The 15-member board of the Tennessee Baptist Service Corp., which was authorized by action of the recent Tennessee Baptist Convention, met Dec. 2, at the Executive Board Building, TBC in Brentwood, to elect officers and organize the board.

Elected chairman of the Board of Directors was Tom Madden, pastor of First Church, Tullahoma; vice chairman, Ralph McIntyre, pastor, Brainerd Church, Chattanooga, and secretary, Virgil Peters, pastor of First Church, Franklin.

The Board of Directors named Gene Kerr, assistant to the executive secretary-treasurer of the TBC, executive director for the Tennessee Baptist Service Corp.

Kerr has been on the staff of the Convention for 20 years. He came as business manager in 1954. In 1956, he became assistant administrator in charge of promotion. In 1964, he was promoted to assistant to the executive secretary-treasurer.

Before coming to the Tennessee Baptist Convention, Kerr was with the Aluminum Company of America in Alcoa from 1937 to 1954, where he was the treasurer of the Federal Credit Union and Officer Service supervisor.

The program of the Tennessee Baptist Service Corporation was presented to the TBC at the annual session in Murfreesboro. The unanimous approval by the messengers to the convention established a new ministry which includes services and facilities for the aging.

Tennessee Baptists have been concerned about a ministry to the aging, and it was during the 1972 Convention that the Executive Board was requested to work out the establishment of a program of ministries to the aging. From this beginning, followed considerable study, research, conferences and exploring of needs, services, facilities and possible ministries. Kerr was appointed by Ralph E. Norton, executive secretary-treasurer of the TBC, to assume the responsibility and serve as consultant for this area of work.

At the 1973 session, the Convention authorized a feasibility study for the aged and the Executive Board appointed a special nine-member Committee on Aging.

During the Centennial Convention held at Murfreesboro in November, Tennessee Baptists unanimously approved the purpose, functions, relationships and adopted a Charter which established the Tennessee Baptist Service Corp.

The first project of the new corporation will be the development of Holly Oaks near Dandridge on land given by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Catlett.

Other action by the Board of Directors was the establishing of the Executive Committee which includes Madden, McIntyre and Peters, with the addition of Leonard Wedel, Franklin; and Gaye McGlothlen, pastor of Immanuel Church, Nashville.

Peters, Wedel and McGlothlen were elected as a special Study Committee to pursue personnel, job descriptions, salaries and benefits.

Other members of the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Baptist Service Corporation include: Clarence Stewart, Pulaski; Robert Orr, Dyersburg; Marvin T. Robertson, Bolivar; Mrs. Sam Weiland, Brentwood; Bill Delaney, Columbia; W. A. Catlett, Dandridge; Harley Fite, Jefferson City; Hamilton Traylor, Maryville; David E. Stewart, Brownsville; and Ed Meier, Memphis.

Interpretation

A Sin Unto Death

By Herschel H. Hobbs

"If any man see his brother sin a sin which is not unto death, he shall ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. There is a sin unto death: I do not say that he shall pray for it."—1 John 5:16

John has just been talking about the assurance of prayer within the Lord's will being granted (vv. 14-15). In this he includes praying for a Christian "brother" that he may be forgiven and revived. Such sins are "not unto death." But then he speaks of some sin that is "unto death."

To what sin does he refer? For one thing, note that he says nothing about a "brother" committing it. It is a sin of one other than a Christian. There are two possible meanings of this sin unto death. John could be referring to the antichrists (see 1 John 4:1-3). These apparently were the Gnostic philosophers who denied the deity of Jesus and the humanity of Christ. They were calling God a liar in denying His revelation through His Son. So long as they persisted in this, it was a sin unto death. Only repentance and faith could change this condition. Those who make such denials today should beware!

It is possible that John has reference to the unpardonable sin taught by Jesus in Matthew 12:22-37. This was blasphemy against the Holy Spirit. The Pharisees claimed that Jesus cast out demons by the power of Beelzebub, the devil or evil spirit, not by the Holy Spirit. Through repeated rejection of Christ they had lost all sense of moral and spiritual discrimination. To them evil was good, and good was evil. It should be noted that no Christian can commit this sin. If one thinks he has committed it, he has not. For the Holy Spirit is still convicting him of sin. The person who is in danger of committing this sin is one who says he has no sin which needs forgiveness (1 John 1:8).

Note that John does not forbid prayer for such. He simply does not advise it with assurance that it will be granted. One should pray as he feels led, leaving the results with God.

