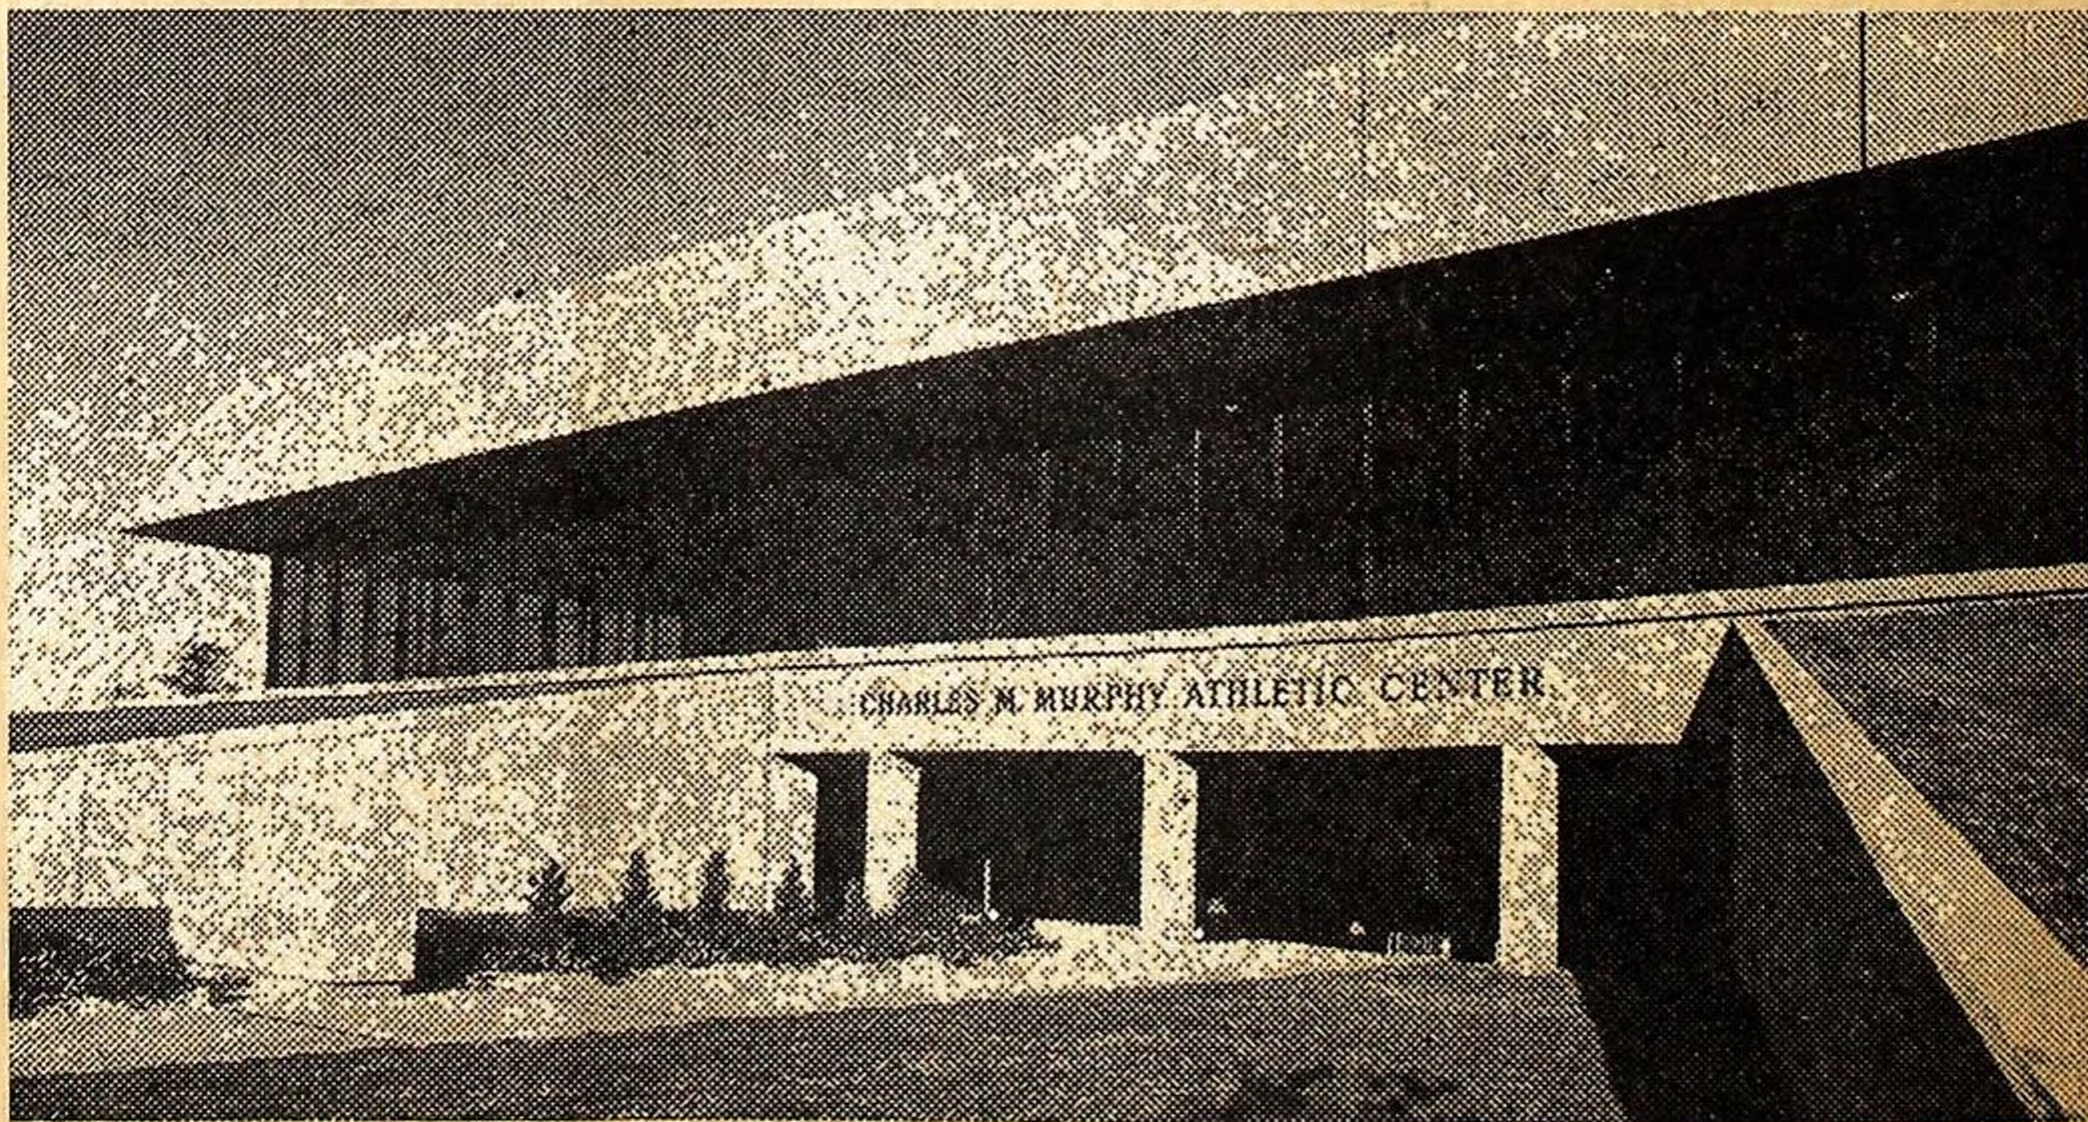

By James M. Gregg, Executive Director

It has been said that "money will buy a bed, but not sleep; books, but not brains; food, but not appetite; a house, but not a home; medicine, but not health; sin's pleasures, but not salvation's peace."

How well we know the truth of this statement. There are many things your money will buy for our children, but it will not buy love and parents for them. Our staff of dedicated Christians love children and through their "TLC" wonderful transformations take place in their lives. While this is going on, your money is paying the expenses and thus serving God and children through us. The children respond and many accept Jesus as Saviour. Thank you for this much needed help.

Next month we will mail to every Pastor and Sunday School Director samples of our 1974 Mother's Day Promotional materials which include four color posters, bulletin inserts, offering envelopes, and coin cards. I know you will use these to the fullest. God bless you.

Nashville, surprised him with greetings from representatives of the Executive Committee, Southern Baptist Convention, Albert McClellan; Baptist Sunday School Board, retired personnel director, Leonard Wedel; Tennessee Baptist Convention, Charles Norton and W. Fred Kendall, former executive secretary-treasurer; and Nashville Baptist Association, Harold Gregory, superintendent of missions. Gregory, who was a baker before entering the ministry, presented Dr. Freeman with a birthday cake. The Belmont Heights Church also presented their senior minister with a love offering. Bob Norman is pastor.