Pulpit To Pew

By Jim Griffith

While traveling and listening to the car radio the other day, I heard a Florida preacher announce his Sunday services and state that: "In addition to the regular activities in Sunday School, the puppets would be ministering to the Junior Department upstairs."

Of course, it goes without saying that there are some strings attached to this special program, inasmuch as a puppet is defined as "one whose acts are controlled by an outside force or influence."

Consequently, the preacher may discover that this is a hard act to follow.

One usually doesn't think in terms of "puppets ministering," although the Scripture does say, "Out of the mouths of babes shall come praise for the Lord." But no matter how you look at it, this is one way to get something moving in Sunday School.

And furthermore, it should be an interesting program—if someone pulls the right strings.

Devotional

Core Curriculum

By Mrs. James Witherington

All of our lives we have heard about the 3 R's: readin', ritin', and rithmetic. In the universiy of Christian living we need more, and I call these basic courses the 4 D's: discernment, decision, discipline, and dedication.

Discernment involves every area of life—religion, morality, vocation, life style. We need to challenge ourselves to be discerning in our religious beliefs; we need to be discerning in our moral values, in our vocational objectives, if the life style we choose. Jesus gave us the standard of discernment when He said "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you."

Robert Frost said "Two roads diverged in a wood, and I took the one less traveled by, /And that has made all the difference." The decisions we make early in life determine the paths our later days will follow. How desperately we need to ask God to guide us in these decisions!

We read of people who have their jaws wired shut in order to lose weight because they cannot discipline themselves to eat less. We read of students who have their pillows wired with information because they cannot discipline themselves to study during the daytime hours. We read, and we realize just how undisciplined our lives are, even as Christians. We need to practice discipline in the areas of prayer and Bible study.

In the musical "1776," John Adams speaks at length about commitment, and finally sings in dismay "Is anybody there? Does anybody care? Does anybody see what I see?" This must be the way that God feels as he sees the lack of dedication on the part of His people. Just how dedicated are you?

So there you have the 4 D's for the Christian: discernment, decision, discipline, and dedication. May I enroll you in these basic courses?

Note: Mrs. Witherington attends Rugby Hills Baptist Church in Memphis where her husband is pastor. She is a teacher in the College and Career Department.

Craig Named To Board Of Bible Institute

Robert E. Craig, president of Union University, has been named to the Board of Diretors of the International Baptist Institute, El Paso, Tex.

The institute, a school for church and denominational leaders and Christian workers, is the only Baptist institution exclusively designed for training church vocational workers between Fort Worth and the California coast.

A native of Arkansas, Craig holds two degrees from East Texas Baptist College and the doctor of education degree from North Texas State University in Denton.

'More People Talking About Christ,' Graham Says

By David Daniell and Dan Martin

LAREDO, Tex.—Evangelist Billy Graham told a packed stadium here that more people are talking about Christ than in any other period of history.

Graham preached the closing sermon of the International Baptist Congress of Evangelism held here and in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, just across the U.S.-Mexico border.

The congress was jointly sponsored by the National Baptist Convention of Mexico and the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

About 2,000 Spanish-speaking Baptists from the United States, Mexico, Central America and Puerto Rico attended the general sessions, held three days in the Lions Club auditorium in Nuevo Laredo.

The last day, however, Laredo's 11,500-seat Shirley Stadium—generally the scene of high school football contests—was jammed as Laredo schools dismissed classes for the Graham address.

"No one can say they have never heard of Jesus today," said Graham. "The world is headed for war . . . for Armageddon. It is looking for a leader to bring peace. The world is looking for a messiah."

Graham Speaks About Nixon

In a pre-address press conference, Graham talked about former President Nixon, crusade evangelism, the economy and morality.

"The Nixon on the tapes is not the Nixon I knew," Graham said. "Something must have happened to him in late 1970 or early 1971. Perhaps the strain of office is too much for any one man."

Graham said he had been a friend of the former president for 24 years, but added he also was close to former Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

"I spent at least three times more time with President Johnson than with Nixon," he said.

Graham added: "During the years I knew him, I found Nixon to be open and honest. But then, I am a clergyman and people tend to act differently around clergymen.

"But I still consider him a friend."

Graham, who looked thinner than in past appearances, said he plans "to continue preaching the Gospel for the next 25 years," although he said he finds preaching in large stadiums increasingly fatiguing.

He recently preached to 250,000 persons in a stadium in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the largest in the world.

"I couldn't see a single face," he recalled.

In contrast, he said, he preached to 14,000 people in a meeting in Norfolk Va., and "felt like I was teaching a Sunday School class, it was so small."

Economic Depression

Graham added he thinks the prospect of an economic depression—perhaps worse than that of the 1930's—and the threat of war in the mideast might be interpreted as the judgment of God after so many years of abundance which "should have inspired us to be more thankful to God but drove us to be more materialistic."

"All signs indicate Christ is coming soon . . . and if he doesn't come soon, we might just blow ourselves up.

"Even the diplomats at the United Nations are feeling hopeless about the world situation," he said.

Asked about a "post-Watergate" morality, Graham said immorality has not changed since the days of Adam.

"Many of the people who talk about morality today wouldn't accept the 10 Commandments as a basis for morality," he said.

Top Baptist personalities from the United States and Mexico addressed the general sessions of the meeting, the first of its kind ever held.

Fernando de la Mora, promoter of evangelism for the Mexican convention, and Carlos Paredes, associate in the Texas Baptist evangelism division, were co-directors for the effort.

In another first, Mexican Baptists sponsored their first press conference for Nuevo Laredo media.

"The fact that they (the Mexican media) view this congress as important enough to cover is another indication that decades of missionary labors have made an impact for good on the Mexican culture," a Mexican convention spokesman noted.

Conference Speakers

Among the speakers at the conference were Kenneth Chafin, the pastor of Houston's South Main Baptist Church; James Crane, Southern Baptist representative to Guadalajara; Hugo Ruiz, director of "La Hora Bautista," for the Southern Baptist Radio-TV Commission; Librado Ramos, the associate pastor and Eduardo de la Flor, the pastor of Mexico City's First Baptist Church; Rudy Hernandez, Dallas-based evangelist, and Octavio Gaspar, the pastor of Guadalajara's First Baptist Church.

Paredes said the congress was designed to "examine strategies, methods and the theology of evangelism . . . with the hope participants will return to their homes to tell their friends that Jesus Christ is Lord."

He added: "The great numbers of people who cross our borders daily—amounting to the millions yearly—make it necessary for us to look at the program of evangelism on both sides of the border in order to have some type of conservation program or follow-up." (BP)

"Miss Mary" Gave Leadership To WMU

By Mrs. C. D. Creasman

For many years, the words "Miss Mary and Woman's Missionary Union" were spoken almost in one breath by Tennessee Baptists, for they seemed to belong together.

Miss Mary Northington, affectionately called "Miss Mary" by everyone, gave almost 40 years of service to the cause of missions in positions of leadership in the Tennessee Woman's Missionary Union.

Miss Northington was born in Clarksville and grew up in a large and loyally Baptist family. She had three brothers and three sisters. There were years when it was heartwarming to see Miss Mary and her three sisters, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Arch Rollow, and Miss Nan together at associational, state, and Southern Baptist meetings.

Her early interest in missions is evidenced by her being a member of one of the first missionary organizations for young women in Tennessee, called the Missionary Inquirers, later changed to YWA's. As early as 1902, her name is found among a group of young women speaking at a state WMU meeting.

In 1909, when Tennessee WMU decided to employ a field worker, Mary Northington was chosen as the "fit" woman for this position. Mrs. Douglas J. Ginn, in her book, "As I Saw It," writing for her qualifications for field worker said, "She was enthusiastic, patient, tireless, consecrated, a good speaker, a good mixer, and a good sport."

In 1913 she left Tennessee to go to the WMU Training School in Louisville, Ky. After her graduation there, she served as secretary of WMU in Illinois and Alabama. During her 10 years' absence from Tennessee, the often-expressed desire for Tennessee Baptists was, "We want Miss Mary back." And in 1923 she came back as executive secretary of the Tennessee Woman's Missionary Union, the position she held for 30 years.

Through these years, Miss Mary proved to be a most efficient and effective executive officer with superior ability in making and promoting plans. She was recognized by the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention as one of the outstanding state executive secretaries. She served often on responsible committees, and her ideas and plans were often used in other states.

Miss Mary led the Tennessee WMU through many important events: the Ruby Anniversary, the Shooks' Centennial, the Golden Jubilee, the 60th anniversary, and the promotion of the 100 Thousand Club for paying Southern Baptists' debts. In all of these, she led Tennessee women to reach high goals and achieve great successes.

Miss Mary had a happy ability to work with other people. She worked with five Tennessee WMU presidents with never a misunderstanding or clash of any kind. Six young people's leaders came and went while Miss Mary was secretary, all of them working happily along with her, appreciative of her wise counsel and guidance. Especially beautiful was the relationship between Miss Mary and Mrs. Douglas Ginn, who was her office secretary through all her years as executive secretary. Both of these were women of strong personalities with decided convictions and opinions. Yet they worked together in harmony and were close friends through all the years.