Over 1000 young people from Tennessee Baptist churches will meet Mar. 15-16 at the Murphy Athletic Center in Murfreesboro for the State Youth Music Festival. R. Paul Green and Gerald Loren Welker will serve as choral and band directors, respectively, during the meet which is sponsored by the Church Music Department of the Tennessee Baptist Convention.

C-N College Awards Three Music Scholarships

The Carson-Newman College Music Department has awarded scholarships to three music students, Louis Ball, chairman of the department, announced.

Brenda Bundon, Maryville, received the $400 Presser Scholarship given annually to an outstanding student in music education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bundon. The $200 Priest Scholarship Award, which goes to a church music ministry student, was awarded to Terry Wilson, Knoxville. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Wilson.

Vincent Dial, Columbia, S.C., earned the $100 McClellan Scholarship presented yearly to an instrumental music major. He has played for the Carson-Newman band for four years and served as solo percussionist for the school's musical of "West Side Story."

S. C. Church Designated National Historic Landmark

WASHINGTON—The National Park Service here has designated First Baptist Church of Columbia, S.C., as a national historic landmark.

On Dec. 17, 1860, representatives of the state of South Carolina gathered at this church and decided to secede from the union. The actual ordinance of secession was signed later in Charleston, S.C.

In announcing its selection of the Columbia church among 33 new historic landmarks, the National Park Service cited the church's architectural features, including a Roman tuscan portico and tuscan pilasters down the sides in molded brick. The overall architectural design of the building is Greek revival. (BP)

Hi,
my name is Annie!

I always visit you in March, but I work hard the other eleven months, too.

Through me Southern Baptists send missionaries to remote places, witness to twenty-five different language groups of America, minister to families on vacation and people with problems, extend the church to youth in the armed forces, and many, many other things.

I hope you will remember to pray for me during the Week of Prayer for Home Missions and to give to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering. Home missionaries do wonderful service for Jesus and need our prayers and dollars to keep telling people about His love.

N. Y. Executive Secretary Paul James Will Retire

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Paul James, executive secretary-treasurer of the Baptist Convention of New York, will retire April 1, 1975, just before his 67th birthday.

Elected to the post in April, 1969, to complete arrangements for organizing the state-wide convention that year, James has also served as secretary of evangelism and stewardship and editor of "The New York Baptist."

James and his wife came to New York in 1957 under appointment by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board to serve as pastor of the Manhattan Baptist Chapel, after he had served for 16 years as pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, Atlanta.

At that time there was no Southern Baptist work in the six New England states or in New Jersey, and only two churches in New York State were affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention.

He led in developing the outreach of the Manhattan Baptist Chapel, which eventually sponsored 17 missions which are now churches, and served as pastor of the church during his first six years in New York.

He was serving as superintendent of missions in the metropolitan New York area before his election as chief administrator of the newly formed state convention. (BP)

MEMBERS PULLING TOGETHER—Prospect Baptist Church, Giles Association, broke ground for a new building recently. Organized approximately two years ago as an independent Baptist church, they later asked the association to assist in re-constituting into a cooperating church. They were received into the Giles County Association at their last annual meeting. The congregation had been meeting in a renovated store building until the building was sold. Presently they meet in homes of members while they await the completion of the new building. Holding the plow is Pastor Louie Wakefield.

When The Spirit Fills A Life

By Dr. Herbert C. Gabhart, President, Belmont College, Nashville

Background Scripture: Acts 3-4

Scripture Lesson: Acts 3:1-6; 4:31-37

We are living in the Age of the Spirit. The Old Testament period may be called the Age of God, the Father. The New Testament period, covered by the Gospels, the Age of God, the Son; and from Pentecost until the second coming of Christ, the Age of God, the Spirit.

The Holy Spirit Indwells and Infills Men

The Holy Spirit is not a mystery but a person of the Godhead, the third person of the Trinity. It is a mistake to think of the Holy Spirit as an impersonal "it," or to think of him only with unusual visitations of spiritual power.

It is most proper and correct to cast the Holy Spirit into the role of friend, counsellor and guide as he indwells and indwells those who seek him and submit to his leadership. He is with every Christian. He lives in every Christian every day to enable that Christian to do his work to the glory of God.