Miss Mary's adaptability made her an ideal field worker. She was equally at home in the city mansion, the village cottage, and the mountain cabin. She could ride happily in a limousine or in a horse drawn wagon. It has been reported that one time she rode in a wheelbarrow. She was equally effective speaking in big city churches or small country churches. She could fit into any situation because she loved everyone, and everyone loved her.

There is little wonder that the Tennessee WMU saw great achievements and real growth under her leadership. There was constant advance in the number of organizations, number of members, and amount of gifts, and in every phase of WMU work, so there was real regret and sorrow when she retired in 1953.

Through the years many things were done to show appreciation of Miss Northington's service. In 1948, her silver anniversary, the WMU gave her a generous check to help buy a new car. At the time of her retirement, gratitude was expressed in many ways, among them large cash gifts which she used for a mission trip to South America. A special honor was the establishment of three Mary Northington scholarships to be used in sending girls to Tennessee Baptist colleges.

After her retirement, Miss Mary went back to Clarksville where she still found avenues of services as president of the Woman's Missionary Society of her church, superintendent of the WMU of her association, and teacher of a Sunday School class. The time came when she was compelled to give up all of her activities and live in a nursing home where she died on Nov. 28, 1974.

As we think about the wonderful life of Miss Mary Northington, we place first what always came first with her: her love for the Lord Jesus and her devotion to the missionary task of sharing His love with the whole world. For this she will be remembered and honored always.

Note: Mrs. Creasman served as state WMU president for 9 years, and was president when Miss Mary became executive secretary. She is the widow of Rev. C. D. Creasman, who served as pastor in Tennessee. Mrs. Creasman resides at McKendree Manor, Hermitage, Tenn. 37076.

The Living God Seeks Man Through The Promise Of A New Beginning

By Dr. Robert O. Byrd, Asst. Prof. of Religion, Belmont College, Nashville

Bible Material: Luke 1:39-55; John 1:1-5, 9-18
Lesson Text: Luke 1:39-55

What is the most exciting aspect of your celebration of Christmas? When I reflect on my childhood and consider my feelings about the meaning and spirit of Christmas, my mind is swamped by a multitude of memories. However, beyond any doubt, the most wonderful part of Christmas was the anticipation of it. Preparation for the celebration of that most important holiday included a great more than purchasing and wrapping gifts. It was a great family time and everybody always came to our house for breakfast. It meant being out of school. Of course, the tree had to be decorated with great care. Each passing day seemed to give a deepened sense of awe and wonder and majesty to the onrushing holiday. There were times when it seemed that Christmas would never come. But it always has!

The period of the Roman occupation of Palestine, at best, was extremely difficult for the Jews. For they chafed under the demands and restrictions of the empire. In addition to being a subjugated people, it must have been obvious to the most sensitive and devoted of the Jews that the religious life of the nation was falling far short of what it should have been. Nonetheless, there were faithful persons who lived in anticipation of deliverance. In addition to John, the baptizer, Luke recounts the episode of the pious Simeon and Anna who no doubt were representative of all those who lived in the hope that God was about to do something. However, there must have been occasions when it seemed that the time would never come. But it did!!

God in Jesus sent a deliverance and salvation far beyond their greatest dreams. There were some people who were able to celebrate the hope that God would offer humanity a new beginning. They rejoiced in God's mighty act in anticipation of its fulfillment. This spirit should serve as a guide for Christians to follow. What people like Mary and Elizabeth could celebrate only in anticipation, we can now celebrate as actualization.

Prepared For Celebrating

Luke's account of Mary's visitation of Elizabeth (Luke 1:39-45) serves to establish two matters. First of all, in spite of the high regard which some had for John, he was clearly subordinate in Jesus (1:42-43). Luke understood that the child of Elizabeth would be "filled with the Holy Spirit (1:15 RSV). In addition, Luke would share with Matthew the view of John that "Among those that are born of women there is not a greater . . ." (7:28; Matt. 11:11). In the second volume of his writings, Luke later reported that there were some followers of John who had to be led to Jesus because of their lack of instruction that John's call was subordinate and preparatory to that of Jesus (Acts 19:1-7). The second emphasis Luke made was to show that the birth of both Jesus and John was a part of God's purpose.