Whenever Christians sing, "Come, Holy Spirit, heavenly Dove, with all Thy quickening powers, kindle a flame of sacred love in these cold hearts of ours," they are petitioning him to move out the dross and sins of complacency and half-heartedness and fill them with power and love.

It is possible for Christians to grieve the Holy Spirit by committing sin (Ephesians 4:30). An impersonal "it" could not be grieved. Christians are not to quench the Spirit (I Thessalonians 5:19). The glow and warmth of the infilling, indwelling Spirit should not be stifled or snuffed out by selfishness, egotism or sole reliance upon one's personal strength and wisdom. Christians can claim the power and presence of the Holy Spirit. In fact the record of the Christian faith through the centuries following Pentecost is a record written by men filled with the Spirit: i.e., Anathasius, Martin Luther, David Livingstone, Dwight L. Moody, and our contemporary, Billy Graham.

The Holy Spirit Sustains and Empowers Men

Shortly after the unusual experience at Pentecost, Peter and John were at the Temple for prayer at 3 p.m. Each day the same man, crippled from his birth, was brought there seeking alms. The lame man considered the Temple a propitious place for an exhibition of charity. Yet Jesus had made it clear that charity was second to worship (John 12:1-8). Therefore Peter and John responded to the plea for charity by asking the lame man to look directly at them. No doubt few people ever spoke to the man and a few may have tossed a coin in his basket to assuage their consciences and inflate their generous ego.

Peter's remark may have had the effect of arousing within the crippled man an abundance of material hope; but Peter, however, went directly to the point. He did not apologize for having no money. Peter recalled that Jesus had promised that the Holy Spirit would vindicate the disciples by a special gift of power, not a power to be exercised for personal advancement, but power to be used for the advancement of the knowledge and glory of Christ. He said, "I give you what I have," and "In the name of Jesus of Nazareth, there is power to heal, so arise and walk." The man obeyed and was healed. This was the first post-Pentecost miracle and resulted in a mighty witness to Christ throughout the city as Peter continued to tell the people about Christ, urging them to repent. The power of the Holy Spirit, flowing through and out of the lives of the disciples was directly involved in the on-going movement of the gospel throughout Jerusalem.

Men who have been filled by the Spirit have had a desire to help the needy. The whole tenor of Christ's life and ministry was that the poor should not be overlooked, but helped. It is most interesting to note that in connection with the lame man and Peter and John the request for material charity was answered by a gift of spiritual healing which corrected the physical defect and made it possible for the beggar to cease being a beggar. Through the sustaining and directing power of the Spirit, man is able to reorder and reestablish his life. It is also interesting to note that Peter and John were just mere instruments, channels, through which the Spirit worked. We, too, can be channels of blessing when sustained and empowered by the Spirit.

The Holy Spirit Unifies and Directs Men

After Peter and John had seen the lame man healed and Peter had preached his second sermon, they were arrested and the council demanded them to speak no more about Christ. When the two were released they gathered with Christians for prayer asking for courage and a continuation of miracles in Christ's name. Their prayers were answered. The house shook. The Holy Spirit filled them. He gave them boldness to speak. Three thousand were saved on Pentecost, 5,000 were converted now (Acts 4:4). Prayer changes things. Men who pray earnestly can witness boldly.

Construction To Begin On Union's New Campus

Union University's Board of Trustees, meeting in regular session last week, accepted the proposal of the Earl Swensson Architects, Inc., and Foster and Creighton Co., Contractors, both of Nashville, to build the academic facilities of Union's new campus on the U.S. Highway 45 by-pass near Jackson. Construction is scheduled to begin within 45 days with occupancy of the new facilities anticipated for the fall of 1975.

The design of the new campus will be a modified form of the one originally developed in the campus master plan by architect Earl Swensson who will continue to serve as the architect and construction-management firm for the project.

The academic facilities will cost approximately $5,050,000.

The Holy Spirit also unified the believers. The disciples at that time shared a unity of faith which enabled them to relinquish what they had. The result was a oneness for they shared a common faith, a common Saviour and it was therefore not hard to share their possessions. They had all things in common, together. Participation in the Spirit creates fellowship in the Spirit. This was not a forerunner of communism but a physical necessity in the society at Jerusalem. It was an act of real Christian stewardship practiced by the early church in Jerusalem.