Elizabeth was, no doubt, filled with joy about the child that she was about to bear. However, she was not so engrossed in her own happiness that she was insensitive to the importance of Mary's experience. The mother of John had the joy of a double celebration. She could exult both in her own and in Mary's blessing. Perhaps one reason we have difficulty maintaining the "Christmas spirit" the year around is because we are mainly sensitized to the seasonal emphasis. Shouldn't we be prepared to celebrate Christmas in an awareness of God's constant love for us and all persons?

A Promise Celebrated

The remainder of the focal passage is Mary's reaction to Elizabeth's recognition of her as the mother of the Messiah. This hymn has come to be known as the Magnificat. Both its form and content are very much like the song of Hannah in I Samuel 2:1-10.

Mary began her hymn by expressing her gratitude to God (1:46-50). It was not a selfish kind of thankfulness which focused on herself. The real object of her praise was God. "For he that is mighty hath done to me great things" (1:49). Whatever was happening was the result of God's will and action.

The last section of the Magnificat (1:50-55) praised God for his mighty acts of the past. In a very general way this passage recalled all the things God had done for his people back to the time "he spoke . . . to Abraham (1:55). Like Mary, perhaps the best way for us to anticipate something special from God is to be deeply aware of the manner in which he has cared for us in the past.

Ad Hoc Group Suggests Ways To Speed Disaster Relief

ATLANTA—Southern Baptist response to national disaster should be faster, and ad hoc committee of state and agency Brotherhood and mission representatives attending a stateside disaster relief meeting said here.

To speed response, the committee recommended to the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board (HMB) that a national coordinator be appointed, a how-to manual be written. Recommended also was the development of a uniform arm band symbol for immediate recognition of qualified volunteers.

They also recommended seminary training in awareness and sensitivity in response to disaster, using minimesters, and j-terms (month-long).

The committee gave their recommendations to Paul Adkins, director of the HMB's Christian social ministries department which administers disaster relief funds of $100,000 per year to churches and individuals as direct gifts to those in need.

Normal procedure is for funds to be requested from and channeled through state conventions.

"We sent $6,000 this morning to Alaska to help in the Nome area which was hit last week by high tides and winds," said Adkins.

The committee said a national coordinator would operate out of the HMB's Atlanta offices with fultlime responsibilities of assisting state conventions in providing training and identifying governmental referral agencies ad types of equipment needed.

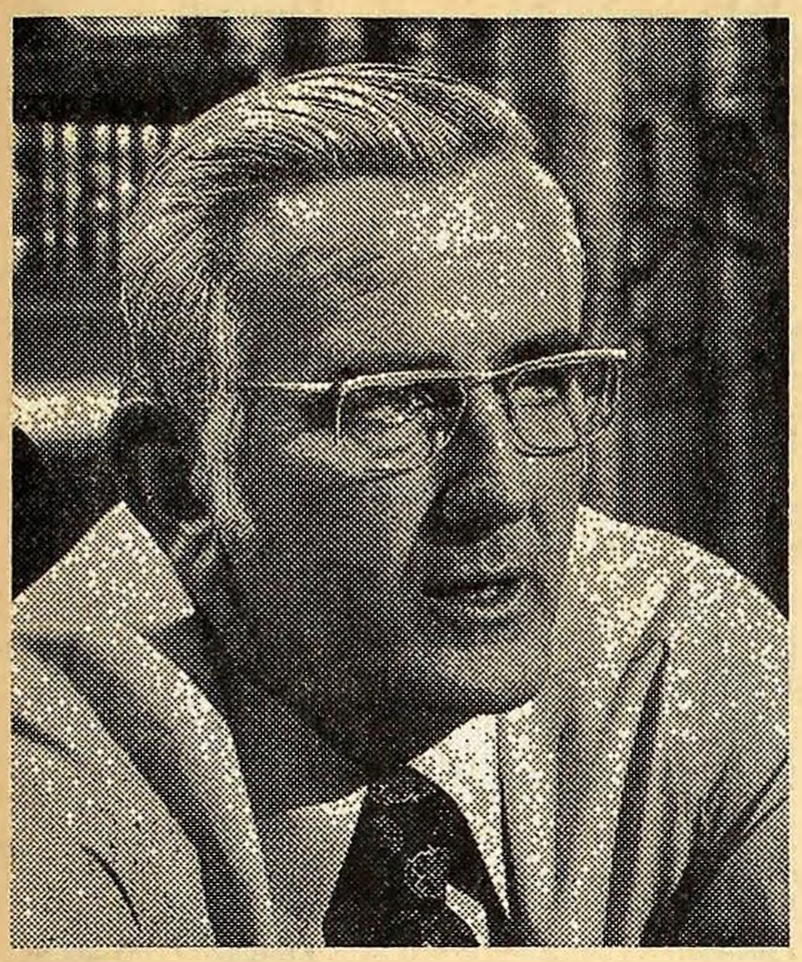
"This person should have at hand a computer printout of plumbers, carpenters, physicians and paramedical personnel ready to drop everything and give three days to two weeks to disaster relief," Adkins noted.