One of the most disheartening things about many church fellowships is the disunity of the believers. When such occurs it is quite obvious that the presence of the Holy Spirit is lacking. Men who are spirit-filled and spirit-directed are of one accord. The Holy Spirit does not contradict himself. He does not lead in opposite directions at the same time. Someone has called the church "the community of the Spirit," for the realization of unity lies in the recognition of the Holy Spirit's work.

The churches of today do not need unification or uniformity, but a true spiritual unity in Christ through the leadership of the Holy Spirit. No one church or denomination has a corner on the Spirit's power or leadership. As the Holy Spirit made his presence conspicuous in the early church, we should pray to that end for today. Let us see to it that the gift of the Holy Spirit for service is not lost by any unfaithfulness, unbelief or unclaimed promise, but, through obedience, witnessing and prayer, call for that infilling and indwelling power which sustains, empowers, unifies and directs the life of the Christian.

Lord Of The Church

By Dr. W. R. White
Baylor University, Waco, Texas

Basic Passage: Mark 11:1-11, 15-18, 27-33
Focal Passage: Mark 11:7-11, 15-18, 27-28

The whole church at Christ's first coming was in meek humility except He would blaze forth at them with righteous indignation at pseudo-religious postures and hypocritical religiosity, along with condemnation and exploitation of the defenseless and helpless. Only once did He use physical force. That was when He cleansed the temple. We have an idea then that with the raising of the lash and the flashing of His piercing eyes the thieves and exploiters were driven out by anger and a guilty conscience.

How humble was His birth—born in a stable and of a peasant mother. Yet, He was a descendant of royalty, even after the flesh. For thirty years He worked as a carpenter's son even though He was the Son of Man, yea, the Son of God.

In and through His simple, humble earthly career He spoke as a man having authority. He was the master of every situation and equal to every occasion. He was fresh, original, creative and commanding. He demonstrated His authority most in the spiritual sphere. He had available to Him unlimited power yet He did not call it into play to serve or succor Himself.

The King Enters In Gracious Humility Mark 11:7-11

ship in humility and gentleness. He does not assert His Lordship in a smashing show of power and ruthless coercion. He marched into Jerusalem riding on a lowly donkey. The masses provided all of the accoutrements of the triumphal entry added to the chorus of acclaim of voices of little children.

The triumphal entry carried Him to the temple. He scanned everything and then went to Bethany with His disciples. It was eventide by then.

He linked His kingship and lordship with His Father's house and kingdom. It was to be primarily a spiritual lordship that He emphasized at that time.

Asserts Authority Over God's House Mark 11:15-18

The temple was the center of the life of the people. It was the institutional foundation of spiritual, moral and ethical life.

The temple was highly commercialized by the leaders. Sacrificial creatures were sold and bought in the temple. Special temple money was provided in exchange for the transactions. The people were created going and coming. Their religious sentiments and helplessness were exploited on every hand.

The righteous indignation of Jesus was aroused to the point of explosion and action. He was purifying the fountain in order to purify the outflowing stream. It was not primarily social reform but spiritual and moral reform. The other was a logical consequence. It is rather futile to cleanse down stream if the fountain or source is polluted. The distinctly bad but profitably corrupt will arouse bitter enemies. It will evoke criticism. It is dangerous to put bad business out of business.

The Lordship Questioned Mark 11:27-28

The next day after having cleansed the temple and having put the thieves out of business, the Jewish authorities questioned the authority of Jesus for having done what He did. They thought that they really had Him in a corner.

Jesus tossed a dilemma back to them. Was the baptism of John of God or men. They knew that if they said, "It is of God or of heaven," He would say, "Why did ye not take seriously what he said about Him?" If they said that it was of man, the people would turn on them for they believed that He was a prophet of God.

They said that they could not answer Him. He replied that neither would He answer their questions, to shut their mouths

State Brotherhood Officers Hold Planning Sessions

The purpose of the meeting was the planning and promotion of the TBC Brotherhood program for the year, according to Gilleland. The next semi-annual meeting is scheduled for Sept. 20-21.

Whitlock Retires As Pastor; Continues As Chaplain

Jimmy Whitlock, pastor of the Big Creek Church, Millington, for the past 10 years, has announced his retirement as pastor in order that he may continue to serve as chaplain of the Shelby County Sheriff's Department and Jail Systems in Memphis.

Whitlock has served in both capacities for the past three years. As a result of a third recent heart attack, he has had to make a choice between serving as pastor of the church or continuing as chaplain. The church has served with him in the outreach ministry, according to church spokesmen.

Since serving as pastor, the church membership has more than doubled, and the budget has tripled. The Big Creek Church ministers to Navy personnel stationed at Millington.

about authority.

Jesus was not yet ready to declare His deity to them for a time. It would come later in different ways. Besides His authority was greater than theirs. Why should He defend His? He knew the best way.

To Whom Shall We Go?

Sooner or later every man has to come to terms with several things in his existence:

(1) With himself. This means accepting himself as he is or as God made him, and in the circumstances in which God placed him . . . be he short or tall, fat or thin, happy-go-lucky or worry-wart, dumb or smart. Only when he does so can he begin to lick the bugaboos of self-pity, inferiority feelings, and inner unhappiness. Even then he's going to have a hard enough time as it is.

(2) He has to come to terms with the world around him, accepting the conditions and laws of life, and giving up the unrealistic of a false idealism or the escapism of a dream world.

(3) He has to come to terms with his fellow man, accepting the laws and obligations of society without however giving up his own personal liberty. In short, he's got to remain his own man, no matter what the rest of the world thinks.

(4) He has to come to terms with God. This sounds very easy, to bear the glib preaching of some people. It sounds impossible, to hear the sophisticated rationalizations of others. But on some middle ground of sober thinking and realistic perception one has to make a choice between God and all the other alternatives. And before one puts off coming to terms with God he'd better face the alternatives and satisfy himself that any one of them cannot truly satisfy. I think that Peter had an intuitive insight into the fact that apart from God there is no valid explanation of human existence or satisfying relationship for man when he said, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."—Kenneth Strachan.

From the Executive Secretary

By Ralph Norton

A "Get Acquainted Meeting" for new pastors in our state has been scheduled for March 18 and 19 at the TBC building in Brentwood. Planned especially to assist the new pastors, the program will offer general convention information along with in-depth study of the various convention services and programs and how these departments can assist a new pastor. I am looking forward to this opportunity of meeting on a personal basis many newcomers to our state. I believe the conferences scheduled will emphasize the value of a good relationship between pastors and leaders of our convention.

Norton

Another "first" for Tennessee Baptists involves a meeting on March 15 and 16 for deacon chairmen and wives, and pastors and their wives. This meeting, to be held at the First Baptist Church, Nashville, is designed to offer assistance to those who serve in the role of leadership among deacons. We believe those who participate in this period of study and fellowship will be greatly challenged to enlarge the possible ministry of deacons as they work with the pastor in a local church.

We are excited about these two meetings and feel that the outcome will bring results of lasting value to the churches which will be represented at the conferences. If either of these activities meets your need, we would encourage you to attend and take advantage of the study, inspiration and fellowship which they afford.

Belmont Chapter Helps Tammy Ford

Belmont College's chapter of Phi Beta Lambda ended National Phi Beta Lambda Week Feb. 10-16 by raising $100.00 from part of the student body to contribute to the Tammy Ford Fund. One of the functions of this association, which is a national business organization, is to assist in improving respective community relationships.

Tammy, who is 7 years old, has an obstructed bladder. Hospital expenses have been excessive. However, the Priest Lake Jaycees in Nashville have set up the Tammy Ford Fund to assist in paying for Tammy's medication.

On Feb. 15, 1974, Don Goad, president of Phi Beta Lambda at Belmont College, presented Mrs. Ford with a check for $100.00.

Crouch Named President Of Baptist Executives

NEW ORLEANS—Perry Crouch, general secretary-treasurer of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, was named president of the State Executive Secretaries Association of the Southern Baptist Convention at the group's annual meeting here.

R. Y. Bradford, executive director-treasurer of the Baptist Convention of New Mexico, was named vice-president, and Richard M. Stephenson, executive secretary of the Baptist General Association of Virginia, was elected secretary. (BP)

Historically:

From the files

50 YEARS AGO

John H. Barber resigned as pastor at Columbia after serving there eight years. While pastor, the church increased 400 per cent in contributions and 50 per cent in membership.

Professor J. N. Mallory, chairman of mathematics, Union University, was elected president of Jonesboro College in Jonesboro, Ark. He served Union University from 1918 to 1924.

20 YEARS AGO

First Church, McKenzie, dedicated its $60,000 auditorium in special services at the church. Dr. C. W. Pope was guest speaker. Pastor L. H. Hatcher said that the edifice seated 500.