The how-to manual which the committee plans to begin work on immediately should become a policy and action guideline for state conventions interested in disaster relief. It will include information on the impact phase, the cleanup and inspection phase, reconstruction and repairs after a disaster.

The committee said they hoped these recommendations would help solve the two basic problems in disaster relief: identification of services needed and logistics of providing food, housing, clothing, counseling.

Other suggestions included each convention providing a fund which could be used immediately in a disaster, and chaplains to be assigned to teams relating people to the congregations in the disaster area. (BP)

Leavell Named President Of New Orleans Seminary



Landrum P. Leavell II

NEW ORLEANS—Landrum P. Leavell II, the pastor of First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, Tex., has been elected president of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, effective January 1, Robert S. Magee, president of the seminary's trustees, announced here.

Leavell, 48, succeeds former New Orleans president Grady C. Cothen, who resigned last spring to become president-elect of the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville. Ray P. Rust, executive assistant to the president at the seminary, has guided the school as acting president since March 1, 1974.

The new seminary president-elect is the son of a Baptist minister and is the second Leavell to head New Orleans Seminary. He follows in the footsteps of his uncle, Roland Q. Leavell, who steered the seminary from 1946-58.

A native of Ripley, Tenn., Landrum Leavell, II, grew up in Newnan, Ga., where he was graduated from high school in 1944. He earned the bachelor of arts degree in 1948 from Mercer University, Macon, Ga.

Following his ordination as a Baptist minister, also in 1948, Leavell enrolled in New Orleans Seminary, receiving the bachelor of divinity degree degree in 1951 and the doctor of theology degree in 1954.

Prior to becoming the pastor of the Wichita Falls church, Leavell served as pastor of churches in Pike County, Crosby, Charleston and Gulfport, all in Mississippi. He moved to Texas in 1963.

Active in denominational affairs, Leavell headed the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) Pastors Conference, 1970-71, served as first vice president of the SBC, 1967-68, and delivered the convention sermon in 1967, when the SBC met in Miami Beach. He chaired the trustees of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, 1968-70, and is a current member of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, having served also from 1961-63.

On the state level, he has served two terms as president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and been a member of several Texas convention committees.

He received the George Washington Honor Medal award from the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. for a sermon in 1968, titled, "America at the Crossroads."

He is married to the former Jo Ann Paris, of New Orleans. She is a graduate of Ward-Belmont School in Nashville, and of Newcomb College in New Orleans. They have four children, Landrum P. III, Ann, Roland Q. II, and David. (BP)

Carson-Newman To Offer Additional Classes

Two new courses have been added to the schedule of classes at Carson-Newman College for the spring semester, according to Walter R. Guyton, academic dean.

A course, entitled "The Humanities," will be coordinated by Jerome Harper, director of the communications lab, and Paul Brewer, chairman of the Humanities Division. The second course, "The Ascent of Man," will be a programmed course coordinated by Sherman Vanaman, professor of mathematics and chairman of the honors program at Carson-Newman. Through a series of 13 video-taped films, the course will document the role of science in man's cultural evolution and the scientific discoveries that have shaped man's history.

Belmont Added To NASM Roll

Belmont College was elected to associate membership in the National Association of Schools of Music at the organization's golden anniversary meeting at Houston.

Jerry L. Warren, chairman of Belmont's Department of Fine Arts, represented the school at the meeting. Membership in the association includes 425 universities, colleges, and conservatories. Eighteen new schools were admitted to membership in Houston, and fifteen others were promoted from associate to full membership.

Church Building Conference To Be Held January 24

A church building conference designed to aid Tennessee Baptist churches in planning and conducting programs in construction and renovation will be held Jan. 24, 1975, at First Church, Tullahoma, according to Charles L. Norton, church building consultant for the Tennessee Baptist Convention.

The meeting is sponsored jointly by the Church Architecture Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board and the Tennessee Baptist Convention. The sessions are planned to meet the needs of pastors, church planning and building committees, associational leaders, and architects in discovering the best procedures related to church building projects.

Norton will open the session, which begins at 9:15 a.m. Friday, with a speech on "How Do You Know You Need To Build?" Later in the day he will speak on legal considerations.

Ernie Myers, consultant, BSSB, will develop the topics of organizing for the work, planning a building budget, and selecting and working with the architect. Roland Smith, consultant, BSSB, will speak on the planning processes and raising donated funds, and the construction phase.

Preparing For His Coming

By Dr. W. R. White
Baylor University, Waco, Texas

Basic Passages: Luke 1:26-38; Matthew 1:18-25
Focal Passages: Luke 1:26-35; Matthew 1:18-23

The coming of the Son of God into human flesh logically must be supernatural. Normal generations have never produced one in His class.

White

The unique coming of Christ into human flesh required special explanation to those immediately involved. The record of this disclosure and the essential facts have been preserved for the succeeding generations. It is a simple narration with none of the grotesque embellishments that have gathered about the origin of other great founders of religions.

The Holy Spirit brought the forerunner of Christ into the world, not in the same way but by a special work of unusual divine power. John the Baptist, the harbinger, prepared the people and the first disciples by powerful preaching and baptism.

The Virgin Conception
Luke 1:26-27; Matthew 1:18-19

Both Mary and Joseph were reassured by an angel concerning the virgin conception. Mary and Joseph were betrothed to each other yet they had not married and had not had relations with each other to warrant Mary's being with child. This strange phenomenon was not natural but supernatural. Therefore the two needed reassurance from heaven.

God had overshadowed Mary by the Holy Spirit and had caused her by a creative act, to conceive a child, the Holy One, our Lord Jesus. Why should this be impossible or unlikely with God? He was about to identify Himself with humanity with a redemptive plan. God's invasion of history was unique—why could not the manner of that invasion be unique also?

What It All Means
Luke 1:25-33; Matthew 1:2-21

The line conceived in Mary is of the line of David. He shall sit on his throne forever. He shall be called great and the Son of the Higest. He shall be called Jesus for He shall save His people from their sin.

Mary And Joseph

In other words, this baby yet to be born will be the Redeemer from sin and shall be the ultimately enthroned sovereign of all. He shall come to be the greatest of the great and the most exalted being who has ever graced the pages of history.

Immanuel Comes
Luke 1:34-35; Matthew 1:21-23

The Son of God becomes one of mankind after the flesh bringing the presence of God among men in visible form. The presence of God was already among men but His personal presence focused in a perfect historical personality named Immanuel or God with us, appeared in Jesus of Nazareth.

In the person of Christ we have the voluntary limitation of our Lord to conform to certain human patterns that He might qualify for taking our place before God. Yet He was always beyond us in sinlessness, deeper than we are in love and higher than we in the filling of and possession of the Holy Spirit. Jesus became the only God-Man in all history. Dr. Truett often said the hyphen between God and Man never united so much and never differentiated so much. How we should love Him, honor Him and serve Him always!

Film For Teenagers: "The Fabulous Oddball Show"

"The Fabulous Oddball Show," filmed in Nashville's new Grand Ole Opry TV Studio, will be released by Broadman Films in January, 1975. The 30-minute color motion picture is designed to help teenagers understand and cope with their own personality problems. The format is a panel TV show. The Oddball hosts four teenagers and a minister-counselor who represents the adult world. Teenage guests serve as examples of various problems that inhibit teenagers and problems that show faulty adjustments to life.

"Flashaways" show teenage guests in everyday settings acting out the problems while the lyrics, sung by the Nashville Night Letter, carry the story. Teenage panelists discuss the problems and the minister-counselor relates Bible truths to the situations, emphasizing the joy of Christian living.

"The Fabulous Oddball Show" is available for rental through Baptist Film Centers.

In this weekly column I have often expressed appreciation for the opportunities given me to share in special services commemorating a particular anniversary or dedicating a new building. I have had three such experiences recently and the fellowship enjoyed during these times has greatly enriched my life and ministry.

Rev. Tom Madden, First Baptist Church, Tullahoma, was honored on the occasion of his twentieth anniversary as their beloved pastor. The mutual feeling of love and confidence expressed on that day was proof of the successful pastoral ministry which Brother Madden has had among his people during these years. I might also add that his service to the Baptist cause across our state, as he has given time to work on various committees, is also recognized and appreciated.

The Colonial Heights Baptist Church, Kingsport, recently held dedicatory services for a beautiful and spacious new sanctuary and educational facilities. This church has experienced remarkable growth since its organization in 1956 with thirty-three members. The spirit which prevailed among its membership on the day of dedication was one of humility and praise to God for His leadership during these eighteen years. Rev. Ronald Hicks has served as the church's only pastor, and the record of growth and expansion is a tribute to him and the people of this congregation as they have labored together.