Willis R. Allen, pastor of First Baptist Church, Strawberry Plains, told Tennessee Baptists that daily Bible reading was still a vital and essential part of the human life. It should not be like an occasional walk through a garden of flowers, he said, but rather like a mine rich in gold where we must daily dig and labor in order to reap precious rewards.

10 YEARS AGO

Acklena, a mission sponsored by Seventh Street and Leclair Churches in Memphis, was begun. Leon Crider was the mission pastor.

Funeral services for Austin "Captain" Hammer were held at the Fisherville Church. One of the oldest members of the church, he had served as deacon there for 45 years and was deacon emeritus at the time of his death.

Group Named For Quarter-Century Missionary Challenge

NASHVILLE—Debate on a proposed Southern Baptist Convention mission strategy study ended with a compromise "plan for a proposal" to be developed by a special committee of nine.

The denomination's Executive Committee heard from its Committee of Fifteen, which has been studying the SBC agencies, a recommendation for "a total convention mission strategy" for the remainder of this century.

A two-year SBC "strategy" review proposed by the Committee of Fifteen drew opposition from the SBC's Foreign Mission Board and Home Mission Board.

Douglas Hudgens, chairman of trustees, Foreign Mission Board, and Baker James Cauthen, executive secretary, objected to the study as presented because it would infringe on the authority of board trustees.

Committee of Nine Named

In a compromise action on the proposal, a committee of nine officials was named to work out a recommendation to challenge Southern Baptists in missionary support for the next quarter-century.

Their report will be presented to the SBC Executive Committee at its next meeting, June 10, in Dallas, and, if approved, to the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention later that week.

The officials named include the executive officers of the Foreign Mission Board, Home Mission Board, Woman's Missionary Union and Brotherhood Commission, plus the president of the Southern Baptist Convention, the chairman of the SBC Executive Committee, the chairman of the Committee of Fifteen and the chairmen of trustees of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards.

Another recommendation of the Committee of Fifteen was modified. The mission agencies plus the Sunday School Board were asked to develop a comprehensive plan for additional effectiveness in missionary education.

Their report will be made to the SBC Executive Committee instead of the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention, as first proposed. Reporting date is September, 1975.

Cauthen, Mathis, Sullivan Speak

Cauthen and Mrs. R. L. Mathis, president of Woman's Missionary Union, expressed displeasure that the report of the Committee of Fifteen had been released to the news media through Baptist Press, news service of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Stewart B. Simms, chairman of the SBC Executive Committee, and E. W. Price Jr., chairman of the Committee of Fifteen, explained that this had been done in accordance with voted instructions of the SBC Executive Committee.

James L. Sullivan, president of the Sunday School Board, voiced disagreement with the Committee of Fifteen report at various points and expressed regret that he did not have an opportunity to state these views when the news stories on the report were first released.

He also pointed out that the Executive Committee is the "convention ad interim" only in those areas not assigned to the agencies.

Twenty-eight of the 97 "concerns" in the Committee of Fifteen report deal with the four mission agencies. These areas, as viewed by the committee, were referred to the agencies for their consideration. (BP)

Annuity Board Approves New Plan C Investment

DALLAS—The Southern Baptist Annuity Board's trustees have approved the inclusion of a new type of investment called participating land equity in Plan C, the board's variable benefit plan.

Such equity ventures will be introduced into the Plan C portfolio during 1974 if the right investment opportunities develop, Gordon Hobgood Jr. of Dallas, trustee and chairman of the board's finance committee, told trustees during their 56th annual session here.

In a participating land equity, the board will make loans on property in growing metropolitan areas which will be developed or will later be resold, Hobgood said.

Hobgood, who made the recommendation, told the trustees their action will allow the variable plan to "participate in more potentially good investments rather than depend strictly on stocks alone."

Investments in Plan C, since its beginning as a variable plan in 1960, have been in stocks alone, although originally it was designed to utilize other types of equity investments.

Initially, land equity will be limited to 15 per cent of the variable plan's portfolio.

Darold H. Morgan, president of the Annuity Board, praised the finance committee for completing a year-long, comprehensive study in 1973 to develop the new investment procedure which will utilize the available land equity potential.

"The initial objective is to increase current returns across the board in Plan C. We choose land equity as another method of investment, because we believe it will provide a good return," Morgan said. (BP)