The third experience of this nature occurred when I participated in services dedicating the new church at Oakdale. Located near Harriman in Big Emory Association, this lovely new building, including educational space as well as a sanctuary, was constructed to replace the original building which was severely damaged beyond repair during a flood nearly two years ago. Given some assistance from the disaster funds in our mission budget, along with some aid from the Home Mission Board, this courageous and faithful congregation undertook the seemingly impossible task of relocating and erecting a new and complete facility. I was thrilled to note the justifiable pride with which these people shared the completion of a task accomplished through their determined efforts and God's leadership. Brother Chalmers Wilborn has served well as their pastor during these two years of planning and building.

While each of the above-related experiences differ due to varying situations and circumstances, one similarity was obvious; namely, the leadership of God among His children as they endeavor to serve with courage and dedication through their church. May God continue to bless not only the work of these which I have mentioned here, but wherever there is work to be done which surely includes each of us in our individual places of service.

HISTORICALLY:

FROM THE FILES

50 YEARS AGO

Pastor O. D. Fleming of Sweetwater wired that on the last Sunday in November, meetings closed in his church with 14 baptisms and two additions by letter with 300 in Sunday School.

J. M. Rogers was experiencing splendid success in his labors as pastor of the Second Church in Columbia. In a 10-day meet, the church reported 42 additions, 26 of them by baptism. G. G. Joyner of Jackson did the preaching.

20 YEARS AGO

Representatives from 10 associations in East Tennessee met at Carson-Newman College and organized the East Tennessee Baptist Pastors Conference. Raymond T. DeArmond was elected president, James A. Smith, vice-president; and Clarence H. Watson, secretary-treasurer.

Washington Pike Church, Knoxville, entered its new sanctuary. David Walker was pastor.

10 YEARS AGO

Dr. Robert Lee Sanders, nationally known surgeon from Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, died at the age of 82. He had served at the hospital for 37 years and had been a member of Memphis First Church for 47 years and was active in numerous phases of the work of the church.

The new pastor at Dyer First Church was Herbert R. Higdon. He came to Dyer from Scenic Hills Church in Memphis.

Early Thumb-Sucking Held Not Serious; After Four, Parental Concern Is Warranted

Thumb-sucking is not a symptom of emotional disturbance but simply a common learned behavior, in the opinion of Dr. M. E. J. Curzan, dept. of pedodontics, Eastman Dental Center, Rochester.

"There is no evidence to substantiate the theory that prolonged sucking habits result from emotional disturbances," he reminds in Pediatrics. Furthermore, thumb-sucking has not been linked with the child's sex or birth order in the family.

The pedodontist cites one study showing that 45.6% of American children under four years of age suck their thumbs. "It should be pointed out that finger-sucking is normal in a large percentage of infants and that in all probability the habit will be voluntarily given up by the age of four. It is imperative that parents cease to be overanxious."

However, after four, humb-sucking must be regarded as a dental problem, especially if the sucking is constant throughout the day, he says. The years between four and 14 are the period of greatest dento-facial development and unless the sucking habit is finally broken, the resultant malocclusions can cause considerable distress and disfigurement, points out Curzon. To say nothing of the dental bills.

Love A 'Young Adult Away' Today

NASHVILLE — "Americans, especially young adults, live in a mobile society and are changing places of residence more than ever before," according to a new booklet entitled "Ministering to Young Adults Away," by Joseph M. Haynes.

According to a recent survey by the Home Mission Board, "the mobile American is essentially in the young adult group." The report continued to say that "if the movement of persons 20-34 years old was discounted, it could be said that our society is a relatively stable one."

"College students and armed services personnel are the largest number of young adults away from home churches," according to Haynes, young adult consultant in the Sunday School department at the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board.

He continued to say that "young adults who move because of employment opportunities are emerging also as a recognizable target group for Young Adults Away ministries."

A young adult away may be a college freshman, a couple working toward graduate degrees, a war veteran rehabilitating in a government hospital, a school dropout working on a construction job, a prisoner in a penal institution, or a seminary student preparing for a church vocation.

Haynes' booklet provides information for organizing a ministry to young adults and suggests possible actions to include in a church's young adult away ministry. Also additional resources are listed in the back of the booklet.

"Every church is responsible for keeping in contact with those individuals away," Haynes said, "stimulating them to study the Bible and encouraging affiliation with a local church in the distant community.

"The home church—through Sunday School—provides this ministry for adults who are temporarily away from home," he said. "Many churches will want to include all ages of adults in this ministry."
